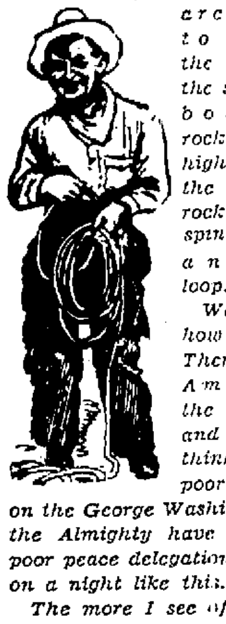
ROGERS WISHES FOR DRY LAND, BUT HE HOPES IT'S EUROPE

(Special To The News)



ABOARD S. S. BREMEN, Jan. 14.—My remaining days are dedicated to annihilate the author of the slogan "Big boats dont rock." Say, the higher they are the faster they rock, they tail spin, side slip and ground loop.

Well, here's how bad it is. There is not an American in the bar room and when I think of those poor senators on the George Washington, may the Almighty have pity on a poor peace delegation on a boat on a night like this.

The more I see of steamship travel, the less I think of the hardship of Lindbergh. If I can find a pilot that wants to fly to America I will be his Levine and this goes as an advertisement.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—Wish they would disarm these waves.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

If the present brand of weather continues, buds on the trees will be bursting soon. Lawns about the city look almost as green as in the summer time, new growth appearing near the roots. Fishing worms have been out crawling on the ground for the past few days, showing that there is little frost below the surface.

A lot of new license plates canont be read because of the accumulation of dirt on them. The law requires that they be clearly legible at all times. Some of these days someone will start a drive on motorists who do not keep their plates clean.

Motorists who have had occasion to do much travelling at night, report that terrible fogs have enveloped the roads in the rural districts. One motorist returning from Erie stated that the road was obscured by fog all the way, and driving was extremely difficult. Early last evening, a marky fog hung over the city, reminding one of London.

Although the Shenango river is at the 12.8-foot stage this morning and will probably continue to rise a little before it finally starts back the other way, it is no higher than it was on January 21 of last year, a comparison of the records shows. A year ago today, however, the mercury stood somewhere around 20 below zero, and the ground was well covered with snow. When the regular January thaw occurred later in the month, the melting ice and snow sent local streams up suddenly.

Young Pa Newc saw an automobile Monday afternoon which was painted entirely aluminum color Wonder if the reason is to reflect the sun's rays Maybe, who knows?

Here's a little act noted by Pa Newc that wasn't the act of a good citizen. It was a little thing, but just one of those affairs that results in streets being littered all the time. A man came down out of the postoffice reading a letter. As he reached the sidewalk, he tore it up into about twenty pieces, and threw the fragments into the street. You can imagine the littered appearance of the street in the vicinity of the postoffice for a time.

BUSINESS MEN FAVOR BUILDING COURT HOUSE

Lawrence county is in urgent need of an adequate court house, and vigorous efforts to build a new one should be launched immediately, in the opinion of 30 prominent business men of New Castle, who met with County Commisisoners C. C. Boyd, P. O. Elder and T. J. McCullough at noon Monday.

Before the meeting adjourned, a straw vote was taken of those present and the count revealed it is unanimous belief of the merchants that a new building is necessary and should be started at once, to do away with the inadequate structure now in use

While the merchants did not specify their choice of a location, it was the belief that the adjoining Boyles property, if purchased at present, could be used to advantage. At the present time different departments of the county are located in several houses owned by the county surrounding the court house, and it would be logical as well as advantageous to locate these in the Boyles home should the purchase be made, even though a new building is not begun at once.

Offices of the county officials could also be temporarily established at the Boyles home while the new building or at least while a part of the construction work is going on, the business men believe.

The county commissioners when asked to speak, told the business men that the need for a new court house is great. They referred to their own experience in having to locate themselves in the hall of the present building when a private conference is desired, no suitable room being provided for this.

The fact that President Hoover has asked all state, county and municipal governments to join in his national prosperity drive by carrying on necessary or soon-to-be-necessary programs of building work this year, that unemployment might be stemmed in the respective districts as much as possible, was cited as another reason for immediate action.

The meeting, presided over by J. C. Miner, secretary and treasurer of the Home Trust company, was held in the rooms at the Colonial.

ABOARD S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—In an effort to comply with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's desire to reach Plymouth on Thursday night instead of Friday as scheduled, the engines of the George Washington turned over at full speed today, driving this liner and the American lelegation to the London naval disarmament conference toward England at a fast clip.

Secretary Stimson asked the George Washington's skipper to make Plymouth by Thursday night if possible, in order that he might have another full day for the important preliminary conferences with the heads of the various delegations before the parley gets under way.

Poor Department Gets Cursing Fines

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 15.—The poor department of this city enriched here recently because Lowell Osborne, 17, used profanity in addressing a woman.

Alderman Harry Collins, before whom Osborne was given a hearing on the charge, dug into the laws of the past to uncover one state statute of 1794 which covers such cases.

The law provides that ordinary swear words are punishable at the rate of 40 cents while mention of the Deity costs 67 cents. Fines collected for the offense are to be given to the city poor department under the terms of the old ruling.

Alderman Collins decided that Osborne had used up words worth $1.17. Osborne paid and the poor department received the sum.

AUTHORITIES AT PHOENIX, ARIZONA HOLDING TRIO, BELIEVED SOUGHT HERE

Believe Long Trail Of Trio Wanted For Slaying Of Corporal Brady Paul Has Come To End. To Bring Trio Back To Lawrence County As Soon As Positive Identification Is Made

BULLETIN

International News Service

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 15.—Officers were confident today that they had Irene Schroeder, Pennsylvania bandit-murderess, in the Maricopa county jail, following the surrender of a pretty blonde woman and her two companions before an attacking posse of seventy-five men after their ammunition had given out.

The trio, who wounded three officers at Chandler, Monday, were subdued in a cove far up the slopes of Estrella mountains, twenty shots were exchanged before the ammunition of the bandits was exhausted. No one was wounded.

The woman and the two men meekly surrendered and accompanied the posse, headed by Sheriff Charles Wright, to the Maricopa county jail.

Sheriff Wright said the trio, who refused to admit their identity, were Irene Schroeder, 22, Glen Dague 32, and J. W. Crawford, 38.

These parties are wanted in Pennsylvania in connection with the killing of Corporal Brady Paul of the highway patrol near New Castle, Pa., Dec. 27. Brady was killed when he and a fellow officer attempted to halt a car following a store robbery at Butler, Pa.

With their own lives in danger from the bullets of a hundred or more Arizona ranchers and Indians, Irene Schroeder, blonde gun woman, and her pals, W. Glen Dague and Tom Crawford, brought their meteoric career of crime to an abrupt end Tuesday evening, January 14, when they surrendered near Lazeen, Arizona, about 25 miles west of Phoenix.

The capture of of the three alleged killers of Corporal Brady Paul climaxed a nation wide hunt for them since December 27th after their cowardly slaying of a state highway patrolman and the wounding of another. The police of every state in the United States have been watching for them and the long vigil, covering every corner of the country finally ended in a gun battle in the mountains of Arizona.

Ammunition Exhausted

Only when their ammunition was exhausted did the three surrender and then came out of their mountain retreat, pleading for mercy. This was the only thing that saved their lives for the posse, ringed around the base of the mountain fastness in which they were hidden was advancing relentlessly.

Finally, after a six hours' battle, a blood stained handkerchief was seen waving over the top of the rocks and a few minutes later Chief Sindust, of the Pima Indians, came down the narrow trail with Irene Schroeder on his horse and her two male companions walking at his side, all of them handcuffed.

Evidently wanting to get to the Mexican border the trio stopped in Florence, Arizona, early Tuesday morning and got gas and oil in a filling station there. An argument developed it appears and a deputy sheriff, Joe Chapman, arrived on the scene. A gun battle ensued there and the deputy sheriff fell with bullets in his arm and head.

Speeding on to Chandler the bandits found the country side aroused and another gun battle ensued. From there through the sagebrush of Arizona a running gun battle was staged, with the bandits finally pulling away from the officers outside of Chandler. Here they had trouble with their car and abandoned it, hitting out on foot for the mountains around Laveen, Arizona.

Kentucky Licenses

The car abandoned had Kentucky license plates on it and from various papers found inside it was evident that the occupants of the car had been Irene Schroeder, W. Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford. Realizing that he had dangerous criminals to cope with, Sheriff Wright of Maricopa County hurriedly called together a posse of 100 men. Ranchers from the hills with their long rifles answered. Indians from the Pima reservation headed by Chief Sindust came in and shortly the young army started out.

The trail led up through narrow mountain trails to a sort of sugar loaf knob and here the three were esconced, prepared to shoot it out. Cautiously the posse advanced, with now and then a head peering over the rocks at them, followed by gun fire.

The fire was returned at times and from admission of Irene Schroeder after the capture, some of the bullets came perilously near, kicking up the dust about them.

The rockbound security of their hiding place forbade any capture as long as their ammunition held out for they controlled the few narrow trails into the glen in which they were crouched. For six hours the posse skirmished, now advancing a few feet, now ducking down to avoid the hail of lead fired at them, until at last the blood stained handkerchief announced the surrender of the three bandits who have defied the officers of a nation.

W. GLENN DAGUE

The first words of Irene Schroeder as she was brought in were commendation of the shooting of the western cow punchers who had trailed her "You cowpunchers can shoot pretty fair at that" she remarked as she was taken into the office of the sheriff of Maricopa County by her capturer Chief Sindust.

Her clothing was in rags, and she showed the effects of a long hard flight from the law and from stone bruises received in the mountains in the escape by foot from officers earlier in the day.

Admits Identity.

'I'm Irene Schroeder and there is $3400.00 on my head" she brazenly announced as she sat down in the sheriff's office. Her companions refused to admit their identity but Irene introduced them as W. Glen Dague and Tom Crawford. After some questioning they broke down and admitted that they were the men wanted.

"I don't know which one of us shot the patrolman" confessed Irene as she was questioned concerning the shooting here on December 27th.

The condition of the three deputy sheriffs wounded in the running fight with the bandits is said to be good, and that they will not die from the wounds. Officials of Maricopa county said that they would waive all rights in the prisoners and would hold them for immediate extradition by Pennsylvania officials.

Not All Told Yet.

The complete story of the capture of the killers is not yet known but gradually, out of the western city is coming a tale that sounds more like fiction than the cold recital of the arrest of three criminals.

The scene of the surrender is about forty-five miles from Chandler, a winter resort town and about twenty-five miles from Phoenix, the capital of Arizona. Eastern visitors to the city of Chandler watched the hunt and the battle much as they might watch a circus or an air meet.

Sheriff Charles H. Wright, sheriff of Maricopa county, acted quickly and efficiently when it became established that the three bandits were the three who were sought for the killing of Corporal Brady Paul.

Ranches were notified by telephone, Indians off the Pima Reservation were called, rifle marksmen and expert six gun shooters pressed into service and bloodhounds from the state penitentiary brought into the fray.

To Start Extradition.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 15.—Authorities today began a move to secure extradition of Irene Schroeder of Benwood, W. Va., and her two companions, J. W. Crawford and G. M. Dague, who were captured by posses last night after a furious gun battle in the South Range mountains near here.

The trio is wanted in New Castle, Pennsylvania, in connection with the killing of a police officer last December 27. They are also wanted in Detroit in connection with recent killings, police here stated.

Their capture last night ended a twenty-four hour search by several posses who trailed the party through the Arizona mesa country after they kidnaped a deputy sheriff in Florence, Ariz.

Horsemen finally cornered the woman and her two male escorts near Laveen where they barricaded themselves.

A fusillade sent the posse's advance guard running for cover when the searchers stumbled unwittingly across the fugitives' hiding place. The posse rallied and a rapid exchange of shots followed in which none of the participants were injured.

When the attackers threatened to storm the barricaded trio, they decided to surrender

Crawford and Dague forced the Deputy Sheriff, Joseph Chapman, into their automobile at the point of revolvers Monday night when Chapman attempted to arrest the Schroeder woman. Chapman was hurled from the car afterward.

Officers later attempted to halt the automobile, but were frustrated when the occupants fired on the group, wounding Lee Wright.

(Special To The News)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 15.—Pennsylvania's "Blonde Trigger Woman" made her last stand against law and order in the mountains southeast of here tonight and was taken prisoner with two gunmen by a posse that trailed the trio all day, after the three had shot it out with deputy sheriffs, wounding two officers with a price of $3,000 reported on her blonde head and her back to the wall, Irene Schroeder, 22-year-old alleged gunwoman with several notches in her gun, joined her two companions in sending volley after volley of shots at the besieging possemen on Estrella mountain, 10 miles southeast of Laveen, shortly before dark.

The woman and her gunmen had kidnapped Deputy Sheriff Joe Chapman, of Florence, Ariz., in that city late yesterday. In Chandler, Ariz., last night, Deputy Sheriffs attempting a rescue of the kidnapped officer locked hubcaps with the kidnap car and a roaring gunfight ensued, with the blonde woman cracking down with a six gun and facing the muzzles of officers guns.

Her capture and that of her companions was affected after a siege of several hours, with airplanes and blood hounds aiding mounted and heavily armed possemen in the chase.

Police here received "raps" from New Castle, Detroit and Texas points against the woman, who is said to be quicker on the trigger than her male companions.

Woman Taken At New Kensington, Held Pending Investigation

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa. Jan. 14.—State police here today were holding a woman who gave her name as Mildred Anderson, 24, after she was taken into custody at a New Kensington hotel when it was reproted that she might be Irene Schroeder, wanted at New Castle for the fatal shooting of Corporal Brady Paul of the State Highway Patrol.

After questioning the woman, police at the barracks here said they were almost certain that the woman was not Irene Schroeder, although she has blonde hair similar to that ascribed to the gun-woman who has succeeded in eluding police in the tri-state district for more than two weeks.

According to state police the woman who gave her name as Mildred Anderson said her home was in Birmingham, Ala., and that she came to Pittsburgh from that city with her husband. When she was arrested at the hotel at New Kensington police said they found a blackjack and a gun in her room.

Although police admitted that it was doubtful that the Anderson woman was connected with the shooting of Paul, she had told several contradictory stories and that she would be held until they investigated her statements regarding her home in the southern state.

According to police, she said she was married at Birmingham and that her husband was in Pittsburgh today. Police believe that she may be wanted in Birmingham or other cities in connection with several holdups.

The rumor that the Anderson woman was Irene Schroeder was not supported by statements of the state police, although they were somewhat reticent in giving out information. They admitted, however, that the woman in custody does not resemble the blonde gun-woman except for a slight similarity in the color of her hair.

STIMSON URGES LINER CAPTAIN TO MAKE SPEED up her present spurt and land Stimson and his aides at Plymouth Thursday evening, the American delegation will arrive in London by midnight, have a few hours sleep on terra firma, and be ready to undertake the work in hand bright and early Friday morning.

It is understood that this alteration in the delegation's plans was the result of receipt of a wireless message from Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to Britain, urging that Stimson arrive in London with all possible speed.

Quite naturally the change in plans aroused considerable speculation as to the reasons why Ambassador Dawes urged Stimson to try and have the liner speeded up. So far as is known among observers aboard the vessel, there is no hitch in the substantial agreement already existent for extending the battleship building "holiday," and the cruiser agreement necessarily awaits tedious measuring by technical committees.

One reason advanced for the Thursday arrival was a desire for Secretary Stimson's counsel in the preliminary conversations concerning the Mediterranean agreement asked by the French government.

While General Dawes is fully conversant with the American position, the benevolent aloffness of Secretary Stimson's position makes him an authoritative spokesman in so delicate a matter.

ing for the last two weeks, it sort of looks like the Pennsylvanians who went to California for the winter, will have to revise their schedules.

Apparently spring isn't waiting for the groundhog to make his appearance. William Gustafson, who resides on the Pulaski road, reports that the rhubarb is beginning to shoot through the ground in regular spring fashion.

Pa News notes the rapid building of homes on the Wilmington boulevard just outside the city limits, and wonders why the township does not have a fire hydrant placed along the road. It would give fire protection to that district, and would be easily possible Pa News believes, for the water mains go right through the section.

G. T. Halboth of 125 North Beaver street exhibited an interesting curio in The News office today. It was a glass plate, which was manufactured over 50 years ago, apparently as a souvenir of the Philadelpia centennial. A picture of the Liberty bell was shown in the centre of the plate, with the names of the thirteen original states, and other information. It is believed that this plate is the only one of the kind in this city.

Although February the month of appointment and reappointment for some city employes is drawing nigh, but so far none of the city employes is nervous. It is said there will not be many changes although as always anticipated with a change in administration one or two changes do occur March 1.

With the proximity of spring it is likely that city council will view Butler avenue, Grant street and Croton avenue for the purpose of determining exactly what the city will ask the state to do toward improving the links connecting highways. The state has allotted $75.000 to Pa Newc and no time on the plans should be lost.

There is a salesman who comes to New Castle and incidentally has a part of West Virginia for his territory who doesn't smile when the name W. Glenn Dague is mentioned. He has ben reminded by acquaintances of the similarity in appearance and is now wondering if he will be stopped and questioned on his travels.

Not less than 15 persons had broad smiles on their faces at noon today. The cause of the grins were two little children in a parked automobile who were quite attached with the sound of the automobile horn, and so had it blowing constantly. The children were unimpressed by the stares of two members of the police force standing nearby. But there was laughter in the eyes of these two officers. In fact, it was all enjoyed by everyone.

With temperature at 60 degrees at noon many of the downtown stores had the front doors wide open like in the middle of summer.

It is an old saying, "In January the days begin to lengthen and the cold begins to strengthen," but this year the latter part is not running quite true to form.

The rivers are not nearly as high today as they were Monday.

Butler Council, Knights Of Columbus To Observe Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

Members of St. Mary's Council No. 512, Knights of Columbus, have received an invitation from John Murrin, district deputy and general chairman of the Butler Council Silver Jubilee celebration to attend the Silver Jubilee degree and banquet to be held by the Butler Council on Sunday, January 26, 1930. Indications are that quite a number of the local members will be in attendance.

The degree work will be put on at 2:30 p. m. on that date with District Deputy Edward F. Griffith of Pittsburgh in charge. The banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m. with the charter members of the Butler lodge, which was organized twenty-five years ago, as guests of honor.

POLICE OF STATE HUNT PAY-ROLL BANDITS

also suffered minor injuries and Harry Powell, a mine worker, was cut and bruised.

The charge of dynamite was set off by a concealed battery hidden behind a clump of pine trees about 200 feet from the narrow gauge mine railroad track. When the improvised pay car's motor had passed over the section of track to which the battery was wired, the bandits slammed down the lever sending the current coursing through to the dynamite.

A terrific explosion resulted, rocking the countryside. The splintered paycar, with its human load, was hurled into the air and thrown on its side. All of the men killed were mutilated. Their limbs were torn from their bodies, their heads and chests were crushed and the currency itself was spewed in wild confusion about the wreckage.

Man Witnesses Blast

Stewart Hettig, Lehigh Valley railroad section foreman who was walking his own tracks near the miner tracks, was the only man to witness the explosion. Hettig told police that shortly before the blast let go he had seen two men, strangers, lurking about the scene of the subsequent dynamiting.

Sookil, a one-armed guard, said that while he was lying dazed in the wreckage he saw a man run up to the iron money chest attached to the trailer car from which the lid had been ripped by the force of the blast, stuff his pockets with currency and flee down the tracks.

Police are convinced that the dynamiting had been carefully planned and skillfully executed, the almost mathematical precisions of the bomb's effect pointing to a more than casual knowledge of dynamite-battery blasting. The explosion had been planted in an isolated spot along the mountainside near the mine, where the concussion was most likely to be muffled.

With Description

The paycar contained money for mine workers at No. 20 tunnel of the Truesdale colliery. Most of the pay envelopes for the main workings had been distributed and the car was proceeding along the narrow gauge mine railway to the No. 20 tunnel when the explosion occurred.

Hettig's story of two men near the spot where the blast let go is the only clue on which state and county police and coal companies are working. The men were too far away from Hettig for the latter to obtain a description of them and police admitted today that thus far they have no trace of the men.

TWO UNIVERSAL EINSTEIN DEDUCTIONS

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Two universal principles which the Einstein theory has deduced are: First, that the velocity of light in empty space always remains constant as computed by an observer, no matter where the observer is, stationary or in motion, or from what direction the light is coming. A second principle of deduction is that the amount of energy a body of matter contains, determines its mass. When that body's energy is increased, its mass (matter) is slightly increased also. This really means that energy has mass, and is a new departure from the old theory, Newton's, which held that the mass of a body is constant.

hopeful they would be able to tear into the Volstead Act when the proposed codification of the 25 assorted dry statutes is brought up.

For the present at least, the anti-prohibitionists will rally around the resolution of Senator Wagner (D) of New York, calling upon the President's commission to continue its inquiries and determine whether or not prohibition is, in fact, enforceable and whether it should be modified. A somewhat similar resolution has been introduced in the house by Rep. Andrew (R) of Mass.

Borah Is Silent

Meanwhile, Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, whose demand for action on the prohibition question brought matters to a head, remained silent on the report of Chairman George W. Wickersham and his associates. In some quarters this silence was interpreted as lack of approval. It was considered certain he would oppose the Wagner resolution, for he has long felt congress can make up its own mind without the aid of exparte commissions.

Senator Norris (R) of Neb., chairman of the senate judiciary committee, to which the entire report of the commission was referred, said consideration of the proposals contained therein would begin next Monday. He said he had not yet studied the report and therefore refused to comment or speculate on possible action.

Senator Jones (R) of Washington, author of the drastic "five-and-ten" law for which modification is proposed, said he looked for the house to act at once and expressed hope for early enactment of the whole program.

Predicts Action

Rep. Tilson, of Conn., Republican floor leader of the house, predicted the lower branch of congress would adopt all of the suggested changes within a month, and Speaker Longworth likewise gave assurances of prompt action. Six different committees are considering the Hoover-Wickersham report.

Rep. Williamson (R) of South Dakota, planned to introduce today in the house the bill transferring prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the department of justice.

Pending also before the house, and due for consideration this week, is the treasury-post office appropriation bill which carries $15,000,000 for dry law enforcement. There may be agitation to increase this amount although Rep. Cramton (R) of Mich., a dry leader, expressed the opinion the proposed reorganization legislation should be first passed. Promise of a "showdown on the question of funds" was given by Rep. LaGuardia (R(of New York, militant wet leader.

Some inkling of the future plans of the wets may be gleaned from a statement made by Senator Hawes (D) of Mo., giving general approval to the President's recommendations.

"The third recommendation, recodification of the prohibition laws, is excellent," he said. "The Volstead Act is not a scientific enactment. It is illogical in parts, vague in other parts, an extreme. Its definition of one half of one per cent as intoxicating is an absurdity upon its face and cannot be successfully defended.

"Modification of this limitation would do more to bring law enforcement than millions spent by congress, or any other proceeding which the commission could advocate. * * *

"In the interest of law enforcement, to curtail the enormous expense of that enforcement and to save the loss of life—some 1,300 have been killed and nearly 500,000 arrested—I think it would be best done by revision of the Volstead Act without violating the spirit or the intent of the constitutional amendment."

Start Action.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The machinery of congress was set in motion today to carry out the recommendations of President Hoover and his law enforcement commission to tighten up prohibition law enforcement when Rep. Williamson (R) of South Dakota formally introduced a bill transferring the prohibition unit from the treasury to the department of justice.

Acting on the joint request of both departments, Williamson announced that the house committee on expenditures in executive departments will begin hearings on the bill this week.

Red Cross Active

Relief workers directed by the Red Cross cared for many of the homeless at Greenshaw, Tenn., Dyersburg, Tenn., and Hickman, Ky.

At many points throughout the flood area workers kept up an all night survey of levees and bridges, fearing additional washouts.

California today awaited a predicted heavy rain in the hope that it would bring relief from cold temperatures and heavy snowfall which swept the state during the week-end, paralyzing traffic and marooning hundreds of motorists.

One of the most remarkable monuments ever erected is the Great Pyramid near Gizeh, Egypt. The weight of this pyramid or the length of time taken to erect it has never been satisfactorily calculated. It is seven hundred and sixty feet square at the base by four hundred and eighty feet in height.

Modern tendencies in monument work are inclined toward simplicity and massiveness in design and construction. We are equipped to embody your own ideas of design in the memorial you seek to have built. Let us furnish you a design and estimate.

"My granddaughter began having eczema on both her hands when she was eleven years old. Small water blisters broke out on her fingers and the itching and burning were unbearable. She could not put her hands in water at all. At night she could not sleep on account of the irritation.

Make Plans For Great Year; Other News Notes By Brython

By WM. A. JOHNS
Brython

The Star of Wales Lodge No. 60, True Ivorites of America, held the first meeting of the year, Saturday evening, January 11. The attendance was very good and great work was performed by those present. A talk was given concerning the increasing of the membership of the lodge and various plans were introduced. The feeling was to make the year 1930 the most successful year in the history of the lodge.

The present president of the high office, Evan Hopkins wiuld like to see the Star of Wales in the front line this year. He has been the Grand Vice President of the Ivorite board and next year he is expected to fill the highest chair, the grand president of the order.

Thomas D. Thomas, the financial secretary of the lodge, gave his yearly report which was very encouraging. Brother John Harvard reported the sick members of the lodge, all of which were in the same conditions as before.

Word has come from Cleveland, O., to the effect that Mrs. Henry Badger has recovered from her late illness and is able to be around once again. Mrs. Badger entertained the people of Cleveland with her wonderful voice and her lovely playing. Mrs. Badger was a former resident of New Castle, before she and her family moved to Cleveland.

A letter has been received from the niece of the Brython, Laura Jones, but the name is now Mrs. James H. Morgan. She was united in marriage to Mr. Morgan and they are making their home in Azura, California. Her husband is a gardener by trade and they own a piece of land at the above place, where her husband is raising vegetables and selling them at the market. He is doing well. They are the parents of two children and their home is about 20 miles from the home of Thomas Edwards and family, Pico, California.

There are two of the leading Welshmen of the city of New Castle, celebrating their birthdays. They are William Phillips, of East Reynolds street, and Daniel Williams, Sheridan avenue. One will be 70 on the 14th of the month. Mr. Williams was born at Cumbwla, Swansea, and Mr. Phillips was born at Morristown, South Wales. Both came to this country 35 years ago and they have lived at New Castle for over 30 years. They served the American Sheet and Tin Plate company well and faithful as tin workers and today they are receiving their pensions.

Richard T. Morris, of South Jefferson street, has secured a fine position with the Sheet and Tube Company of Youngstown. He is making his home in New Castle, going by street car to his work every day.

William J. Powell, the son of Benjamin Powell, Edison avenue, is employed as a foreman in one of the machine shops of Youngstown. He used to be the night foreman some years ago, at the Pennsylvania Engineering Works, where his father was the day foreman of the machine shop of the Pennsylvania Engineering Works, for many years.

WHO WANTS MONKEY VINE SEED?

Editor and News Readers:

It is a new vine, said to come from Japan, anyway it does not matter. It is a beautiful vine, rapid climber, dense foliage, but never blooms, yet it produces seed, in size, from a kernel of corn to the size of a hen's egg, the largest seed are grown on 3 year old roots. Frost kills the vine, but roots kept from freezing, awns up a stronger vine in the spring. There now, that's that, and I will send any one 2 or three of the seed if you will send postage. That will give you a start, then save and plant the seed another year and you will have seed for others. Mind the seed I will send are not the largest size, for I have only grown the vine one season, but they are the size of marbles.

The friend who gave me my seed, keeps all the large ones and sells them for 10c a piece, the others, she gave me, thus my supply. Do not confuse the vine with "Dutchman's Pipe" as it is entirely different. It is sometimes called the "Monkey Vine", which non de plume fits very well as often the picture of a monkey's face is seen on the large seed. Be sure and give a plain address, it is as necessary as the postage. I like to do these things, until I get an unreadable address, then I get cold feet. Last year I gave flower seed, but worse than a poor address, some wrote "Send on the seed I will pay the postage here". Guess they took me for a crook of some sort. It was the one step between the sublime and the ridiculous; did they expect me to pay for the song and then sing it. So I did not send it as Uncle Sam does not carry parcels for his health.

This vine will grow indoors and if given a support, will grow to the top of the window. I might wait until spring to give you the seed, also several varieties of flower seed, but for two reasons I might not be able to do so.

85% of America's Leading Hospitals now use the same absorbent of which Kotex is made

Here is medical approval which dictates every woman's choice of sanitary protection . . . it must be hygienically safe, it must be more comfortable than any substitute

KOTEX absorbent has replaced surgical cotton in 85% of America's great hospitals! Surgeons used 2½ million pounds of Cellucotton absorbent wadding last year. That is the equivalent of 80,000,000 sanitary pads!

Hospitals realize that comfort is most closely related to health during the use of sanitary protectives. Then is when women must have perfect ease of mind and body. And Kotex assures such ease.

This unusual substance— Kotex absorbent

Remember that Cellucotton is not cotton—it is a cellulose product which, for sanitary purposes, performs the same function as the softest cotton but with 5 times the absorbency.

It is made up of layer on layer of the thinnest and softest absorbent tissues . . . each a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

These many air-cooled layers make Kotex not only safer, but lighter, cooler to wear. They also permit adjustment of the filler according to individual needs.

As one hospital authority puts it: "Kotex absorbent is noticeably free from irritating dust, which means increased hygienic comfort."

To women who still make their own sanitary pads of cheesecloth and cotton, these facts will be of interest.

Kotex absorbs (by actual test) five times quicker, five times greater, than an equal amount of surgical cotton. It takes up 16 times its own weight in moisture and distributes that moisture evenly, not all in one concentrated place.

For perfect daintiness, Kotex deodorizes completely and thoroughly.

Kotex may be worn on either side—doesn't have to be used in a certain specified way. That makes adjustment easier, protection safer. Any way you use it, Kotex is always comfortable and safe.

Since it is so easy to buy Kotex and the price is so low, no woman need consider using anything else. Her choice is made for her by the medical profession. Surely, if they find Kotex absorbent best—even in the most dangerous operations—it cannot fail to be best for constant use.

Why smart women prefer Kotex

It is significant that 9 out of 10 women in smarter circles today use Kotex. They find that it permits a freedom and poise hard to acquire otherwise. That's because Kotex really fits. It is designed, you see, to conform . . . shaped at the corners and tapered.

And here is the reason so many women first began to use Kotex: it is easily disposable. That fact alone has helped to change the hygienic habits of millions of women the world over!

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1 Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.
2 Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.
3 Rounded and tapered corners—for inconspicuous protection.
4 Deodorizes . . . safely, thoroughly, by a special process.
5 Disposable completely, instantly.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

At any drug, dry goods or department store, or singly in vending cabinets through West Disinfecting Co.

Thousands of women first learned about Kotex in hospitals, then discovered they could buy it at their corner drug store! The price of the Regular size is never more than 45 cents.

A few months' trial will convince you that you owe yourself this modern, comfortable, safe, sanitary protection. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

Heydler Takes Stand Against Ball Players Entering Fight Ring

National League Prexy Says That Ball Players Must Give Up Prize Fighting

Lauds William Wrigley For Stand Taken In Shires-Wilson Fistic Argument

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Starting with the off season of 1930-31, Art Shires, the great big adenoids man of the White Sox, and other ball players who fancy themselves as pugilists, probably will do all of their fighting at home over the breakfast table President John A. Heydler of the National league informed the writer in an exclusive statement today. Baseball, he said, was sure to bar the boxer-ball player, not only as a protection for its investment in the player but to protect the player himself.

"Good," he said, today when William Wrigley, Jr., had warned Hack Wilson he might be traded elsewhere if he persisted in meeting Shires in the ring, "that's fine. Mr. Wrigley is merely acting within his legal rights, as all contracts expressly state that the player can't indulge in outside sports without the owner's consent. I doubt if that consent has been forthcoming in any instance so far. We could break this up right now, if we didn't feel that the thing was just a phase and had about run its course.

"Anyhow, it had better do all of its running now, for I predict it won't get the chance hereafter."

"Common Sense."

The National league president claimed to be speaking neither for baseball in general nor for his own organization. He said he was speaking only for "common sense".

"The clause forbidding this activity is in the contract and all we have to do is insist upon it being obeyed," he added. "After what has happened this year, I can't conceive of any owner who won't be very insistent on this point."

He thereupon listed the following as commonse-sense objections to ball players pretending to be fighters or vice versa., as the case may be:

That so-called "bad hands" are both the hallmark of the man who doesn't know how to fight and the end of the ball player's career; that blindness, partial or actual, is not unknown to the ring and that the players so affected would become, perforce, useless to baseball; that, if not otherwise injured, the boxer-ball player jeopardized his health by assimilating body punches that might slow him up on the field of play; and, finally, that his exhibitions were absurdities and therefore, reacted unfavorably upon the profession he was supposed to ornament.

Don't Want to Interfere.

"We don't want to interfere with the off season activities of our men any more than we can help," said he, "but when these activities threaten our investment in the man and the man himself, it is time to call a halt It took the Boston club some time and money, for example, to develop young Spohrer. Why should its interest in this man be placed in a compromising position by his thoughtlessness It is surprising to me the players themselves don't think of this. It has taken them so long to get where they are and yet they want to jeopardize this position for a few dollars.

"They would do well to seek the advice of Frank Frisch, who played basketball one winter and found that the pounding on the hard floors had begun to tell on him by the middle of the following season. Thereafter, he wisely refrained from indulging in an activity that threatened his real livelihood.

"This is common, every day horse sense, but if our players refuse to think in these terms, they leave us no alternative but to set to and do their thinking for them."

Her Love Two Kisses, Annulment Favored

Wife, 64, Said To Have Married Only For Man's Wealth

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 14.—An annulment of the marriage of George F. Perry, sixty-four, of Newark and Mrs. May Churchill Perry, thirty-nine, was recommended today in a report filed in Chancery Court by Special Master in Chancery Howard Isherwood. The report included testimony by Mr. Perry that in a little more than a year of their wedded life wife had granted him only "two little kisses."

"There is no doubt," the master's report says, "that the defendant entered into this marriage with a fixed mental reservation not to be a wife in every sense that the term implies. She knew from friends that the petitioner was well off financially and it was apparent that her sole purpose in marrying him was to obtain his wealth."

Perry, a wealthy mason's material dealer of Newark told the master that Mrs. Perry, a former dramatic teacher, reported to him soon after her marriage as "a poor old man," turned "a cold shoulder to him," and finally said that she would abide by her marriage vows if he made a financial settlement on her. He did this, he said, but she persisted in her coldness.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

As the suicide letters pile up, all from young things, who haven't yet got a start in life, and I wonder how I am going to help them most, I pick up the evening paper. There, in big type, is the story of a letter carrier, who carried mail for 46 years, and who, on retiring thinks this is a good old world after all He thinks its full of nice folks.

I'll bet any one of you suicide girls would think that was a pretty monotonous life, carrying a sack of mail all those years, and he says he never met a girl through gossiping on door steps, or stopping to chat. The rules were strict and he observed them. He has a quiet, kindly way with him and all his associates love him.

When you complain that nobody loves, think of Bennie the Postman, 65 years old, always kindly and cheerful with hosts of friends. They gave him a farewell dinner and he blushed and was happier than ever.

Dennie probably never thought of whether or not he was abused because he couldn't get a bigger job and more money. Probably never occurred to him to rail against fate because somebody wasn't kind to him. He took the attitude that it was a pretty good world, and his mood was infectious. Moods are, you know.

If you look sad, feel abused and inferior, and wish you could die, think about Bennie. I'll bet he had more trouble than you ever had. But he always said, "That poor fellow next door is worse off," and he made the best of it.

Once I knew a woman who spent her time doing nice little things to make life easier for her friends and neighbors. She didn't have money. She lived in a little room with gas and a gas burner. She was very happy because all the children in her neighborhood came to her with the troubles, and whenever anybody in the vicinity had marital differences, she managed to carry nice stories back and forth till she got them together again. She didn't think it was anything much to do.

"Pshaw," she would say, "they are nice folks".

Then when everybody was all nicely fixed up, she'd creep off to her lonely room to bed. And she always thanked God for letting her find so many people to help.

She never said, "Mrs. Jones has a nice husband and children and a home and fur coats, and I have anything. I think I'll jump into the river." And whenever she is today, if she has any trouble, it could only be a dearth of folks to look after.

A long loud cheer for Mrs. J. S. of Nebraska!

She writes me that she has been married for 20 years, that she has two children the family is horribly in debt" but doing the best they can. That if they sold out they would be flat broke. Then she adds:

"But this is what I have got. ONE GOOD HUSBAND. He is also a good father and a fine son. I'd rather be poor with him than rich with any other man on earth. He is honest and square in his little dealings. I can't make the lemon pie you mention. Miss Allard but I can make biscuits that are like angel food cake. If ever you come to Omaha drive out to see us and I'll give you a dinner like nothing you ever ate before All raised on our farm too.

Last year I cleared $1,200 on chickens. This money paid many necessary bills. I hope to do better this year. I do my own washing, ironing, make my own soap, care for a big garden, can 500 quarts of fruits, vegetables and meat every year, attend church and help in every way that I can and I find time to play a little bridge on the side. And I LIKE my job in life.

"I am not telling you this to brag but to show you the kind of women you haven't written about. I am no different than 99 per cent of my neighbors. I have no electricity in my home no furnace and no water except a cistern pump outside but I guarantee you that I can make you perfectly comfortable.

"My son is 17 and he and I play duets on the piano. Our piano has two keys missing but it is always in tune. If you have read this far I want to tell you the biggest kick in life for a woman is washing and dressing a new born baby. There's no happiness like that.

Now you suicide girls who think you are abused read that. No heat, no water, no electricity, a piano with two keys missing all that work and she thinks its a GRAND world. You wives who are too tired to put the studs in your hubby's dress shirt for him at night or to make him a nice fat pie, read this and feel as worthless as you like. I don't care how worthless that is.

Guest In Auto Is Plaintiff In Suit

Miss Rebecca I. Gwin Seeking To Recover Damages From Clyde Turner

The case of Rebecca I Gwin by her father Harvey Gwin against Clyde Turner, formerly of this city but now of Sewickley, Pa., is on trial before Judge Chambers today. This is a case in which Miss Gwin was a guest in the Turner car when it overturned on the New Castle-Butler road about one and one half miles east of Princeton.

Mr. Turner, his wife and son Paul had planned a trip to Pittsburgh. Miss Gwin had told Paul Turner that she would like to go to Pittsburgh and was invited to go along. This was on August 31, 1927.

While proceeding along the Butler road a car drove out from a side road and in avoiding it the Turner car was ditched and overturned. Miss Gwin was severely injured. Paul was driving the Turner car at the time and according to plaintiff he did not have it under proper control.

Both Mr. Turner and his son Paul claimed that they were only going at about 35 miles an hour and it was found that the reason the car had left the road was on account of a tire blowout. On the plaintiff's side it is admitted that one of the tires was flat after the accident but it is denied the accident was due to it. The case is still on trial.

The way ao get the most experience for the least money is to keep the neighborhood children for a day.

One thing that makes the American speed up is the fact that he's three laps behind a charge account.

FAST RACE HORSES WERE RAISED AT FAIR GROUND

Farm That Once Was Stock Farm To Be Sold On Friday, January 17

SITUATION IS IDEAL FOR DAIRY BUSINESS

"Director," one of the fastest race horses of all time, and "St Vincent," another that circled the beaten track almost as fast, were two of the stock of fine race horses which Charles Clark raised at what was formerly the Locust Grove farm, but what now comprises the 112-acre plot which the New Castle Agricultural association will sell to the highest bidder on Friday, January 17, at 2 p. m.

Older residents today recalled some of their outstanding recollections about the fine farm, located directly in front of the New Castle fair grounds and running a considerable distance along the Harlansburg road.

Mr. Clark had an ideal stock farm, with a race track around it on which to train his pacers and trotters. Many remember that a fine stock of horses was raised but the names of "Director" and "St. Vincent" are remembered more easily because of records they established.

Mr. Clark sold the farm to Robert McAfee some time later and Mr. McAfee, a former secretary of state of Pennsylvania, occupied it until about 1918.

J. W. Hartwell and John S. Crowl, who form the committe in charge of the sale, spoke highly of the suitable location today. They mentioned that during fair time a market large enough to consume the owner's entire products is located right at his door. An improved road leads into New Castle and if for any reason marketing in the city is desired it could be done conveniently.

On the farm are a 10-room house and bank barn equipped with running water and electric lights, the most modern equipment. The attic of the house is finished and has an outdoor kitchen.

The farm land is well drained and well fertilized with plenty of ideal pasture and water. Should a man wish to establish a dairy farm or race horse training or stock farm he would have to go far if the fair ground site could be improved upon.

Mr. Hartwell stated today that possession will be given the owner on April 1.

Information regarding the sale can be obtained by inquiring of either Mr. Hartwell or Mr. Crowl.

Some important business will come up for discussion at this time, as plans are now being made for the appearance here soon of National Commander Bodamer, and a mammoth banquet for Legionaires and interested friends is being planned.

The membership of the post is now over the 300 mark, Commander H. H. Rosenthal announces, and prospects for greatly exceeding the 1929 membership are bright.

Mollie Murphy and Mary Barrett are recovering in their homes today from the effects of the cuts and bruises they sustained when they resisted the attempts of the bandits to attack and rob them. Their screams finally caused the bandits to flee.

Other holdups here last night included the robbing by two highwaymen of E. W. Dressler, tax collector of Harwick just outside the city limits. The thugs escaped with $45 and Dressler's watch.

To Eliminate Static By Arkansas Invention

(International News Service)

ARKANSAS CITY, Jan. 14.—A device which its creator believes will be a big step toward the elimination of static, and electrical interference, the radio bugs greatest enemies, has been completed by Rollo S. Barnett of this city.

Tested on several different stations with a standard make radio set, the new eliminator is said to have caused a marked decrease in static interference, and resulted in more pleasant tone.

The device is based on chemical rather than magnetic properties, and is attached on the outside of the house between the arrial and the receiving apparatus.

Often a vivid example is more helpful than precepts and you might try setting a seed catalogue out in the garden to give the dahlia something to shoot at.

Dickey Leaves For Harrisburg

Former Mercer County Medical Director Takes Up New Duties With State

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 14.—Dr. S. J. Dickey left Monday for Harrisburg where he joins the state health board. The doctor for four years has been the medical director in this county, the first full time man to be appointed in this capacity.

For the last two years he has also had charge of Venango county. He will have charge of all epidemics in the state where the state assumes charge of the work.

Dr. M. B. Magoffin of Mercer takes charge of his work in Mercer and Dr. A. M. Brown in Venango.

NEW CONTAGION REPORTED

During the last week 100 cases of communicable disease were reported at the health bureau here.

Of this total there were 70 cases of measles, ten of chickenpox, six of mumps, the same number of scarlet fever, two of pneumonia, one each of German measles and diphtheria.

During the same period of time 83 were released from quarantine.

MANY DOGS LICENSED

To date 2348 dog licenses have been issued. In 1929 there were 9,000 dogs licensed. This should mean that three-fourths of the dog owners of the county have failed to buy and after January 15 their dogs will be assessed to them with a heavy fine imposed for not buying.

Agent Harry Higbee has notified all dog owners that on and after January 15 no excuses will be accepted.

BOARD TO ORGANIZE

The county commissioners and salary board will organize this week for 1930, is the report of officials at the office of the commissioners today.

The organization has been held up due to the illness of Commissioner Harry Gibson with an attack of tonsilitis.

The organization of the commissioners will be a mere matter of form. The action of the salary board will include not only the setting of salaries of court house employes but the consideration of several applications for increases in pay.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE GOOD

The average attendance at the Presbyterian church of Mercer at the Sunday evening services during 1929 was 100, is the report of the pastor, Dr. O. H. L. Mason.

The Christmas cantata, postponed due to illnes, was sung Sunday evening by the church choir and that of the Second U. P. church under the leadership of V. L. Fleck of Grove City, who has charge of the Presbyterian church choir during the illness of Calvin Beatty.

SEVEN VIOLATE PAROLE

Rev. W. T. K. Thompson, who has just filed his report as county parole officer, states that the number of parole violators for the year will number seven per cent of the total. This has been the average for nine years, he states.

The officer left Monday for Erie where he will attend the three-day state convention of the parole and probation officers of Pennsylvania.

MANY WRITS STAYED

Of the 34 writs listed for disposal at the sheriffs sales of the January term carded for 1 p. m. on January 20, eight have already been stayed, the record at the office of that official shows.

Of those remaining the number includes the largest and most valuable tract of land ever disposed of at a sale of this character in the property of the Leesburg Coal company.

There are 34 separate tracts of land that are to be disposed of at the sale that are the property of the company, totaling 600 acres. The mineral rights of this number of tracts is the object of sale.

FEW VIOLATE LAW

Open and flagrant violation of the state liquor laws in the county is a thing of the past, report the police. The officers do not contend that all sale has been stopped but the business now is conducted in such a secretive manner as to eliminate a great deal of profit.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT

The Men's Bible class of the Presbyterian church will hold a social affair in the church parlors on the evening of January 23.

Committees have been arranged for the evening of entertainment.

The class is a fast growing organization.

Rev. E. Ballinger Speaks On Judgment

Last evening Rev. E. Ballinger, who is conducting services in the Arlington avenue Free Methodist church, delivered a forceful sermon on "The Judgment". This day and age of the world, it is a general idea that this life ends all. The awful time of crime and lawlessness is due to lack of belief in future reward and punishment. Man must be judged for the life he lives here.

A score of young people responded to the call. Service begins each evening at 7:30.

Dissension Within German Ranks Mars Reparation Session

(International News Service)

THE HAGUE, NETHERLANDS, Jan. 14.—Despite the apparent dissension existing between Dr. Jhalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, backed by other members of the German delegation to the Reparations conference, Dr. Schacht will continue to participate in the negotiations, it was stated today.

Because of the bombshell thrown in the midst of the conference by Schacht yesterday when he declared the Reichsbank could not participate in the bank for international settlements. However, it was reported that the other German delegates have plans afoot for replacing him with the heads of large German private banks.

The president of the Prussian State bank, Herr Schroeder, and the president of the Reich Credit company, Herr Heimann, were prominently mentioned today as being selected to take Schacht's place at the conference in order to organize other German banks to take the place of the Reichsbank in participating in the international bank.

West Virginians Need Money For Prison Changes

The warden explained that at the last regular session of the legislature all prison appropriations were refused except the $25,000 annually allotted for repairs and improvements. This sum is almost exhausted and will not be available again until next June. The additional money sought by the warden will be used to make needed changes within the prison. He would not comment on the contemplated improvements.

Discovery Eliminates Deadly Exhaust Gases

Dr. J. C. W. Frazer, professor of chemistry at the Johns Hopkins University, who claims the discovery of a process to eliminate the deadly carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust of automobiles. Carbon monoxide gas is produced by incomplete combustion, and Dr. Frazer's discovery is a chemical catalyst, by which the monoxide is changed to carbon dioxide, a harmless gas. Several severe tests have proven the efficacy of his discovery, Dr. Frazer declares.

NEW YORK STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Most of the active industrial and utility stocks reached higher price levels in the early trading today, only to fall back in the second hour when the wave of profit taking flowed in. Pennsylvania, at the head of the popular rails, forged ahead to 79, aided by good earnings reports and the fact that the "rights" to buy the new shares expire tomorrow. United States Steel and Consolidated Gas led the bull factions in the industrial and utility stocks respectively.

The market as a whole once more appeared to be working out of its narrow rut, transactions in the well known shares increasing about 50 per cent over the last few dull sessions. Investment buying was encouraged by the favorable surveys of industry and business, though the reports of past performances in the building and other industries which came to hand today, were rather gloomy. Building construction in December, for example, fell off 39 per cent from the aggregate of the same month in 1928.

Pennsylvania's new advance to 79 carried that stock about 7 points above the low of last week. Allegheny Corporation was well brought above 26, and New York Central around 170. Consolidated Gas, at the head of the utilities, advanced 2 points to 103½. Bethlehem Steel was again in demand, forging ahead to 97½, about 2 points above the opening price. United Corporation, in the low-priced utility group, advanced a point to 33¼ in active trading near the noon period. American Waterworks advanced to 96½ for a new gain of 2 points. Montgomery Ward was under fire and sold off 1½ at 42½. Call money was unchanged at 4½ per cent.

Plans To Observe His Anniversary

Rev. Sam Maitland To Celebrate Spiritual Birthday On Thursday

REV. SAMUEL R. MAITLAND

Rev. Samuel R. Maitland, pastor of the Ridgeville, Butler county, Methodist Episcopal church, and pastor of the Greenwood M. E. church of this district for many years, will on Thursday, January 16, 1930, observe his 27th spiritual anniversary.

The anniversary celebration, which has been an established institution of many years in this vicinity, will be held on that date this year in the Ridgeville M. E. church.

The event will be attended by many people from this city and those going from here by automobile will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 10:30 a. m. on January 16 and go in a body. Ridgeville is in Butler county about 11 miles east of Harrisville.

The program of the day will be inaugurated with a chicken dinner at 12 o'clock noon. Immediately following the dinner the chairman, Dr. E. A. Crooks, will call the meeting to order. The Ministerial association of New castle will participate in the program. Dr. F. E. Stough will be the speaker of that part of the day's program.

In the evening the service will be held at Hilliards M. E. church at which time Dr. S. L. Maxwell will give the message of his travels through the Holy Land, using lantern slides to illustrate his message. Music of the occasion will be furnished by the Simpson M. E. church of this city.

As in former years, the people of New Castle are extended a cordial invitation to join in the observance of Rev. Maitland's spiritual birthday and indications are that quite a number will make the trip and do so.

Campbell Heads Temple Club

Annual meeting of the Temple club, the social organization of New Castle Lodge No. 195 I. O. O. F. was held Monday evening in the club rooms on East street.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There's one nice thing about weather such as we're having. It always makes copy, and last night was good for a line or two in anybody's paper. At six thirty the fog had some of the down town streets blanketed, and the street lights looking murky and dim. At seven thirty the fog lifted and at eight o'clock the moon was out doing his bit. Then some more fog and rain and tough driving, and by midnight the air was clear again, with the moon back of a screen. And once again that peculiar looking circle around the moon, not quite so large as the last time, but there. Will the amateur astronomers file their answers early.

With the Wickersham report now in and with Congress digesting it, we may get some solution of the crime problem. As to the matter of the Prohibition laws, the only way to enforce them is to enforce them, and if the commission cared to visit Lawrence county perhaps the idea of enforcement would be more clearly demonstrated.

Out on the streets of the city, the proposed plan of Mayor William H. Gillespie for a series of conferences looking towards prosperity is receiving favorable comment. The idea is a good one, and from the comment this colyum conductor has heard, Mayor Bill has hit an idea on the nose.

Too much sport Monday evening to get it all. Up at New Wilmington the United Presbyterians and the Covenanters shot it out, with those sturdy U. P.'s, Delehunty and O'Donovan having the edge on Friedman and his Covenanter cohorts. Over at the Jolly Bowl they said it with sock, and no way has been devised yet where you can be in New Wilmington and the Jolly Bowl at one and the same time.

Not much weather to talk about amusement parks, but Carl Shaner was in town for a day or so. The colder the weather gets the more ideas Carl gets for Cascade Park and right now he is boiling down some ideas for new amusements out there.

Some of the boys standing on the Washington street bridge the other afternoon began fanning about the flood of March 1913, which you may remember. As a flood that was not quite as big a success as the one Noah saw, but plenty successful in its field. That was the time when Washington street was a lagoon, with the only dry spot being a few yards at Mercer street, where the rivers didn't quite meet. And I never expect to forget the lad who was carrying his sweetie through the water, only to drop her as he was a couple of steps from dry ground.

Reports from the Secret Service department are to the effect that Dick Gwilym is now eligible to full membership in the Mustache club of the New Castle Tin Mill. Phil Williams who is a charter member vouches for the hirsute adornment and his name will be entered accordingly.

Up at the New Castle Motor club, Barney Hanlon is busy these days mapping out routes to the South and the West. If you're going to drive, its a fine idea to have a route charted for you, and the service is free. That is, if you are a member, which every motorist should be.

Third U. P. To Have Series Of Meetings

Beginning January 19 and continuing for two weeks the Third U. P. church, of which Rev. S. B. Copeland is pastor, will have a series of evangelistic meetings.

The preachers who will bring messages during this period will include Rev. S. C. Gamble of Butler, Pa., who will be remembered as a former New Castle minister and a powerful speaker; Dr. Homer Henderson of Grove City, who has been heard here before, and Dr. James McQuilken of Carnegie, Pa.

Two Prisoners Are Taken To Workhouse

Dora Tolpish and Joseph Pushinsky were taken to the Allegheny county workhouse today by Deputy Sheriffs Vanditta and Whaley. Dora Tolpish was sentenced for one year on a charge of violating the liquor laws at the Country Club at Ellwood City. Pushinsky, who hails from the Blue Ruin district near the state line in Mahoning township, was given eight months on a liquor charge.

Margaret Reed

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14.—Under direction of Professor A. T. Cordray, the Westminster College Little Theater will present "Minick," three-act comedy, in the local community house Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Most of the characters in the comedy are from Professor Cordray's class in acted drama.

Miss Margaret Reed, Butler, will take the lead as young Fred Minick's wife. Miss Theda Hartwell, New Wilmington, will play the part of the colored maid. Other students in the cast include William Hamilton as old man Minick; Ruth Lewis, New Castle; Robert Jones, New Wilmington; Louise Adams, New Wilmington; John Strothard, Ashtabula, O.; Virginia Reeher, New Castle; Ruth Hastings, Franklin.

Mary Lou Braham, Butler; Mary Alice Kyle, Edenburg; James Blackwood, Cleveland, O.; Ted Bair, West Middlesex. Professor Cordray will also take part in the play, interpreting the role of old Mr. Dietenhofer.

The comedy is based on the story by Edna Ferber called "Old Man Minick," and shows an old man who tries to adjust his provincial ways to the life of his son and daughter-in-law in Chicago. The class in acted drama, a regular college class, will not only produce the play but also the drops and properties and scenery for the production.

Railroad Company In Given Verdict

Why New Castle Mining And Clay Company Fought Suit Brought For Freight

In the case of the New York Central Railroad Company against The New Castle Mining and Clay Products Company, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $314.64. The suit was brought for freight on cars of brick shipped by the Clay Products Company to Dolgentle, N. Y. The brick company fought the payment owing to peculiar circumstances surrounding the case.

When the brick, four cars, arrived at their destination, the contractor, O. L. Weidman, went to the railroad office and paid the freight bill which was presented to him.

Some time after the freight was paid by Weidman the railroad company discovered that a mistake had been made on the rate, the cars having been billed at a lower rate than provided for in the schedule. Weidman was notified that he had not paid enough and was asked for the balance but never paid it.

It was not until about three years afterwards, according to the defense, that the brick company here was notified that the balance of the freight had not been paid. In the meantime Weidman had failed. The brick company alleged negligence on the part of the railroad company in waiting three years, claiming that if the company had been notified promptly that Weidman had refused to pay, the brick company would have had an opportunity to have collected from him.

It was claimed that since the railroad company had not given the brick company notice, it was evidence that the railroad company had elected to recover from Weidman. In the meantime Weidman had failed and the brick company, owing to the delay, had not been able to collect from him. The point involved was largely a matter of law as to when the railroad company should have notified the brick company.

Shenango River May Flood Sharon

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 14.—The Shenango river has reached the flood stage throughout this section, and with continued rains today it is predicted that the river will be out of its banks here this afternoon.

Cellars in the main business section here have been flooded since early yesterday, but no serious damage has thus far been reported. Merchants are fearful, however, that unless the rain ceases within 48 hours another disastrous flood similar to that which swept this district in 1913 will result.

NATION IS NEVER LICKED BY WAR, IS WILL'S PHILOSOPHY

(Special To The News)

ABOARD S. S. BREMEN, Jan. 15.—Before the war Germany led the world in knowing how to build passenger boats. She lost all of them. Now here she is back where she was.

It's a great argument against war. It just shows you can lick a nation, but when you let 'em up they can still beat you at the same things they could before, which takes away about the only reason left for having war.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Blond women who are a little inclined to be stout will no longer be under suspicion in connection with the slaying of State Trooper Brady Paul. One of Pa Newc's boys has received some snooty looks for looking twice at women of this description here lately.

After almost a week of warm and rainy weather a change was noticed this morning which may presage a cold spell. At any rate it is a little more snappy out today.

Perry S. Gaston Post of the American Legion is looking forward to the greatest year in its history. Last year at this time the post boasted a membership of 67. Today the post has 302 members and the real drive has not yet been held.

Mrs. C. L. Casselman of of Wilmington avenue states that she possesses one of the Liberty bell souvenirs described in this column yesterday and owned by G. T. Holboth of North Beaver street. It is a glass plate with the Liberty Bell replica in the center around which are grouped the names of the original states and other information.

Pa Newc notices that someone evidently missed the curve on Highland avenue and went up on someone's lawn. There is a deep track in the sod.

Another example of the crying need for paving of Euclid avenue was seen last night. Persons who drove up to the new George Washington Junior high for the concert, found a street that, because of recent weather conditions, was muddy, and not in the least attractive to auto traffic. Plans should be made to have this street paved. There should be a paved street leading to this magnificent school without further delay.

Heard a young lady remark to an extremely talkative miss—"You must have parrot fever." Wonder if that is a symptom?

Forty-seven automobiles were damaged in New Castle by fire during 1929. Most of the fires could be put out by chemicals before extensive damage was done. It would be well to be careful of fire when in an automobile.

Friday, January 17, is the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin.

Pa Newc notices that more smoke is coming from the chimneys, with the return of chilly weather.

The waters of the Shenango river reached a stage of 13.1 feet this morning, which is several inches higher than the stage recorded during the January thaw of 1929, when the max-

Begin Move To Extradite Trio From Arizona

County Detective Leaves Today For Harrisburg To Secure Papers

PROBABLY FOUR TO GO FOR PRISONERS

Photos And Fingerprints Are Sent From Harrisburg By Air Mail

District Attorney John S. Powers has already started the machinery of the law in motion towards returning Irene Schroeder, W. Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford to Lawrence County for trial.

Early today he made arrangements to send County Detective Peck Lee to Harrisburg with a request for extradition of the bandits. This request must be signed by Governor John S. Fisher and Secretary of the Commonwealth Robert R. Lewis. With this application filled out, County Detective Lee expects to return to New Castle sometime Thursday morning and deputies will be sent to Phoenix to return the trio.

At Least Four.

Because of the fact that the three are regarded as dangerous and will need constant watching on the trip back, Mr. Powers believes that not less than four deputies should be sent in order to provide a night and day watch.

Two of the deputies will be state policemen, District Attorney Powers already having asked Captain Jacob Mauk of the state police barracks at Butler to furnish two of his best men to make the trip.

If the extradition papers are returned to New Castle by Thursday afternoon the deputies can leave at 7:55 o'clock Thursday evening over the Pennsylvania railroad, arriving in Phoenix on Sunday. All of this, of course, is dependent upon the county commissioners authorizing the expense of sending the deputies out. This will probably be done, as it is the customary thing to do, and the precedent for such action is found in the case of the notorious check forger, Gardner, who was brought back from California some years ago. In this case two men were sent. With three criminals to return, four men is a minimum necessary.

Expect No Delay.

Because of the fact that Phoenix is the capital of Arizona, there will be little delay in getting the signature of the governor of that state to the requisition papers. If the deputies leave New Castle on Thursday night

SEVERAL PERSONS REPORTED MISSING

Marie Prevost And Party Of Friends Marooned In Mountains With Short Rations

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Wintry weather today had claimed three lives in California. Meanwhile, rescue parties in California and Nevada were pushing through heavy snows to aid many who have been trapped in the mountains.

Two dead were reported from Northern California. They were Jack Stone, a trapper, who was found dead from exposure near Eureka. An unidentified man, believed to be a prospector, was found dead from exposure in a cabin near Redding.

E. L. Johnston, a homesteader, was found dead in his cabin, 60 miles from San Bernardino.

Several Are Missing

Two missing girls are being sought in the mountains back of San Bernardino, while another rescue party is trying to reach a mother and daughter in the same section. They are reported to be seriously ill.

Marie Prevost, film actress, and five friends are beleaghered in the Tehachapis. They are said to short of rations.

With lines of communication down, many communities and resorts throughout the state have not been heard from for several days. Highway traffic was still seriously affected by the snow fall.

Donnie Schroeder Not Told Of His Mother's Arrest For Paul Murder

"DONNIE" SCHROEDER

Romping in his quarters here, little Donnie Schroeder, son of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, the blonde gunwoman captured last night near Phoenix, Ariz., is still ignorant of the fact that his mother has been arrested for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul.

"Donnie," who has earned the title of being a "bright" little fellow since he was brought here, has apparently had his head "turned" by all the attention bestowed upon him of late and gave unmistakable evidences of trying to "show off" when County Commissioner T. J. McCullough and the lady clerks at the commissioners' office visited him this morning.

He was attired in a neat little close fitting blue suit and seemed to be highly pleased with the company that had called upon him. He was asked if he would not say a speech for the company. "Sure," said Donnie, whereupon he marched out into the center of the room and recited "Humpty Dumpty". He knows a lot of other nursery rhymes which he also recites.

"Would you like to see your mother.

BLIZZARD RAGES IN FAR WEST

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—While a zero wave held the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast region in its grip, steadily mountain flood waters in the Mississippi basin today threatened to carry death and destruction to a dozen communities.

The safety of thousands of persons is threatened in Indiana with both the Wabash and White rivers on a rampage over acres of farm lands. Villages and small cities along the two flooded rivers are surrounded with water.

The town of Shoals in Martin county is surrounded by waters from the White river, and has been cut off for twenty four hours.

Levees Give Way

On the Wabash river several levees have given way despite the efforts of workers who piled re-enforcing stone and sand along the crumbling banks. At Vincennes, Ind., the Wabash had risen more than a foot in four hours.

Hundreds of acres of Illinois farm lands are inundated in the Kaskaskia river valley. Incessant rainfall yesterday continued to choke the Kaskaskia and force it over its banks.

A severe blizzard trailed by zero temperatures swept the Rocky Mountain region and the upper Middle West states of Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Montana and Wyoming. Temperatures as low as 30 degrees below were reported in Montana.

Incessant snowfall in the Rocky Mountain states has piled deep drifts, crippling transportation and wire communication. The cold wave in California has claimed three dead and several missing.

Machine Used By Trio In Trip To Arizona, Taken At Wheeling

POLICE CHIEF GIVES FACTS ABOUT CAR

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 15.—Identification of the automobile in which Irene Schroeder and her two companions made their escape from Pennsylvania to Arizona, where they were captured last night, was established here today by police chief Fred H. Frazier.

Chief Frazier stated that the machine had been stolen from the Scott Motor company in Wheeling, last November 13. It is believed to have been stored in the Island garage here for just such an emergency as arose when the blonde trigger woman overstepped herself and with her two male companions engaged in a gun battle which ended fatally for Corporal Brady Paul of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol. Paul's death started a widespread hunt for the fugitives and finally resulted in their capture.

Mrs. Schroeder launched her career of armed banditry here when she and her alleged lover Glen Dague joined forces. Dague deserted his wife and two children at Sandhill, Marshall county, a year ago and his wife is now teaching school to support the youngsters.

Trio To Be Held Awaiting Arrival Of Officers From Lawrence County—Trio Taken After Spectacular Battle In Arizona—Admits Being In Bandit Car On Butler Road

(Special to The News)

PHOENIX, Arizona, Jan. 15.—In order to hold Irene Schroeder and her companions until the arrival of Pennsylvania officers, charges of assault with intent to commit murder were filed against the trio by officials here today.

One of the men, who claims he has not been with the trio, except for the past few days, declares he was picked up in Texas by the pair. There seems to be some facts to bear out this claim.

Mrs. Schroeder slept well last night and was smiling this morning. She said that she was not worried about her son. She and Dague will probably go back to Pennsylvania to face murder charges, but the third man may be kept here on kidnap and assault charges.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan., 15.—Irene Schroeder, 22 year old blonde gun woman, today admitted her identity as the muchly-sought Pennsylvania bandit-murderess after she had been captured with two male companions in the mountain wilderness following a gun battle with a posse of deputy sheriffs.

"Yes, I'm Irene Schroeder," she told sheriff Charles Wright.

DAGUE REFUSES TO TALK

Dague, aged 32, sullenly refused to talk.

The other male prisoner gave his name as J. W. Crawford, alias Jim Wells, 38. He claimed to have been released from the Oklahoma State Prison on December 26, 1929 and was picked up on the highway by Mrs. Schroeder and Dague.

The trio were apprehended after they had kidnaped Joseph Chapman, Arizona deputy sheriff at Florence and later fought a pistol duel at Chandler, in which Chapman, and Lee Wright, another deputy, were wounded.

After the gun battle, they fled in their automobile to Phoenix Mountain Park. They had no guide and became lost in the 15,000 acres of wilderness. They were making their way down a side road when they became frightened at seeing three cars approach.

Flee On Foot

They abandoned their car, found later to have been stolen in Wheeling, West Virginia, and fled on foot into the mountains.

Officers in an airplane which had been pressed into service spotted them and later guided a posse of a dozen deputy sheriffs to the scene of their refuge.

When trapped, the bandits opened fire before the deputies scattered and moved to a higher peak behind the trio and ordered them to surrender.

Two Come Out

Mrs. Schroeder and Crawford came out with their hands in the air.

Dague, however, refused to give up until the officers threatened to shoot his companions. Then he, too, came out of his hiding place and was immediately handcuffed.

The prisoners were brought to the Maricopa county jail here.

Sheriff Wright communicated with Pennsylvania authorities and was told that an officer would be sent by airplane to arrange for their extradition.

Hair Is Dyed

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 15. — Sheriff Charles H. Wright, Maricopa County, Arizona, is a hero today after a gun battle in this country made notorious by famed gunmen of the '70's and '80's, in which he with deputies captured a 1929 desperado, Irene Schroeder, of Benwood, W. Va.

The erstwhile "blonde" gunwoman—her hair has been dyed to a bronze hue, the sheriff said—was the object of a country-wide search since December 27, when she capped an alleged career of banditry with a gun battle near New Castle, Pa., in which Corporal Brady Paul, of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol was killed.

Fleeing westward, she, with her two male companions reached Florence, Ariz., near here, where according to Sheriff Wright the trio kidnapped Sheriff Joe Chapman when he questioned them about the ownership of the car they were driving with a Kentucky license.

Many Join Chase

The alarm was immediately sounded when the trio and their prisoner started away in a cloud of dust. Posses and deputy sheriffs gathered together quickly, made plans and started in pursuit.

Automobiles, horses, parties afoot and an airplane were used and the trio were quickly discovered in the mountainous region near the Gila river.

Sheriff Wright and his deputies surrounded the trio and the gun battle began. For an hour the exchange of shots went on and then three deputies succeeded in sneaking up in back of the rock behind which the trio had taken shelter and with the order "stick 'em up," the gunwoman and her companions were through with their fight and in the hands of the sheriff.

Asks of Son.

The Schroeder woman first admitted her identity when mention was made of "Donnie", her 4-year-old boy now in the custody of Pennsylvania state police at New Castle, Pa.

"I am Irene Schroeder. What of

For years she wrote of the blushing bride and the parties and showers they had, and the bridal veil with the gadgets on, and the kind of a husband she had. She told the world of its social life, parties, dances and such, but will she be doing it any more, she certainly wont, not much. For this is the day when the lady falls, falls with a bang and a thrill, this is the day when the lady fair says to the preacher, I will. And the blushing bride that she wrote about comes home to the lady now, for she is the bride with the tricky veil, and today she will take the vow. We'll miss her here when the sheet goes down, and the presses begin to roar, but we know that she too is a "lovely bride," the weather is thirty-four.

ABOARD S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Great Britain's reply to France's memorandum on disarmament, emphasizing the former's faith in the Kellogg Pact as one of the keystones of disarmament structure, was hailed with utmost satisfaction by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson today.

A digest of the British note was received by wireless aboard the George Washington, and read with great interest by Secretary Stimson and the other members of the American delegation to the forthcoming disarmament parley in London.

The communication is regarded as especially satisfying by virtue of the fact its main points are those which the United States government has stressed from the outset. It is now anticipated that the pledges made in the Kellogg Pact will be more and more emphasized when the discussions of the conference reach their inevitable critical stage.

Accord Is Glaring

The British position, as shown by the note, coincides closely with that maintained by the United States government, affording further proof that Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonold and President Hoover talked about something else beside cruiser figures during their historical meetings of last October.

No greater tribute could have been paid to the Kellogg Pact, according to opinion expressed aboard ship, than the British communication to France, which pointed out that the wide scope of the treaty and the number of its signatories automatically provide guarantees for peace such as the world has never had before.

Skirting a mid-Atlantic storm, the George Washington continues to make good time, and now seems certain of reaching Plymouth by midnight Thursday, as especially requested by Secretary Stimson in order that he might have a full extra day for conferences with the foreign delegation leaders before the disarmament parley gets under way.

imum reached was 12.8 feet. It is believed that water will rise even higher before it starts to go down. According to word from Sharon, the business district of that city is threatened with a flood, water having entered the cellars of many stores in the downtown district. The Neshannock, on the other hand, is rapidly receding.

The 1930 licenses are no longer shiney and new looking. It doesn't take long for the tags to lose that school girl complexion.

Finishing touches are being done on the new Gilfillan building, N. Jefferson street. It won't be long until its completion.

IRENE SCHROEDER AND COMPANIONS HELD IN ARIZONA

Donnie?" she exclaimed when questioned.

Her battle with the deputies ended for her but not until she had received a bullet wound in the neck—"just grazed," she told the sheriff.

Until she can be identified formally and properly delivered to Pennsylvania authorities, the woman will be kept here in the county jail—not treated as an honored guest, according to the sheriff, but as all bandits out here are handled. There is a chain securely fastened to one of her wrists and the other end of it is fast to the bars of the cell.

Fails to Admit Shooting Paul.

Irene has so far failed to admit that she shot Paul, though she confessed that she and her companions were in the car from which the shots came to end the corporal's life.

One of the men, lately released from the Oklahoma state prison, he says, is believed to be her brother, J. W. Crawford, who is known to Sheriff Wright as Jo (Red) Wells, with a reputation in Texas for banditry. The other man is Glenn Dague, Mrs. Schroeder says, who is her alleged lover and whom she is said to have stolen from his wife and two children in Wheeling, W. Va., over a year ago.

The men are held here, too, in a dark, steel plated cell with the added predicament of handcuffs for the desperate duo.

Crime Is Committed

While the history of the hunt for Irene Schroeder and her pals really starts in Toledo, O., before December 27, 1929, actually the interest in her apprehension began in that day when State Highway Patrolman Brady Paul was murdered and his buddy, Private Ernest Moore injured on the Butler road.

The P. H. Butler store in Butler,

Slain Trooper

CORPORAL BRADY PAUL

Pa., had been held up and robbed about 11 o'clock in the morning by a woman and two men bandits. The State Highway Patrol at New Castle was notified to be on the lookout for a Chevrolet coach containing the suspects and Corporal Paul and Private Moore stationed themselves on the Butler road, about two miles from the city line.

Halt Car

A Chevrolet bearing an Ohio license came along and the men stopped it. Corporal Paul asked for the drivers license and the driver handed him a wallet. Corporal Paul insisted that the driver take out his license, whereupon the man and the woman got out of the car.

As she got out the woman stuck a gun into Corporal Paul's ribs and commanded him to move back, it is related. An instant later she fired three times, wounding Paul so badly that he died an hour or so later.

Moore was shot in the nose and the head and was left on the road stunned. George Book came along in a truck and started to town with Paul and a passing motorist picked up Moore.

A few minutes later R. C. Horton and Miss Elsie Nickum, in a Chrysler coupe were held up on Adams street by the same trio of bandits and Horton's car stolen from him. In this car they drove away.

Spread Alarm

The alarm was immediately broadcast to all surrounding cities and states, police departments, guards were placed on the roads leading out of New Castle.

The hunt continued for several days without success, with state officers searching Wheeling, W. Va., on a tip left on some papers found in the Chevrolet coach abandoned by the killers. On December 31 the police of Bellaire, O., located Donnie Schroeder, four and a half year old son of Mrs. Schroeder and he told the officers that his "mamma had shot two state cops."

Satisfied that Irene Schroeder was the woman wanted, efforts were redoubled to locate her and a flood of rumors was received from various cities and states.

Yesterday morning the trio stopped at a gas station in Florence, Arizona, to get some gas and in an argument with the gas man, a deputy sheriff was called and was shot by the trio. The hunt was then taken up by the sheriff of Maricopa county, Arizona, and ended in a gun battle in the mountains near Lazeen, Arizona, finally ending in the capture of the woman and two men.

There is a possibility that one of the men may not be Tom Crawford, brother of Irene Schroeder, but may be a Texas bandit named Joe Wells. This has not been established although Donnie Schroeder said that his uncle was wounded in the hip in the gun battle on the Butler road.

Donnie?" asked a News reporter who was present.

"Hot dog, hot dog," responded Donnie. This was all he would say about his mother. He seemed to be too much engrossed with the attention being bestowed upon him to say anything more.

"Here, Donnie, is some money," said County Commissioner T. J. McCullough, pulling a dime from his pocket and holding it out toward the lad.

"Fresh fish, fresh fish," said Donnie.

"What do you mean by that?" asked a reporter.

"Fresh fish," replied Donnie again.

"Aren't you going to take the money?" was asked.

Donnie bounded over to Commissioner McCullough, grabbed the dime, and then ran out into another room.

Pretty soon he came back with a toy bank. He placed the dime in the bank and then began shaking it vigorously. It appeared to be well filled with coins.

Donnie has been getting a lot of coins and he seems to be very proud of his bank.

He seems very happy and contented, but apparently thinks that attentions are being showered upon him because he is so bright.

He has not been told about his mother's arrest because it is believed that he would not understand. He will be told later that his mother is coming to see him.

BEGIN MOVE TO EXTRADITE TRIO FROM ARIZONA

it would be possible to have the criminals back in New Castle by Friday of next week.

A charge of murder has already been laid against the three in the office of Alderman William E. Marshall, this having been done on December 31.

Lee To Leave Tonight

County Detective Peck Lee will probably leave tonight for Harrisburg, on a late Pennsylvania train for the purpose of getting extradition papers for the return of Irene Schroeder, W Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford, it was announced in the district attorney's office at noon.

He will be in Harrisburg at the opening of business Thursday morning and will probably get back to New Castle Thursday night with the papers necessary to the return of the woman and the two men.

In the preparation of the extradition papers it was also necessary to have a large number of supporting affidavits made and these required some little time.

Send Photos and Fingerprints
(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Photographs and fingerprints of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, merciless blonde gunwoman, and her two male accomplices, wanted for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the state highway patrol near New Castle, last December, are speeding today by air mail to Phoenix, Ariz., where the trio are reported under arrest.

State police headquarters here said that the pictures and prints had been rushed to Phoenix as soom as word of the capture had been received here.

Woman Identified

While the woman has been identified definitely as Mrs. Irere Schroeder of Benwood, W. Va., officials said, it has not yet been learned whether her two companions are Glen Dague and J. W. Crawford. State police said, however, they were confident the two men arrested would prove to be the hunted woman's aides.

Arizona authorities have indicated a willingness to turn the woman over to Pennsylvania to meet her fate unless wounds inflicted on a deputy sheriff near Phoenix prove fatal.

Extradition proceedings designed to bring Mrs. Schroeder within the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania courts would have to be started by the district attorney of Lawrence county where the highway patrolman was slain.

TWO MORE STORES ARE BURGLARIZED

found the rear door of the Danish Pastry Shop had been broken open.

An effort to locate the manager was without result and Officer Hanna locked the place up as well as possible under the circumstances.

Later in the morning, the manager came to the place and found that between ten and twelve dollars had been taken from the cash register. Other money hidden in the store escaped the notice of the thieves.

Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Thomas Lynch on their investigation today, found that the rear door had been broken into and that the method of boring holes used in other robberies had not been employed in this case.

It was also discovered this morning that the Robert's Millinery store, next door, had also been entered during the night.

A window leading into the basement of this store was broken open and entrance effected. The thief or thieves then went from the basement to the store above.

Nothing of value was found missing in this place. It is probable that the thief or thieves were frightened away from this place before being able to accomplish their purpose.

STAR LORE

A GENERAL RELATIVITY ILLUSTRATION

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Some of the ideas and evidences of general relativity, established by observational methods, are quite capable of being understood. Here is one stock illustration: If two observers were each enclosed with various equipment in separate large boxes, and the first observer, with his box, were at rest in space, and the second observer, with his box, were falling in a uniform field of gravitation, where the gravitation was equal and parallel, the latter box would be seen to increase in rate of motion so that the relative motions of each material body within the box would not be in any way affected by the force acting upon the box from without.

Denver Avenue Home Destroyed

Firemen Have To Drag Hose 1100 Feet Up Steep Hillside To Fight Blaze

Fire of unknown origin, practically destroyed a one-story house on Denver avenue at 9:05 last evening, with a loss of approximately $1,800.

The structure was blazing fiercely when firemen arrived on the scene, and by the time they were able to get water on the structure it had been doomed.

The home which is owned by Mrs. Frank Barrett and occupied by Andrew Kopsky, is situated at the extreme end of Denver avenue, atop a steep hill. According to information given Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn, members of the family were absent when the fire started. Neighbors called Central department, who in turn notified No. 5. Chief Lynn and truck B. from Central station also started for the place.

Firemen were unable to get beyond Grimes street on Denver avenue and were forced to lay a line of hose from this point, dragging it 1100 feet through the mud, across lots to reach the fire.

Officer John Moore and others, who arrived on the scene before the firemen, stated that the bedroom and dining room were filled with fire, which later spread to the kitchen. Fireman J. B. Zeitler from the Central station was able to enter the kitchen and succeeded in getting out a table and some chairs, but could not get into the dining room.

At first it was thought the fire might have started from an electric iron, as an iron was noticed sitting on top of an ironing board, attached to a plug. However, those on the scene first, stated there was no fire near this point.

There was little fire in the heater at the time and no blaze was noticed in the cellar.

The loss is fully covered by insurance. Damage to the home was estimated at $1,000 by Chief Lynn, while damage to the contents amounted to approximately $800. Mrs. Barrett, the owner of the home, was recently bereaved by the death of her husband.

Confraternity Meets On Tuesday Evening

Plans Made To Raise Funds To Assist In Carrying On The Work Here

A meeting of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in the New Castle and Lawrence county district was held last evening in the Knights of Columbus Home on North Jefferson street, with a good attendance of the members.

The meeting was addressed by Rev. Fr. Edward Heinrich of Pittsburgh, a former member of St. Mary's Parish, and who is now assistant Diocesan Director of the Confraternity, on the work for the coming year and the need of funds with which to carry on the work successfully.

The work of the Confraternity is principally that of conducting religious instruction classes in all sections of the county, where there are no parochial schools, especially in the outlying districts.

A principal cause for the need of funds is that of purchasing a new car to be used in carrying the teachers from this city to the various points, where they conduct their classes.

One of the methods to be employed in securing needed money is a campaign for contributing members, which will be inaugurated in the immediate future.

To say that a few men pay most of the taxes is like saying that Deacon Jones pays the preacher because he takes up the collection.

A hick town is a place where nobody feels a pain in the neck if somebody inherits $4000 and acts modest about it.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

RULING OUT FIGURES OF UNCLE SAM

POSTMASTER GENERAL BROWN has ruled out effigies of Uncle Sam as pedestals for mail boxes in the rural districts. It is true that he does this by indirection, but he has made it plain just the same. Mail box posts must be of plain design and painted white for the sake of visibility. They may be of wood, metal or concrete, but they must not be supported by effigies intended to represent figures or mechanical objects.

In other words, your "Uncle Samuel" is not to be treated as a joke by citizens of this Republic. Unofficially they can treat the old gentleman as they please, but when doing business with the post office department they must be dignified and follow regulations strictly. It was once said that corporations had no souls. It can now be added that governments are not supposed to have a sense of humor.

DEPARTING GOLD

During the first 10 years after the end of the war the United States held the largest accumulations of gold ever got together in the world's recorded history. Events of the war made this accumulation enevitable. The flow of gold in those days was quite in accordance with classical economic theory; the gold was driven out by inferior currencies, and went to the country whose currency was kept at par.

With the whole world under normal political and financial conditions, the supply of gold would distribute itself among the different nations in approximately the proportions required to perform satisfactorialy its modern functions in the stabilization of currencies and in business. Such a distribution is best for all concerned.

There have been times during the last two years when gold shipments out of the United States have seemed unusually large, but there is in this movement no cause for anxiety. Shipments have been small in comparison with the nation's gold reserve and have at all times left the United States with more than its share of the world's gold.

The same economic causes which take gold away from the United States to the countries of Europe and Latin America will stop the flow before it reaches the point where it could do harm, and the United States is the gainer from the more stable conditions produced in the countries receiving the gold.

ECONOMIC SECURITY OF MARRIAGE

In a bulletin issued by the United States Women's Bureau the question of the economic security of woman as the result of marriage is discussed by Miss Agnes L. Peterson. Her conclusion is that the married state fails to give that security. Miss Peterson makes the surprising statement that now "a large proportion of families living in cities depend largely upon the earnings of women and in many homes the entire income is earned by wives and daughters."

She declares that in a study of more than 17,000 unmarried women, one in five was caring for a family with no help from male relatives. She cited another investigation of 30,000 families in which 27 per cent of the workers stated that there were no men wage earners in their families. One statement which will be generally accepted is "that sons do not forego marriages and careers to anything like the extent that daughters remain at home because of the needs of parents or younger sisters and brothers."

The report says, with some feeling, that chivalry is an "age-worn myth." If this be true, it is quite possible that the economic competition between the sexes has something to do with it. Again, while the statistics may be accurate the conclusions taken from them may not be accepted too unreservedly. But one thing certain is that we will have to give up the old-time conception of woman as a clinging vine.

Going broke is a short auto trip.

You can make most any man feel at home by starting an argument.

Some people can't see the point unless you get down to brass tacks.

It takes all kind of people to make a world, but only one kind to ruin it.

THE GOOD SUN

One building in New York casts a shadow a fifth of a mile long, and it envelopes an area of nearly eight acres. Sunlight is so valuable to the human race that we may have to provide it by law. Floyd Parsons, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, says that a thousand years before the birth of Christ the city council of Pompeii paid damages to those whose sunlight was affected by the building of a city wall. They knew the value of the sun then just as physicians understand the great powers of sunlight now. Tribes of ancient days were sun worshippers. They were not ignorant or to be condemned. The sun, in the light of its curative powers, is worth a kind of worship.

CHICAGO SENSE

When the city of Chicago opened another mile and a half stretch of fine macadam highway along the lake front, another of her major traffic problems was well met. Chicago shows the world, when it comes to far-seeing sense, vision, and imagination in developing a great city, in solving transportation problems, in getting worthwhile things done. Chicago has not always had good municipal government but it has had large-minded and large-souled men who have towered above partisan government and has assumed the leadership that goes properly with brains and imagination.

ANOTHER VICTORY

When the London Times telephoned to Dr. Isidore Falk, at the University of Chicago, it was five o'clock in the morning. Dr. Falk hung up without submitting to an interview.

"Call me up tomorrow, I am too sleepy now," he said.

Even the London Times can afford to be patient with a man like Dr. Falk. He is the physician who has discovered the influenza germ, and to whom the world will do well to listen. The next step will be a successful preventive for the disease and perhaps immunity from it.

And yet high schools and colleges will go on teaching the history of our times and past times by putting the emphasis on war and conquest.

WORRYING ABOUT DRAFTS

If you are in normal health you aren't going to catch cold by sitting in a draft. Much better sit in a draft than in bad air. Avoid getting too tired and you will avoid most of your colds. And most of us get too tired, not from over-work but from anxiety and loss of sleep.

FOR THE BRIDGE HOSTESS.

Something new and that will be appreciated by the thoughtful hostess who entertains much at bridge and luncheon is a coathanger which has attached to it a large black moire bag with a wide slit in the side. The guest slips her coat upon the hangar and her gloves and bag, etc., inside the bag so that there is no danger of losing any of her personal belongings.

Uncle Sam's policy in the Orient seems to consist in protesting plaintively each time China is frisked.

Today

The Postmaster's Fleet.
With Hoover Sincerely.
The Pope On Education.
Charlie Boston Leaves.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features Syn., Inc.)

Mr. Brown, Postmaster General, suggests a $76,000,000 program to build a fleet of North Atlantic superships for American passengers and mail.

The Postmaster demands "a service which could compete with any foreign flag service on the North Atlantic."

Americans will congratulate late Postmaster Brown and President Hoover on that proposition, and hope that they will not only compete with, but eclipse every foreign service on the North Atlantic and everywhere else.

Why should a country with the best engineers, from the President down, and with more money than anybody else ever play second fiddle, on the ocean, or in the air.

President Hoover believes "the great majority wish him full success." And he is right. Whoever does not wish him success is a poor American.

But to wish the President success, to respect his ability, and honor his devotion to the public welfare, does not, of course, necessarily, involve agreement with all methods.

The President believes in commissions, "boards" of inquiry. They are useful. No man can be in several places at once.

But the greatest leaders, while they have appointed commissions, have done their own deciding, talking all responsibility, from Genghis Khan, conquering through Asia and Europe, to Theodore Roosevelt, building the Panama Canal, regardless, when he made up his mind that it ought to be built.

Cromwell let Milton write letters for him. But Cromwell told Milton what to say, and he signed them "Cromwell."

No education can be sound, the Pope says, if it is founded on 'negation of original sin."

The Pope condemns co-education and sexual education.

The church, according to the Pope, is supreme in education, taking precedence over the family and the state.

The late Charlie Boston, New York Chinese merchant, head of an important "tong" and doubtless in heaven at this moment, neglected no precautions.

Two Chinese bands accompanied him to the grave, to keep away evil spirits, and bits of paper were scattered along the route, perhaps with prayers written on them, to frighten the evil spirits more thoroughly. Two Chinese bands should have sufficed.

Rice, wine and chicken were placed in Mr. Boston's grave, with the body, that he might need nothing.

A Presbyterian clergyman, Chinese, read the Christian burial service.

It was planned to have a Taoist priest go through a Chinese ceremony to make sure, but no Taoist priest could be found.

Few arrive at the heavenly gates with such a good start.

A Long Island company will run "seeing New York airplanes" charging passengers one cent a pound, $2 for the fat man, $1 for the thin girl. That will help aviation and encourage temperate eating.

Stephen Harkness, public spirited Yale graduate, heir to a gigantic fortune, agrees to complete Yale's housing plan, which involving five new triangles, cost about $25,000,000.

Mr. Harkness has already given ten millions to Harvard.

It is a good thing to have many drops of water collected at Niagara. Dropping together they produce power.

It is a good thing to have many millions, collected in one bank account. Like Niagara's drops, those dollars have power, that small groups of dollars lack.

Reporting to Congress through the President, Mr. Wickersham and his board of inquiry asks few jury trials, "tighter padlocking," to aid the dry law, and the transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Secretary of the Treasury to the Attorney General.

The commission expresses no definite opinion as to the wisdom of prohibition, taking that, apparently, for granted, and confining itself to methods of enforcing the law.

Columbia College in New York decides to approve the German language in spite of the war. Hereafter French and German will rank above Spanish and Italian in requirements for the bachelor's degree.

It was idiocy, war or no war, to discourage study of language that alone makes Goethe, Schiller and Heine accessible.

COLORED COMPLICATIONS.

Doctor: 'Yes, madam for the last three months you have been totally colorblind.

Mrs. Smythe: "Gracious doctor Would you mind stepping into the waiting room and looking at the man I've just married?"

"Let Big Business combine and let the Government supervise it." Fine. But the people would let the cattle graze farther if they had more faith in the watch dogs.

Sell luxuries and grow rich. Sell necessities and grow poorer day by day in every way.

THEIR REPUTATION IS MADE BY THE HEN'S EGG NOT THE ROOSTER'S CROW.

We judge the worth of men unfairly because we do not understand the importance of their labors.

Who compose the ruling class? Who are the "cultured?" If you would answer correctly you must remember that men change their tools and playthings but do not change their nature.

When the race was young it was ruled by expert killers. Then as now the chief desire of men was to stand high in the opinion of their fellows and then as now men coveted power.

The chieftain clad in skins was abeyed by scores or hundreds because he was a skilled and victorious fighter. His power was the power to kill and his weapon was a club or a sword.

The chieftains of today shed no blood for they have found a weapon mightier than the sword. Their weapon is money and the sum of their millions is the measure of their power.

They do not labor for money. Only miserly souls do that. They labor for power—for the right to rule. And rule they do as chieftains mighty in battle ruled a more primitive and less subtle world.

Who, then are the cultured? Here again we are deceived by the boastings of the vain and by appearances. As we lose sight of our true masters and call noisy politicians our rulers so we praise perfumed idlers who talk glibly of culture and lose sight of the doers who give them something to talk about.

What is meant by "the culture of the Incas?" When we praise them we are not thinking of rich idlers who sat on cushions and aired their knowledge of their times; we are thinking of those who built temples, made pottery and ornaments, perfected a calendar and mapped the heavens.

The cultured are the doers.

Is a man a great sportsman because he understands the rules of baseball, polo and tennis and knows the names of skilled players?

People who hunger for "culture" think their goal can be achieved when they can talk about painters, composers, sculptors, poets and discuss their works.

But a knowledge of culture's achievements does not constitute culture any more than the ability to name 40 authors makes one a great writer.

The illiterate who can compose sweet music on a flute and carve graceful designs on wood has more true culture than any perfumer snob who has memorized the names of the world's artists and yet is incapable of producing anything himself.

Our true culture is not limited to the few. Nearly all can write; millions can make music; thousands can compose, paint, carve, build.

"The culture of Americans will be judged in the future by the works of the doers—not the chatter of those who sat on the sidelines.

Here we have the GIMMICK and the SHILL. In case that doesn't register we will flip the coin once more . . . . and then just to keep the record clear, we will state that the Gimmick is the "come-on" man, while the SHILL is the comrade who works in front of the cane rack or the dodger, wins all the prizes, and demonstrates to the public how easy it is to beat the game. Good Name Of Coast Guard Subject Of Heated Argument

Many Believe Traditions Of Life Saving Should Not Be Marred By Extensive Recruiting For Prohibition Duties

However partizan feeling on the subject of prohibition may affect those who comment upon the recent affair of the rum-runner Pawtucket, as good Americans most of them see fit to expatiate on the long and honorable record of the Coast Guard, once the Revenue Cutter service. Many flatly blame prohibition for a situation which made the deplorable event possible.

"After all the primary purpose and function of this Federal service," asserts the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, is to save lives and property on the seas and lakes—something that many persons, owing to the Guard's part in recent years in the spectacular enforcement of the Volstead act, are likely to forget. Their report gives adequate evidence that the Coast Guard lived up to the fine traditions of the service in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929. * * * If the prohibition act has required members of the service to do land duty that often has put the Guard in a bad light, the fault lies with the system that has added to their responsibilities a special duty that does not probably belong to the men who serve humanity well when lives hang in the balance."

The reply to critics made by Admiral Billard is quoted by the CHATTANOOGA NEWS. That official stated: "With a habit of mind developed by traditionst and an honorable history of 139 years, when assigned to any task to perform, whether or not it will be a popular or an agreeable or an easy one, the Coast Guard simply gives the sailorman's answer, 'Aye, aye, sir,' and carries on. In one year 26 officers and men of the Coast Gard were drowned while on this law-enforcement duty." The News adds: "The Coast Guard will have wider authority and territory. Mr. Hoover wants all anti-smuggling and border activities placed under control of the Guard. We believe the country indorses his recommendation.'

"Many members of the Coast Guard wear medals for bravery,' says the DANBURY EVENING NEWS. "Its devotion to its ideals is notable. Those who know its officers and men are the first to feel humiliated that, in this United States, there can be men so lost to honor, to decency and to patriotism as to attack members of that organization, and to mutilate and destroy its property. The Evening News recognizes the existence of "some unworthy men who, from time to time, get into either its enlisted or commissioned personnel. * * * But the Coast Guard is doing its best to purge itself of the undesirables," concludes that paper.

"Grave questions of the course of the Guardsmen in the recent shelling of a rum boat off the New England coast still remain unanswered," thinks the NEW ORLEANS TRIBUNE, while offering the comment: "After that bloody incident, several of these Guardmen are charged with an orgy of the spoil. Some over-enthusiastic mobbists then staged a new sort of tea party in Boston, during which they tore down all the Coast Guard recruiting posters in reach. Now comes a lone guard off the captured rum boat, at Pawtucket, evidently over-exhilarated by something stronger than tea, and runs amuck. Prohibition has cost both local police and Federal agencies great loss of respect in such episodes."

"Nobody will criticise the Coast Guard," according to the HARTFORD COURANT "for doing its stern duty. A part of its business, which has now become a large part, is to overhaul rum runners who know full well the danger that their course invites. It cannot, perhaps, be expected to observe the regulation layed down by the Prohibition Commissioner as to the use of firearms— that 'a weapon shall never be drawn on a person except in self-defense.' But when a Coast Guard boat is rapidly overhauling a rum runner and capture seems certain is it really necessary to turn a machine gun on her and kill three of the crew. Is that in accord with the best traditions of the Coast Guard?"

"Government authorities," states the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, "have been standing firm in their contention that the Coast Guard boat was within its rights in firing on the rum boat —and so far, so good. But there came the development that some of the crew of the Coast Guard, after 'shooting up' the boat, stole the liquors for which the rum runners had paid the penalty. The charge of theft of liquor was regarded as unbelievable and yet the court proceedings that followed carried conviction." The LOS ANGELES TIMES holds, as to the shooting, that "the Coast Guard talked the only language smugglers and pirates have ever understood," adding that the incident is "a somewhat dramatic answer to the Senate politicians who have been demanding what is being done about prohibition enforcement, but not expecting a reply."

"In consequence of this extra burden imposed upon the Coast Guard," remarks the SPRINGFIELD UNION, "it is possible that the morale of the personnel has suffered to a considerable extent, especially among the more recent recruits. * * * That the corrupting influences which seem to be a natural concomitant of prohibition enforcement should creep into and affect some portion of the Coast Guard is not in itself astonishing. The surprising thing would have been to see any division of the enforcement organization escape that blight."

"It cannot be questioned" concedes the SEATTLE TIMES, "that the Coast Guard has come upon evil days. The sudden expansion of personnel has made it necessary, or seemingly so, to accept such applications as may be made at recruiting offices. Lower-grade applicants press for admission. It is not the fault of the Guard as such, but of the country which imposes a distasteful task upon it, that better men do not offer themselves."

Agreeing that the Guard has "in the more than a century of its existence made a glorious record for itself," the WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE finds a "sad situation" in the apparent facts that "they are not so particular about recruits as they used to be," and that "they cannot be because they need more men and the supply is small comparatively."

PENNSYLVANIA'S CROPS.

The estimated value of all crops in the State of Pennsylvania for the 1929 season is $243,984,000, compared with $219,685,000 last year, according to a statement issued December 21, by the Federal State Crop Reporting Service.

The valuation of $211,464,000 is placed upon the major field and fruit crops, compared with $192,163,000 for the year 1928.

The showing was very creditable, considering the extremely adverse weather in many sections of the state, especially the wet Spring, prolonged Summer drought and frosts which extensively injured both fruit and corn crops.

They both bewail their sorry fate,

Their disappointment they rehearse;
For better or for worse, they'd vowed
They meant for better not for worse.

Hoover's Program Of Dry Enforcement To Face Tough Sledding

National Legislative Body Completes First Study Of Commission Report

Department Of Justice Proposal Likely To Be Passed Quickly

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—President Hoover's program for tightening up of prohibition enforcement faced rough sledding in Congress, it appeared today after leaders of the national legislative body had completed their first comprehensive study of the administration's proposed reforms.

Of all the corrective legislation requested by the executive and his law enforcement commission, the immediate outlook was that only the bill transferring the prohibition unit from the treasury to the department of justice would pass promptly. The rest of the suggested changes in the dry laws seemed doomed to the mire of prolonged, and bitterly partisan debate.

Drys Challenge

Two factors threatened prompt enactment of the Hoover prohibition reforms. First, a number of dry members of congress are challenging the constitutionality of his most important proposal—to give U. S. commissioners the powers of police magistrates. Second, the wet bloc is preparing for a stiff fight against certain other desired pieces of legislation, not so much to embarrass the president, but because of a determination to emphasize to the country at large that the laws the drys passed ten years ago, and hailed as certain to bring about national temperance, have failed.

There was a possibility that relatively speedy action might be had on the proposal to take "slight or casual" offenders outside the scope of the drastic Jones "five-and-ten" law, but even this was problematical. Senator Jones (R) of Washington, author of that act, has announced general agreement to the suggested modification, but this is one of the statutes the wet element has resented from the first.

Lack of Sympathy.

Even among those who have made public statements they will support the president's program there was some lack of sympathy for the 18th amendment. Rep. Graham (R) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house judiciary committee, for instance, pledged his support to Mr. Hoover, despite the fact he "does not believe in prohibition and believes it is morally wrong."

There was general agreement the bill introduced yesterday by Rep. Williamson (R) of South Dakota to transfer enforcement activities to the department of justice would pass without much difficulty.

The recommendation that court commissioners be empowered to try petty liquor violations—suggested as the prime means of relieving court congestion—appeared to be in for prolonged debate. In 1927 this was suggested to congress and committees of both houses passed it up as unconstitutional, agreeing that any such delegation of power would have to be accompanied by the setting up of supplemental courts.

Ready For Fight.

Ultra-drys are ready to fight for this reform, backing their arguments with the opinion of Attorney General Mitchell, which accompanied the law enforcement commission's report, that such a step was legal.

Anti-prohibitionists in congress are expected to fight the president's suggestions, chiefly to emphasize the fact that ten years of prohibition still result in a situation that needs enforcement more rigid than ever before was contemplated.

Their attitude was reflected by Senator Tydings (D) of Maryland, who said: "There will be considerable discussion of prohibition when the senate considers this remedial legislation. For instance, I have prepared a 'murder box score' detailing the number of persons slain in enforcing prohibition. There are other interesting statistics on drunkenness and correlative crimes that should be given to the public in connection with debate on this legislation. Some of the measures proposed should be considered carefully before being enacted into law."

Senator Copeland (D) of New York saw the whole maneuver as a beginning of modification. He personally sees no disposition to block the program and wants to give the drys all the money, men and laws they want "because in the end they will learn the law cannot be enforced and must be repealed or modified."

House Leaders Active.

In the house, a like movement was apparent. The wet block of the lower body at present is split on the question of leadership. Their executive committee is meeting again today to attempt to iron out the question. The race is between Rep. J. Charles Linthicum (D) of Maryland, leader for the past two years, and Rep. James M. Beck (R) of Pennsylvania. Regardless of the outcome, it was planned to call a meeting of the full wet membership on Monday to map out a policy for meeting the administration program.

Insofar as actual legislative consideration was concerned, two matters only were up today. On the floor of the house the treasury-postoffice appropriation bill was scheduled for consideration. This includes $15,000,000 straight for prohibition enforcement and additional amounts which might be applied in connection with the coast guard and customs. The judiciary committee planed to meet and map out a program. They probably will take up the question of modifying the Jones law and increasing the powers of court commissioners first. The proposal to unify the American border patrol also has been referred to the judiciary committee, but it may be turned over to the interstate commerce committee.

High Pressure Complex Is Menace Says Appel

"The term 'high pressure' is so commonly used these days that its real significance is oft' times unappreciated. One frequently hears of the high pressure salesman, of high pressure business and of our high pressure civilization. And in nine cases out of ten, if a person gives the matter any thought at all, he is inclined to be excusably prideful of the magnificent results along many lines that have been more or less due to this high pressure principle," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"And while there is no desire to minimize the value of highly concentrated and sustained effort and the outstanding achievements that have resulted therefrom, there is on the other hand such a thing as riding a good horse to death.

"There may be some excuse, and indeed in many instances a real necessity, to keep business in high gear by driving at top speed. But the point is that in this process machines rather than human flesh and blood are most likely to be called upon to bear the brunt of the strain. And if they crack, as all machines will, others can readily be substituted for them.

"Unfortunately, however, this high pressure idea has so gradually and fully invaded present-day life that many hundreds of thousands of Americans have developed a well defined and easily recognizable high pressure complex.

"Hence, we find the highways filled with automobile drivers who sit tensely at the wheel, with the foot on the gas and with the indicators way past the reasonable driving limit. Follow, accidents and a painfully increasing automobile mortality rate.

"Again, the art of eating has been reduced in countless instances to the unfortunate level of a quick luncheon or hurried meal to the end that valuable time may be saved (for an unascertained purpose) with consequent indigestion and kindred ailments.

"Also, many so styled recreations are so high pressured that loss of sleep and energy is an inevitable result. Indeed, individual habits have been so keyed up that many people rely on coffee, and other mild stimulants to keep them up to scratch, thus throwing moderation completely to the winds.

"What such persons forget is that human bodies, in themselves machines, have limits as well as have the mechanical types, but that unlike man-made ones, the replacement factor does not exist.

"It follows that the high pressure idea which causes the individual constantly to lose sleep, to keep his nerves forever on edge, to outrage his system with hurried meals and to use mild stimulants excessively is a most unwise, unhealthy and unsafe one.

"High pressure business if you will and must, but take the high pressure out of your living if happy, healthy and lengthy life is desired. Press down on high pressure by keeping it in its proper and logical place."

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHY DID BIFFER SHOOT?

"Hee, hee!" chuckled Biffer.

"Ha, ha!" snickered Mrs. Tumble-Bug.

"Ho, ho, ho!" shouted Peter, and the three friends laughed until the tears ran out of their eyes. Not one of them would have harmed a hair of another's head, and yet each, at first sight, had thought the other a foe, and fled or fired. Peter was the first to continue the conversation.

"Where is that ball you speak of, Mrs. Tumble-Bug? I should like to look at the thing I thought was going to put an end to me, and be sure it will not."

"There it is, along side of you!" declared Mrs. Tumble-Bug.

And there it was, sure enough, as round and as smooth as a ball could well be. Peter stepped up to examine it.

"How did you ever manage to mold it as large as it is? How long did it take you to make it? What are you going to do with it now? Leave it in the meadow?"

Mrs. Tumble-Bug did not answer at once. Instead, the little lady who so loved to hear her own voice was silent. She was staring at Biffer.

"Say, young Gun-Beetle," said she at last, "why did you fire a second time? Did my ears deceive me, or did I hear shots after I had left you?"

"HOW DID YOU EVER MANAGE TO MOLD IT AS LARGE AS IT IS?" ASKED PETER.

"Uh huh, you did!" Biffer glanced quickly about him. "I almost forgot until you mentioned it, but just as you and I reached the top of the hill with your old mud ball I happened to look over my shoulder and I saw two strangers racing toward us. They were coming so fast I was sure they would mean us no good, so I tried to stop them. Guess my shots must have scared them off. There's certainly no sign of them hereabouts, is there?"

KONJOLA ENDS RHEUMATISM AND OTHER AILMENTS

Lady Glad To Relate Fine Experience With New And Different Medicine.

MRS. ELMER H. BORD

"I suffered with rheumatism and stomach trouble for ten years", said Mrs. Elmer H. Bord, 309 North Twelfth street, Lebanon, Pa. "The pain in my arms, hands and lower limbs was frightful. No medicine I tried helped me. My heart had become affected from gas pressure in my stomach after meals and I often suffered from smothering spells and shortness of breath. Sleep was out of the question and I frequently sat up for the entire night.

"What a joyous surprise awaited me when I took the advice of a friend and began using Konjola! Three bottles restored my stomach to a healthy state and my appetite was excellent. Gone are the awful pains in my arms, hands and limbs. Headaches and dizzy spells never occur now and I am taking on weight. Rheumatism is banished after ten years of agony. I shall never be without the medicine which has done all this for me."

Konjola is sold in New Castle at Love & Megown drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Gladys Glad, prettiest girl in the Follies, was married to a tabloid columnist advertised by his newspaper as "The Modern O. Henry," but better known to The Pew Holders as "The Laura Jean Libby of Broadway." Gladys appeared at an opening night recently wearing a pair of rubber-tired spectacles. The report is that Gladys is goin' lit-ry.

"OPPORTUNITY" MISSED?

Speaking of the Big Adjective Adventure brings to mind the fact that Chic Sales, whose back yard epic, "The Specialist", netted him a young fortune, is going to push his luck with a companion piece entitled: "And I'll Tell You Why."

It may not be generally known that Chic's all-pervading humor is confined, so far as he is concerned, to oral expression. He can't write a word. He originates the stuff and someone puts it on paper for him.

He used "The Specialist" for years as a dessertation before men's clubs. An Inky Boy suggested that it be transferred to paper, between covers. Chic shrugged. He didn't think much of the idea and casually referred the matter to a well known literary friend of his.

"Don't lend your name to a thing like that in print," advised the Professional Pen Pusher. "You've chalked up a reputation in the public mind for clean humor and any such soiled subject as that will kill you dead."

"Well, I was told I could clean up a fortune in it," said Chic, "and I was going to ask you to write it for me, you taking 70 cents on every dollar and giving me 30."

But his friend said no, and let the matter drop.

I was talking to The Friend the other day.

"And to think," he said, "that I was such a dumbbell as to pass up an opportunity like that. It was just as well, though. If I'd written it for Chic I would have left out most of the stuff that made the little book a success."

RUDY

Rudy Vallee, King of Croon, is now eating yeast cakes for publication. The next time you hear him Moanin' Low on the radio about how he loves his honey, master your emotion by recalling that he ain't yodeling for you, he's a-yodelin' fer yeast.

In his latest yeast-ad in the newspapers he pleads guilty to the motto: "Put yourself across."

Which isn't so dad burned difficult in this day when mediocrity is glorified and superficiality is accorded a market value.

THAT SO?

Davie Freedman who achieved fame by ghost-writing Eddie Cantor's biography, later stepped out on his own and scribbled a play called "Mendel Inc.," now holding forth at The Ritz. He confesses that while writing it he harkened to the advice of a friend who thus counselled him:

"There's only one sure-fire formula in playwriting: If it's comedy, make it sex and likker. If it's drama, make it sex and murder."

IRENE

Irene Franklin and Frank Craven are writing a musical comedy, "The Belle of Times Square," in which they're to make a joint appearance next season.

The Pastor is for it, without knowing anything about it, other than the fact that Irene Franklin's name is attached to it. If they were all like Irene there wouldn't be any what's-the-matter-with-the-theater problem.

THE TROUBLE EXPLAINED

Certain tenor and baritone voices are over-powering to women, according to Old Doc Viovenal, scientist, who sticks his head out of the laboratory long enough to tell the world that romantic love is a disease.

"Many men," he says, "go through life convinced that telephone operators are extra stupid when the truth is these men's Don Juan voices so addle the poor telephone girls' brains that they can't possibly get a number right."

So that's what it is!

News Gives Early Report On Capture

Satisfaction at being able to give the public news when it is news, is one of the recompenses in newspaper life. The ability to get a story when it breaks and give it to the readers a few short minutes after it breaks is a feat that every newspaper finds satisfaction in doing.

The News feels that in its extra edition of Tuesday evening it accomplished this, for twenty minutes after Irene Schroeder and her two companions had been lodged in the county jail in Phoenix, Arizona, The News had an extra on the street announcing it.

Speedy 'Phone Service.

In order to do this it was necessary to call Phoenix, Arizona, by telephone. Less than ten minutes after the call was put in, the local Bell operator had a connection through to Phoenix, but a busy line in that office prevented conversation then. A few minutes later the sheriff's 'phone there was cleared and The News talked to Deputy Sheriff Dobinsky.

At that time the prisoners had just been brought in and the only statement made by the woman was an admission that she was Irene Schroeder, according to Dobinsky.

The News did not get an extra out when rumors were floating about concerning the whereabouts of the trio, nor did it bring out an extra when a gun battle was in progress in the Arizona hills. When the story "broke" The News did get an extra to its readers in record time, announcing the fact that the bandits wanted here had been captured.

Salesmen Make Pottery Visit

Twenty Two From Chicago See Shenango Pottery On Tuesday

Between the manufacture of china ware and the sale of it there is sometimes a gap, for after all salesmen are more interested in getting orders than they are in knowing the intricacies of the manufacture.

The gap, if there ever was one, was bridge for the salesmen of the Stearnes company of Chicago on Tuesday, January 14, when twenty two of them, all of them salesmen of Shenango Pottery china came to New Castle as the guests of the pottery here and enjoyed an inspection tour of the plant, and a dinner in the evening at The Castleton hotel.

Arriving in New Castle in a special car over the Pennsylvania railroad, the men were taken to the plant and most of the morning and the afternoon spent in the plant. Each step of the manufacture of china ware was explained and the men seemed interested in the new tunnel kilns which are now in production. Lunch was served them in the dining room of the plant.

In the evening a dinner was tendered them in The Castleton which ended in time for them to get their train at 9:20. From the comment of the salesmen their trip here was one worthwhile for too many of them it was the first time they had seen china ware being manufactured. The Stearnes company is a large jobbing company in Chicago and handles much of the local plant's product.

The men present were: N. C. Fink, W. L. Carey, O. H. Toale, Blaine J. Berbach, Joseph Kolber, Alfred J. Cagney, Arthur P. Fehlhaber, F. A. Nelson, Homer H. Blair, Thomas F. Quigley, Thomas J. Gallagher, William G. Lettow, William Wong, Al Siegel, all of Chicago, Ill.

Large Gathering Hears Noted Cleveland Woman Speak Tuesday

In the lecture room of Temple Israel last night, an audience which filled the place, heard Mrs. Dorothy Fuldheim of Cleveland, who broadcasts every Thursday afternoon from WTAM Cleveland deliver her famous lecture on "Henry the Eighth."

Mrs. Fuldheim has a wonderful flow of language, a personality that reaches every member of her audience and a knowledge of her subject, that makes her lectures intensely attractive to all those so fortunate as to hear her.

In her discourse on "Henry the Eighth" she brought out the pathos, and the humor of the conditions and situations of the time of that famous English Monarch in a manner that was delightful and her comparisons with present day situations of like nature were most realistic. She will speak next month in the same place on Lafayette.

Rev. Tyrell Speaks At Salvation Hall

Rev. W. C. Tyrell pastor of the Maitland Memorial church was the speaker last evening at the service held in the Salvation Army hall 26 East street. He was greeted by a good audience and his remarks were a continuation of his last Sunday's sermon an "After Death, What?"

He brought home to his listeners an unusual idea of what the future has in store for the good and for the bad. Mr. and Mrs. L. Furree sang a duet and Ensign V. Thomsen led the singing. This afternoon Mrs. Hettenbaugh a missionary from the Kentucky mountains spoke to a gathering of young people in the hall.

Thursday will be Cradle Roll night and Rev. F. Tyler of the Wesleyan Methodist church will be the speaker.

George Washington High Musicians In Concert

Several hundred men, women, and children, were in the audience last night in the auditorium of the George Washington junior high school for the first annual joint concert of the school's orchestra, chorus, and band, given under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Owen and John E. Paton, vocal and instrumental instructors of the school.

Last night was the first time the George Washington musicians have appeared in public concert, but it will not be the last if those who were present Tuesday evening can bring any pressure to bear and diplomatically demand another, perhaps not for some time. The rendition of the musical numbers last night delighted the throng of parents and others, and the comical play of the Latin students greatly added to the enjoyment.

Outstanding last evening were the double sextet of girls who sang the "Ojibway Lullaby" and the quartet of trombone players, Chester Biven, Robert Otto, James Waldo and Richard DeLillo, who rendered selected numbers.

Numbers sung by the chorus also delighted the audience as did the trumpet solo numbers played by Richard Rentz. He played the "Overture, Royal Emblem" and drew a large applause. As principal violinist in the orchestra, Michael Gennaula also played an important role although he played no solo numbers. The seventh grade chorus led by Miss Owens was also an outstanding group.

The entire program and the cast in the different groups, as well as the Latin club players, are listed as follows:

PERTINENT TOPICS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Responses already received from members of the Chamber of Commerce for the dinner meeting to be held at The Castleton at 6 p. m. on Thursday, January 23, indicating that the attendance at this meeting will be exceptionally good.

Yacoll, manager of the industrial development department of the P. & O. system, will discuss the efforts that are being made to secure new industries for New Castle.

The fact that Hon. David A. Reed and Hon. Joseph R. Grundy, the two U. S. senators from the state of Pennsylvania, and Hon. J. Howard Swick, representative in congress from the 26th Pennsylvania district, and Hon. John G. Cooper, representative in congress from the 19th Ohio district, have all approved and committed themselves to the support of the project to slackwater the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers, has created very optimistic attitude on the part of the citizens of this district.

Hon. Joseph R. Grundy has stated that he is entirely in favor of the development of these waterways. Senators Reed and Swick have presented bills in the U. S. senate and house of representatives requesting that a tentative examination and preliminary survey be made of this project.

As improved waterways and industrial development means the economic life of this community this meeting treating these two subjects should be exceptionally well attended and from the responses received thus far, a very large number are expected to be present. It is urged that reservation cards inclosed with the invitations sent out be returned to the Chamber of Commerce office immediately in order that necessary arrangements may be made.

Legion Post To Hold Drive For More Members

Two-Day Campaign Will Be Staged On January 27 And 28 By Teams

LOOK FORWARD TO SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Perry S. Gaston Post, 343 American Legion, is looking forward to its most successful year following the announcement made last evening by Assistant Chairman Harry M. Long of a contemplated two-day drive for members which will be held January 27 and 28.

Commander H. H. Rosenthal stated last evening that the membership of the post was now 302, while a year ago at this time, but 67 members had been enrolled. Last year a two-day drive was staged which brought the membership close to the 400 mark.

According to plans team captains and members will partake of a sauerkraut supper on the evening of January 27 after which they will set forth in quest of new members for the post. A prospect list of around 1,000 names has been secured of men who were formerly in the service.

Name Welfare Officer.

Last night's meeting was one of the best held in some time, close to 10 being present. The meeting was followed by an open house celebration.

Announcement was made during the course of the meeting of the appointment of Mrs. S. H. Rhoads as Post Child Welfare Officer. Mrs. Rhoads will enter upon her duties at once.

District Deputy Commander Iver V. Davis stated that Norman P. Nelson had been named county athletic officer and with Nicholas Cassilo, Post athletic officer will immediately begin making plans for the amateur baseball tournament which will be held in the county during the coming summer. This activity was started too late by the post last year but plans are being made to have it be one of the big activities of the Legion during the coming summer.

Announcement that Harry M. Long had been named chairman of the National Commander's banquet was also anounced and plans for another big celebration here are being worked out by the committee. It is hoped to have National Commander Bodamer here some time in February when other posts of the district will cooperate in putting across this event, which has been a big feature of the Legion's activities during the past few years here.

Greetings were received and read from Pat J. Dempsey former Laiason officer of the post who is now located at Helena, Mont., as Laiason officer of the American Red Cross.

One of the features of last night's meeting was the presence of a big delegation of Legionaires and veterans from Bessemer who attended the meeting in a body.

A surprise feature was the awarding of eight beautiful neckties as door prizes to those present.

Y. M. C. A. Board Acknowledges Gift

Formally Thank Fred L. Rentz For Gift Of Permanent Camp Location

Acknowledging his gift of a permanent summer camp site to the local Young Men's Christian Association, members of the board of directors of the institution yesterday, today sent to Fred L. Rentz, president of The News, the following letter of appreciation. A copy will be spread upon the minutes of the local Association.

The letter:

New Castle, Pa.
Jan. 14, 1930.

The Hon. Fred L. Rentz,
Dear Friend:

Acknowledging your gift of twenty-six acres for a permanent Young Men's Christian Association camp for boys, permit us to say that we are sure you have again set an excellent example for others.

For years the Young Men's Christian Association has been in need of just such a substantial gift whereby we may be able to more fully develop the Triangle of Mind, Body and Spirit.

This institution dedicated and devoted to the building of character and the making of better citizens would naturally appeal to so public spirited a citizen as you have so often shown yourself to be.

The magnificent gift could only be conceived by one whose wide sympathies are tuned to the needs of humanity, and we sincerely hope and trust that the affairs centering around this camp shall always be so conducted that you will never have cause to regret your generous action.

The rewards of public benefactors like yourself are not restricted to those of a terrestrial nature but are much more permanent; and wise indeed is he who realizes this for as some one has well said, relative to our ability to take anything with us, "For all that you hold in your cold gray hands is what you have given away."

We personally thank you and we thank you especally as members of the Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of New Castle, Pa., and remain,

Yours very sincerely.

This colyum is getting away to a late start today. Gun battles in Arizona hills, blonde bandits, and all that sort of thing kept a lot of us up last night and out early this morning. That's the trouble with blondes, they do keep you up late. Merely hearsay information of course.

Had an interesting piece of roaming Tuesday afternoon and evening. The Shenango Pottery had as its guests about 22 salesmen from Chicago, Ill., and the men inspected the plant. Also ate. Oh my yes. And how. And the looking and eating took most of the afternoon and evening, but was worth all of it.

The Shenango Pottery is like a pumpkin vine in at least one respect. Every time you look at it, it seems to have grown a lot more. The plant is scattered over an area now that looks like about the size of a brigade parade grouids, and keeps getting larger.

There is some new ware being made over there now that catches the eye. A sort of stipled effect in greens and grays and goldens, and, customers if your wives ever see some of that china, get ready for a raid on the bankroll. Tricky no end, attractive, and inviting.

They have an artist named De Land over there who works out color schemes and fancy designs and after looking at some of his work, and the quality of the ware on which his work is placed, you have the answer as to why Shenango china is seen in the better hotels, on dining cars, in homes and on warships.

The new tunnel kilns are now turning out ware with a better gloss than has ever been turned out before and you have some idea of what Dante meant in his work on Inferno when you get a look at the interior of the kilns.

For a number of years I have had the habit of turning over plates, cups, saucers and the like in hotels around the country. Some of the nearby guests may have thought that I was slightly balmy in the bean, but the answer was that I was looking for the Shenango Indian on the bottom.

And found it in a lot of cases, thank you kindly.

Wandered down to the P-O oratorical contest last night to hear the lads and lassie (just one lassie) orate. From the quality of the speaking, you can expect a vest pocket edition of Demosthenes running the street cars in the future, and the man who inspects your electric meter will throw in Hamlet's Soliloquy on a moment's notice.

You will probably be expected to pay your electric light bill by tossing it through the cashier's window and bellowing in a deep basso voice, "here are them papers Jack Dalton." And as for the salesmen of the electric gadgets, they will probably have to memorize Burke's Conciliation before the can start work.

Another subpoena b'gosh. Got a letter this morning as legal looking as a title, with the word "Subpeona" on the back of it as large as a water bucket. Visions of spending a week around a court room, or getting called as a witness and things of that nature. Fooled me, it was a subpoena all right, but it was a subpoena issued by the Commonwealth of Good Fellowship for the annual session of fun of the Tigers club. President Judge J. V. Ballano had a real idea when he mailed those subpoenas and I reckon he can count on me for the jury or the witness stand or the dinner table.

Heard a wise one in the Castleton Hotel last night at dinner. A guest wanted a half a cup of coffee. His friend said to the waitress "half and half will be all right." Righ back at him the waitress, "sure, I know, half in the cup and half in the saucer."

Refining Company Suit Is On Trial

Case of the Sinclair Refining company against D. Floyd Atwell and Robert M. Gowell, trading as Atwell and Gowell, was taken up for trial before Judge Hildebrand this morning. The case is one in which the Sinclair company is suing for a balance of $541.54, alleged to be due on a bill for gasoline and oils.

People may knock Senator Grundy, but nobody intimates that he won't be loyal to his trust.

Passenger Transport Industry Suffering For Lack Of Patrons

Air Passenger Transport Companies For 1929 Show Huge Deficits Is Related

American Public Unlike Europeans Have Not Yet Accustomed Themselves To Air

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 15—The very life of the air passenger transport industry today is in the balance, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown told the chamber of commerce here.

With a paying load of only 16 to 40 per cent of capacity, all closed the year with operating deficits of heavy proportions, he said.

"Many reasons may be assigned for this unhappy condition, which threatens with disaster our high hopes for commercial aviation," Brown said. "My own belief is that the men who were most ambitious for the industry and who, with infinite pains, planned the longer passenger routes, perhaps forgot their own first experience in the air.

"The American public was provided with facilities for flying from coast to coast before any considerable number of people had made sight-seeing flight over their native towns. It is significant that the only air passenger carriers who have apparently been able to make a profit are the ones who have been carrying passengers on short flights of from 10 to 30 minutes.

Can They Hold Out

"When our people have made a few practice flights, whe they have passed the toddling stage in the air, I believe they will be ready for their air marathons. But can the air passenger carriers hold out until that day comes?

"The over-production of airplanes by the aviation industry will of course correct itself. The situation, however, in which the air transport industry finds itself may properly occasion the deepest public concern. If that industry should collapse because of lack of public support for the passenger lines, the millions which the government has contributed to encourage commercial aviation, as well as a large part of the public's investment in the aviation industry, will be lost.

Congress Can Aid

"If congress, which has always been ready to aid aviation, will give to the post office department the authority, and if we have the unreserved cooperation of the air transport industry, we believe a solution is at hand. In our judgment the method of determining the compensation of air mail contractors must be revolutionized. The system of paying by pound regardless of distance traveled is manifestly unsound. Such a system compels the contractor to gamble on the volume of mail he will carry and creates an inducement for him to swell his volume by unethical practices."

Brown said the department was urging that congress authorize the postmaster general to contract for the transport of mail by aircraft between such points as he may designate at fixed rates not to exceed $1 per mile for 1,500 pounds of mail capacity. Under such an authorization a schedule of compensation could be set up providing for the payment of 30 cents per mile for a weight space of 100 pounds, with increased compensation per mile for increasing weight spaces, until the maximum of $1 per mile for 1,500 pounds is reached.

Negro Cadet Is Given Discharge From West Point

(International News Service)
WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Alonzo Parham, negro cadet, was honorably discharged Tuesday from the United States military academy with 64 other cadets for failure to maintain high academic standards. Parham was appointed last June to the academy by Congressman De Priest, of Chicago.

The 65 cadets who "flunked out" were part of 137 students at the academy who were re-examined following conditions in subjects registered from the December examination.

The last examination papers were returned from the War department where they had been finally passed upon. Previously, the papers had been passed upon and marked by the instructors, the class committee and the academic board of which Major William R. Smith, superintendent of the academy, is a member.

Hoover Asks For Three Million As Hurricane Relief

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—President Hoover sent a special message to Congress Tuesday asking that $3,000,000 additional to the $6,000,000 already appropriated, be provided for hurricane relief in Porto Rico.

The president based his request on a report of his commission delegated to investigate conditions on the island, and asked that $1,000,000 be granted as loans to planters, and the remaining $2,000,000 to be used in rebuilding houses, schools and roads.

"Porto Rico is still suffering from the effects of the disastrous hurricane of Sept. 13, 1928," Mr. Hoover's message said. "There is existing a real immediate need for appropriating these funds in order to alleviate the distress due to the unemployment on the island and to enable the commission to continue its farm rehabilitation."

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Girls with a fat neck, a fat back, puffed out cheeks, heavy arms and limbs, stuffing herself with ice cream and creamed potatoes for luncheon. And then they shoot people for such minor offenses!

Sales women trotting out Flapper thirty-fours and thirty-sixex and trying to squeeze you into them saying: "Oh, my deah, you MUST reduce. You can't afford to look like that way. It's dreadful. There aren't any fat women any more and no one has hips." And you gaze at a lot of fluffy pink and lace things with longing eyes, and can't get them half way round you. So out you go to get reduced and then you hold your head up again, among your fellow men.

Any woman can reduce. I know a girl who rolls on the floor, from one side to the other, eats fruit, and does a dozen exercises, and she's a sylph. She will go to your home for dinner and like as not lie down on the rug and begin rolling without giving any explanation. It's a habit, that's all, and she gets results.

Now that skirts are long, the girls are trailing them on the floors, little lacey tails and frills dragging here and there to be caught in French heels. There are clouds of little whispy things to be swept out after each dance.

Models strutting about in fashionable New York establishments, showing you the gowns you'd like to wear if you had their figure. But my dear—if you have the nerve slap one of them on the hip sometime, and you will break your fingers. They are tightly corseted in rubber and besides, have three inch bands crossed over the hips to draw them in even tighter. And they assume the expression of a girl with a secret love affair. It looks interesting, but its a pain in the hips—really.

When big women go in to buy "little frocks" for themselves, the saleswomen invariably call the dresses "precoius". I don't know why.

SLAYING SPECTER ALWAYS BEFORE HER

By JAMES ADAM
International News Service Special Correspondent

MONROVIA, Cal., Jan. 15.— The Memory of the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery today continues to haunt Mabel Normand as she battles for her life within a sanitorium in a picturesque wooded canyon of this little Southern California town.

With the Taylor case resurrected and her name once again thrust into the spotlight, the once foremost comedienne of the screen, however, is far too ill, according to her physician, to be disturbed by questioning.

Has No Visitors

"The shock of such a thing might result fatally, and we cannot afford to take any chances," explained the doctor, Francis M. Pottenger.

In fact, no visitors are allowed to see her at all with the exception of her husband, Lew Cody, film actor, whom she married three and a half years ago after a romantic midnight elopement.

By a queer twist of fate, Miss Normand was the last person known to have seen and talked to Taylor before he was shot to death in his bungalow court apartment in Los Angeles nearly eight years ago.

Ever since that time she has been pursued by the specter of the tragedy which dimmed her screen career apparently forever.

No longer is she the piquant and vivacious Mabel of old but a frail young woman whose entire life now is hemmed in by the bare walls of her room in the sanatorium.

Was Returning Book

It was to return a book she had borrowed that the actress went to Taylor's home and saw him for the last time in life.

"Miss Normand told all she knew of the Taylor case at the time it first was investigated,' said her secretary, Mrs. Julia Benson, who is her companion. "She has told that story time and time again and has nothing new to relate now."

The fact that the mystery is again filling the pages of the newspapers has been kept from the patient, the secretary added.

The actress is waging her fight for life against the ravages of the white plague. Both her lungs are affected and she has been virtually bed-ridden for months.

"She is very ill," Dr. Pottenger said. "We can't say she is gaining any but she has made a wonderful fight—the most wonderful of any patient I ever had."

Contracted Cold

She was first stricken ill about three years ago with pneumonia but recovered. Then a year ago she went to a card party given by Mrs. Roscoe Arbuckle.

There she contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia and tuberculosis. For months she was confined in her home at Beverly Hills near Hollywood, but finally was prevailed upon to go to the sanatorium last September.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace John A. Tomlinson.

Yeager is also a resident of Ambridge, and is employed by the borough.

Coal Fumes Nearly Kill Five Persons

STEUBENVILLE, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, 37, Clarksburg, Pa., and her sister, Mrs. Agnes Mills, 39, at whose home she was visiting, are in a critical condition in the Ohio Valley hospital, the result of near-asphyxiation by monoxide fumes from a coal stove.

The women and three small children beloning to Mrs. Mills were carried out of the house unconscious. Their condition was discovered by John Mills, 14. The children revived quickly at the hospital.

VOLANT

Mrs. W. E. Ligo has received word of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. F. Semple of Pittsburgh, Pa. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 11 a. m. from the West Middlesex Presbyterian church.

Bombing Suspect At Mercer Freed

Insufficient Evidence Found To Hold Man In Bombing Of McKay Home

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 15.—James Denato, held for the bombing of the home of District Attorney Leo McKay, will not be tried at the January term, is the announcement of Mr. McKay today. Denato was released from jail recently on his own recognizance. Not sufficient evidence to sustain the charge is the reason assigned by Mr. McKay for taking the case off the court calendar.

The official refuses to discuss the situation further than that Denato will not be tried at this term. The case against him will be nolle prossed. The removal of this case leaves but one feature hearing for the term, the homicide action in which Frank Pantelo is charged with the murder of Bruno Cangenni.

FINAL DATE NEARS

Prothonotary Daisy T. Morse reports February 4 as the final day on which her office may accept such petitions. Posted for hearing to date are 37 applicants. The number is the smallest total of years.

The increased price set by the federal government along with the industrial depression which it is reported is affecting the earning power of many of the applicants is the cause of the reduction.

PANTELO GETS COUNSEL

An attorney will be appointed for Frank Pantelo of No. 5 mine this week. Judge J. A. McLaughry will make appointment immediately on petition of the proper officers. Pantelo will be tried at this court, District Attorney Leo McKay stated today.

Proper time in which to prepare his case will be extended.

TO ATTEND SHOW

Members of the county agricultural society desiring to attend the state products show at Harrisburg on January 21, 22, 23 and 24 may secure certificates at the office of the farm bureau here entitling them to a reduced fare. The tickets allow departure as early as the 17th and return as late as the 26th.

It is not expected from reports here that many county men will attend this show.

SUIT IS FILED

Suit was filed here Monday by Bertha and I. Nathan of Farrell against A. Payne of Sharon. The bill asks damages of $5,000 for the woman and $1500 for the man who are husband and wife and well known Farrell residents.

The bill makes claim that on November 25, 1928, both were members of a funeral party at the Jewish cemetery in Farrell and that the defendant invited Mrs. Bertha Nathan to ride to her home in his car, which the woman claims was wrecked due to careless driving and that as a result she has been injured since.

MORE GET TAGS

The number has already reached 3,000. There were 9,000 dogs licensed in this county in 1929. The number is yet far short of what it should be at this time of the year.

HELD AS BURGLAR

Harry Klingensmith, 25, of West Middlesex is in the jail here charged with forcible entry of the home of John Gundy of that town Sunday evening.

Klingensmith has confessed to the burglary. He stole a quantity of canned fruit. Klingensmith has been arrested before, police say. They also connect with him Bruce Gruver, James Peters and James Latchford of that community who are being investigated.

JAIL LIST SWELLED

With Christmas over, attendance at the county jail is on the increase. The record today totals 103 with 24 women listed.

If the wolf came to the door now, nobody would weep. He'd bring $300 as an imported police dog.

Auto Licenses Have Enriched State Treasury

Nearly $350,000,000 Has Been Paid In Since 1906 By Auto Owners

REGISTRATION AND GAS TAX ADDS MUCH

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Motorists in Pennsylvania have paid into the state treasury nearly $350,000,000 since the Commonwealth first begun licensing motor vehicles in 1906. That huge sum includes the income from the gasoline tax which was first imposed on September 1, 1921 at the rate of one cent a gallon.

The coffers of the highway department have been steadily enriched through the increases of receipts from registration fees and the gasoline tax. In the last five years' the revenue alone from registrations has jumped more than $9,100,000.

The total income from motor vehicles registrations in 1930 will show a much larger gain than other years. The last legislature doubled the license fee for drivers and also made increases in truck and omnibus fees. Those increases are expected to produce approximately $4,500,000 additional in a year.

Gas Tax Heavy

Gasoline tax collections from the time the levy was first imposed on September 1, 1921 until January 1, 1930 amounted to $107,801,017.52. Since the four cent tax became effective on July 1 of last year the collections totaled $20,466,437.

In the first full fiscal year after the gas tax became effective which ended May 31, 1923 the total collections were $2,397,540. For the fiscal year that closed the end of last May the income from that same course had jumped to $24,014,739. Since June 1, 1928 motorists have paid into the state treasury more than $44,480,000 in gas taxes.

Total receipts in 1906, the first year that automobiles were registered, yielded $42,460 in license fees. That source of revenue has shown remarkable increases in the last twenty odd years until it reached the high figure of $29,160,690 for 1929.

The first year that receipts topped the million dollar mark was in 1914 when the amount was $1,185,038. License fees during the last twelve months amounted to more than the entire amount paid in the first fifteen years that the state has been collecting this class of revenue.

Corporal Louden Home On Furlough

Re-Enlists In Air Service In Which He Has Made Considerable Progress

Corporal George Louden, who has been in the air service of the United States Army for the past three years at Langley Field, Virginia, is home on a furlough, which he is spending with his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Louden, of Lathrop street.

This is his first visit home in three years. He is very much enthused with the air service and has re-enlisted for another period of three years. He will return to the service February 1.

He can fly an airplane but has not yet flown his own ship, because of the fact that he must be licensed to do so. He expects to be licensed in a short time after his return to the service. The securing of a license to fly airplanes practically means a commission as an officer of higher rank, which will follow his being licensed.

Corporal Louden will be remembered as the young man, who jumped from an airplane at Langley Field many months ago, just for the experience of falling and floating to the earth with a parachute and whose vivid experience of the incident was sent to and printed in The News.

Lost Heel Is Clue To Suspected Burglars

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 15.—A rubber heel, lost by one of four men who robbed a West Middlesex residence, today resulted in apprehension of the suspected burglars.

Following discovery of the heel in the home of J. W. Gundy, where loot valued at several hundred dollars, mostly jewelry, was obtained, officers visited shoe repair shops in West Middlesex and discovered that Harry Clingensmith had left a pair of shoes to be repaired, one with the heel missing. County Detective Sam Leyshock today said Clingensmith admitted the robbery and implicated James Peters, James Latchford and Bruce Gruver, all of the West Middlesex district.

The four were held for court without bail, charged with robbery. The robbery occurred Sunday night.

Teach Business Men How To Write

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Recognizing that business research is valueless unless the facts uncovered in the research are conveeyed to active business leaders in their own language, scientists at Mellon Institute here are being taught, among other things, how to write business letters.

"The institute is giving more and more attention," according to Drs. William A. Hamor and Lawrence W. Bass of the executive staff, "to the important branch of industrial research that treats of the personal and official duties of the research staff, in distinction from the better developed subject of systematic research."

"This branch has a valuable place in training young men for industrial and public service, principally because it imparts a large amount of useful information, largely gleaned from the experience of the institute's executive staff, that is not acquired in scientific courses in the universities.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Give Child His Choice, Respect It

You ask a child of eight if he would like to bring you a glass of water. Suppose he frankly answers "No." What do you do? A thousand chances to one you are angered by his venturous decision and you immediately tell him that he must.

You asked him a civil question. He made a civil answer. He was called upon to make a choice. He made it. If you did not wish to let him choose why did you ask him to do so? If you were going to command him anyway why did you not do so in the first place? Why were you such a bully as to tease him to choose, only to have his choice nullified?

Once you give a child an opportunity to choose be ready to respect his choice. Don't proceed to make a fool of him and of yourself. Treat his choices as if they were choices of an adult. Imagine yourself asking an adult friend if he would give you a drink of water and then attempting to compel him to accede after he had chosen not to do so.

Suppose you had respected the decision of the child when he chose not to bring you the glass of water. Suppose you had possessed poise and self-control enough to have gone quietly and got the glass of water yourself, showing absolutely no irritation treating the child as if nothing at all wrong had happened. The effect would have been excellent. The child would have respected you, would have considered you a real fellow, a good sport. Next time you made a similar request he would undoubtedly have gone at once.

If you don't believe it would work, try it. I have tried it with my children. They like it. The scheme puts me in well with them. They practically always are willing to do anything their mother or I ask them. Of course we try to be reasonable and never to show any annoyance when they choose against us. One can use discretion, to be sure, so as to know pretty well when "liberties are safe." It is foolish to make frequent requests one knows will not be acceded to, or commands one is sure will not be obeyed. It pays to work on preparation for co-operation, preparation for obedience, before one makes requests or pronounces a command.

I think you will agree with me that as our children grow into and beyond adolescence commands become increasingly unnecessary and that reasonable requests made by parents whom the child respects are practically always honored.

One thing is certain, it is hazardous to shift from requests to commands; for then all requests come to be considered as commands and co-operation is impossible.

Let us learn to treat our children very early as if they were grown up. When we ask them to make a decision let us honor it even when it is made contrary to our wishes. Nothing pleases us more than to be considered as old mentally as we think we are; nothing so annoys us as to be treated as if we had childish minds. So with our children. They warm up to us when we act toward them as if they had the brains they were born with. And in proportion to their genuine esteem for us are they likely to act. If they really care for us parents, and if we can live a pretty good life, they are pretty sure to do so, too.

Husband To Face Charge Of Murder

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Jan. 15.—Charges of murder will probably be made against Harry Foltz, whose wife, Masie Foltz, 32, died at the Rochester hospital from bullet wounds inflicted by her husband 16 weeks ago, police say.

Foltz, a prisoner in the county jail, was indicted on charges of felonious shooting with intent to kill and assault and battery with a deadly weapon, last December.

In a jealous rage, police say, Foltz entered a department store in Aliquippa, where his estranged wife was employed, shot her through the back as she tried to flee and then turned the gun on himself. He recovered sufficiently to be removed to the jail. With a bullet wound in the spine, Mrs. Foltz lingered between life and death.

Johnny Bowen Is Seriously Injured

Former Well Known Resident And Boxer Injured In Auto Crash

Johnny Bowen of Washington, D. C. former resident of this city and well known in boxing circles, because of his ability in the ring, is in a critical condition and not expected to live as a result of an automobile crash in which he participated at Daytona Beach, Florida, according to a message just received by Officer Carl Lockard of the city police force. This will be learned with deep regret by many friends in this district.

Johnny Bowen was one of the better known members of his family in the boxing game and has been going good in recent years. He is not the only fighting member of his family, his other brothers Eddie, Ray, George and Bill Bowen having been seen in the ring on numerous occasions and all proving good battlers.

While there is said to be little hope for his recovery, his friends here are hoping for the best.

Marked Difference Between "Old Eagle", First Fire Truck And Modern Giant Engines Of Today

"Wouldn't you just love to see the blank looks on the faces and the jaws drop in amazement of New Castle residents 50 or 60 years ago, if they could see that fire engine? Man, oh, man! They wouldn't believe their own eyes, I bet."

And it occurs to the writer that that remark just about hits the nail on the head. What a whale of a difference just a few years do make. From the Bucket Brigade to the latest modern fire fighting equipment certainly shows the rapid progress in the local fire department.

The first fire engine came to the city in 1848, 82 years ago. Of course, they called it a fire engine. But we wouldn't. It probably wouldn't be recognized as a machine to aid in putting out fires. More likely we would think it a flivver belonging to a college boy.

It was a small engine operated by two cranks, one on each side of a wheel. In those days it was a marvel and was called the "Old Eagle." Everyone was as proud of "Old Eagle" as the citizens of today are proud of the modern city engines.

Shortly afterwards, the "Washington" made its appearance and was owned by R. W. Cunningham and another company was formed. Great rivalry existed between the two companies, according to old records, and more than once "the streams of water were played upon the opposing companies instead of upon the fire." Firemen were all volunteers in those days.

Seventy years ago, a new hand engine was purchased by the Borough Council and was called the "New Eagle." Three years later, the first hook and ladder truck made it's appearance. This was given the nom de plume, the "Rescue." Two years after this, the first team of horses was used on a fire truck.

Some of our old timers can remember the excitement created by the first horse drawn fire engine. That was perfection, they thought. It was a great improvement from the hand drawn truck, and teams were used for many years after that.

The next great step was the use of motor trucks. And then the improved truck, capable of a high rate of speed, easy control, complete equipment, efficient, long ladders, the trucks now used.

During 1929, an approximate loss of $75,000 was caused by fire. This is a very small loss in comparison to the ordinary yearly fire loss, according to Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn. Usually, the fire loss amounts from six to eight dollars per person, whereas it was between one and two dollars during 1929.

Three hundred eighty-seven alarms were answered by the fire department this year. Of these, 85 were put out by water alone, 79 by chemicals alone, 15 by chemicals and water, 47 were beat out. Thirty-four alarms were false.

It would be interesting to know just what proportion of fires were extinguished when the "Rescue," the "Old Eagle" and "New Eagle" were the sole equipment of the New Castle fire department. By the time the engine was towed to the scene of the fire and the old pump was started, the fire would have probably already have got tired burning and only a few hot coals left for the firemen to sprinkle.

Negro Youth Says He Had His Chance

Alonzo Parham, Chicago Negro Youth, West Point Student Denies Charges

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—"I had a square deal."

That was the answer given today to the National Association for the Advanced of Colored People by Alonzo Souleigh Parham, Chicago colored youth, to a protest sounded by the association because Parham was dropped from the West Point's roster.

"I wasn't flunked on account of my color; I just wasn't good enough in mathematics," Parham declared.

Parham, came here from the United States military academy where he was appointed last year by Congressman Oscar De Priest of Chicago.

"They didn't make the examinations hard just for me," the ousted youth told reporters. "There were more than 60 other men dropped along with me."

"Of course I was lonely. All men are lonely at West Point the first year," he said. "It's a hard life—one for men who are men."

He added he didn't want negro organizations to "try to make a martyr" of him.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

..Almighty God, we are the recipients every day of Thy bounty; we thank Thee. As Thou are so good to us, may we be united in heart with those who suffer and are far away. Join us in a blessed unity with Thee for the extension of Thy kingdom everywhere. Upon every institution of our great land let Thy blessing come; may intelligence, tolerance, and charity prevail. O let the great light of Christian beneficence become the defender of the helpless and to those who are toiling in oppression. Touched by Thy divine Spirit, may we live in our higher natures, and thus have dominion over appetite, selfishness, pride, and every evil passion that is in the soul. Allied to one another by common weakness and common dependence, may we be slow to disclose the imperfections and the faults of others. May we never wear the veiled face of self-righteousness. In the name of Christ our Saviour. Amen.

Young People Present Program

Young People's Night Marks Second Evening Of Anniversary Week In Church

An appreciative audience listened Tuesday night to the special program rendered by the Young People's Society of the First Baptist church, as part of the week of services in observance of the pastor's fifth anniversary. Strong spiritual messages were given by the President, Miss Mae Cromie, by Wm. Hammond, Jr., Paul I. Cook, and Miss Mary Brown. Special musical numbers included a piano solo by Mrs. Walter Van, and a vocal quartette by Mary, Margaret, Paul and Lewis Koch, accompanied by their sister, Mrs. Kasola. There were a number of visitors present. Pastors of the Emmanuel Baptist church of this city, the First Baptist church of Sharon, and the Calvary Baptist church of Farrell, were present with a number of their members. A stereoptican lecture on "Fascinating Africa," was given by the pastor. The benediction was offered by Rev. Madden of Sharon.

This evening the regular mid-week service will include a testimony service, with preference being given to those who have joined the church during the five years of Mr. Landis' pastorate; and messages by D. S. Williams, chairman of the Board of Deacons, and the pastor.

Thursday evening at 7:30 the Ladies Missionary Societies will present the program, together with a stereoptican lecture, "The New Conquest of Mexico," which will be illustrated by 60 colored slides. On Friday evening at 7:30 the Men's Bible class will give the program, featuring a stereoptican lecture by Rev. Bert Williams of Ellwood City, on the subject: "Great American Scandals," illustrated by nearly 200 lantern slides.

Have You An Acid Stomach?

When gas, pain and distress follow a good meal, it is an almost sure sign of "too much acid" in your stomach. Get rid of it now for it is dangerous. Ulcers are apt to follow. No matter how much acid is in your stomach, you can enjoy and relish your next meal without fear of after effects, if you have some Bisurated Magnesia handy to prevent the trouble before it starts. Try it. Eat whatever you like, in reason, and then take a little Bisurated Magnesia to neutralize the acid, sweeten your stomach and protect the stomach lining. Doctors recommend Bisurated Magnesia — thousands use it because it positively prevents stomach trouble or stops the worst attack in less than five minutes. Get a trial package, either powder or tablets, from your druggist, use as directed, and indigestion and stomach troubles will go like magic.

Keep Free from FAT in excess; it's easy now

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to an under-active gland. Starve as you will, exercise as you will, you are bound to fail unless you correct the cause.

That gland largely controls nutrition. When it is weak, too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy. So modern physicians, in treating obesity, supply the gland substance which is scant.

That is the method employed in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous medical laboratory. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Anybody, in any circle, can see what a change has come. Excess fat is disappearing fast. New youth and beauty, new health and vitality, are conspicuous everywhere.

If you are abnormal in your weight, a certain gland is abnormal. Try Marmola. Feed the factor lacking. Watch the pounds go, the new vitality return. You will be amazed and delighted. But the formula in each box of Marmola will tell you the reason. To people who know, there is no excuse today for obesity. Start to remedy that ill condition now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

PENN. mother proves her idea is right . . .

"MY little son was bilious and upset," says Mrs. Mary Sarsfield, 5131 Hoopes St., Philadelphia. "He had no appetite, his breath was bad, his tongue was coated, and he was nearly always tired and sleepy.

"He seemed to have trouble with his stomach and bowels and I had an idea California Fig Syrup would help him. He brightened up marvelously with the first few doses. At the end of a week, he was a different boy. I have used California Fig Syrup with him every time he has had a cold or upset, and I give it a lot of credit for his wonderful condition."

California Fig Syrup never fails to cleanse the system of bilious, headachy, feverish or constipated children, quickly and gently. It never gripes or sickens. Children love its flavor. A pure vegetable product with the highest endorsement of doctors. It helps Nature give tone and strength to the stomach and bowels.

Police Woman May Be Escort

Mrs. McKibben May Go With Officers To Bring Mrs. Schroeder Back

MAY SEND FIVE FOR PRISONERS

Mrs. Minnie McKibben, city police department matron may accompany County Detective Peck Lee and several state policemen to Phoenix, Ariz., to return Irene Schroeder, W. Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford to the county jail here.

Today Lieutenant Bittner, Troop D, State Police, Butler, Pa., told District Attorney John S. Powers and County Detective Lee that a policewoman should be in the party to help assume charge of the woman.

He said that Mrs. Schroeder is a woman and there would be times when a policewoman's services would be absolutely necessary so that there could be no sympathy sentiment started.

Lieutenant Bittner said that were only men police to assume charge of the two alleged accomplices of Irene Schroeder there is a possibility that some person might attempt to work up undeserved sympathy.

He said that out of respect to the chief of police and department of New Castle he believed that the city police matron should be taken along. He said a woman of courage and efficiency is necessary.

He said that more than two men would be required to assume charge of the trio as the trip would be too long for men to go without sleep and keep vigil over the alleged "gunwoman" and her companions.

Lieutenant Bittner requested a party of four which be increased to five out of necessity. The prisoners will be watched every second and Mrs. Schroeder will be treated kindly but given no "pink tea courtesies".

It is absolutely necessary that the party who asks for the extradition papers at Harrisburg go to Phoenix. County Detective Lee tonight will leave for Harrisburg to ask for the papers. This ensures his going to Arizona.

Should the county authorities agree with Lieutenant Bittner's views the city will be asked to designate Mrs. McKibben as an aide and to take charge of Mrs. Schroeder at different times.

It is probable that the police "escort" will leave New Castle perhaps Thursday night for Chicago and Friday morning start for Arizona. The party may consist of five and not four.

Private Jimmy Brooks and Sergeant Bergin, Tropo D, Butler, who have worked on the case since the day of the murder of Brady Paul in Butler-New Castle road, may be the state policemen assigned.

Private Ernest Moore, state highway patrol, now at Greensburg, may go as he was wounded in the battle that cost Paul's life.

HENRY CLAY.

NATIONAL HOTEL ON PENN. AVE. WHERE BUCHANAN CAME TO HIS INAUGURATION IN 1857. ANDREW JACKSON. 4½ ST. & PENN AVE. ERECTED IN 1859-60 BY THE AMERICAN COLONIZATION SOCIETY.

ECHOES of bygone days will answer the blow of the wrecker's hammer as it falls on the walls of an old building in Washington, D. C. And a ghostly convention of bygone figures will assemble for a last farewell of the place that was for many of them their favorite earthly habitat.

When the National Hotel is torn down to make room for the Capital's proposed Civic Center, it will mean the demolition of a building that, aside from the Capitol and the White House, has seen the making of more momentous history than any other edifice. Since its opening in 1827, since when it has been in continuous operation, it has attracted the greatest statesmen, politicians, writers, artists and all the great who appreciated magnificent cuisine and a subtly different atmosphere. Its visitors' book is a rollcall of the famous.

To the National came Andrew Jackson when he arrived in Washington for his inauguration, and no doubt he enjoyed the wonderful food that was served at various banquets in his honor. The night of his inauguration he dined there with John C. Calhoun as his guest. President Polk was also a pre-inauguration guest, as was President Buchanan, who was almost killed by a seepage of sewer gas into the hotel. It was at the National that Henry Clay breathed his last. Horace Greeley, Louis Kossuth and other famous men were visitors to his suite, No. 32, which was a gathering place for the great.

The banquet rooms of the National have rung with the inspired eloquence of such speakers as Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, John J. Crittenden, and Alexander S. Stevens who was Vice President of the Southern Confederacy. Charles Dickens was a visitor to the hostelry and has given a vivid account of the life there in the first edition of "American Notes." It is said that the assassination of Lincoln was planned in room No. 228, which was occupied for a long time prior to the murder by John Wilkes Booth.

The birthplace of Henry Watterson, the great editor and politician, at No. 35 Pennsylvania Avenue, is also to be razed, as is the building erected by the American Colonization Society, wherein was held the meeting that led to the foundation of the Republic of Liberia in West Africa. Another old building to go is Hymen Hill, where, it is said, John Quincy Adams resided. The house was built in 1800, and contains elaborate carvings.

Another Royal Marriage in Rome?

Boris III, King of Bulgaria, and Princess Giovanna of Italy may bring a union of European royalty again this year. Boris had an audience with His Holiness Pope Pius XI, thus reviving rumors that he is seeking the hand in marriage of Princess Giovanna. The difficulty in the way of the match is a difference in religion between the two. Boris, by the constitution of Bulgaria, must belong to the Orthodox Greek Church, while the Princess is of the Roman Catholic Church. Thus far it has been impossible for Boris to obtain the necessary dispensation from the Pontiff for the nuptials. A solution which has been considered is that the Princess retain her religion and bring up her children as Catholics, except her first-born, who would be reared in the Orthodox Greek religion in order to succeed Boris on the Bulgarian throne.

The Americans in Control

SHORTLY AFTER THE AMERICANS CAPTURED SAN FERNANDO (MAY 4, 1899), THE PHILIPPINE RAINY SEASON SET IN, DRENCHING THE SOLDIERS, DELUGING THE RICE FIELDS AND FLOODING THE ROADS, MAKING FURTHER OPERATIONS AGAINST THE INSURGENTS IMPOSSIBLE.

IN OCTOBER THE CAMPAIGN WAS RENEWED WITH MORE VIGOR THAN EVER, AND AGUINALDO'S ARMY WAS SOON SCATTERED BEFORE THE CONSTANT HAMMERING OF THE AMERICANS.

MAJOR-GENERAL ELWELL OTIS, U.S.A.

IN NOVEMBER, 1899, GENERAL OTIS, THE AMERICAN GOVERNOR, ANNOUNCED THAT ALL OF CENTRAL LUZON WAS UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES. BUT OUR TROOPS HAD BEEN FORCED TO GARRISON AND FORTIFY ALL THE TOWNS THEY HAD WON, AND THE ARMY IN THE ISLANDS HAD BEEN INCREASED TO MORE THAN SEVENTY THOUSAND MEN.

THIS GREAT FORCE WAS DISTRIBUTED THROUGH THE PHILIPPINE GROUP, HOLDING SOME FOUR HUNDRED FAR-FLUNG POSTS, WHOSE GARRISONS RANGED IN SIZE FROM A WHOLE REGIMENT TO A SINGLE COMPANY. THE AMERICANS HELD THE NATIVES DOWN, BUT THERE WAS NO REAL SUBMISSION.

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS AMBRIDGE 25-11

Rowe-Hannon In Star Roles

New Castle High Floor Team Keeps Slate Clean For Season To Date

VISITORS LACK OFFENSIVE DRIVE

By "BUGS" WALTHER

The victory register at New Castle high clicked off the sixth one of the season last night as the Bridenbaugh passers hung a 25 to 11 defeat around the necks of a small but fast Ambridge high quintet. This was not a league game but rather a warm-up for the locals.

In the first quarter of the game the invaders from down in the valley threw a momentary scare into the red and black clad boys by making like it for a count of 7 to 1 at the end of the first session, but really, this was only a gift of some sort as later events proved. The New Castle team looked like a 1910 Ford going up a steep hill with about two spark plugs working in the first eight minutes of play. They couldn't seem to make the ball and basket acquainted.

Locals Open Up.

The transformation was wonderful, for New Castle, not Ambridge. The New Castle lads stepped out of their character in the second spasm and put over 11 points while an unsuspecting Ambridge team tried to coast along with the seven points they made in the first quarter. They added two more points via foul attempts and the first half ended 12 to 9 with the New Castle boys out in front of the parade, and the attack clicking a little smoother. Francis Wanio, star New Castle forward, committed too many violations in the second quarter, according to Referee Ray Nolte, and so for the remainder of the evening Mr. Wanio saw the other boys do their stuff while he rested on the bench. He played good ball while he was in there, he scored one bucket and his passing was good.

Defense is Fine.

New Castle's defensive play would have done credit to the welfare association in Glasgow, Scotland. They didn't give. Really, Ambridge tried hard in that third quarter to make a showing, but they simply could not make the ball do tricks. Coach Moe Rubenstein inserted a number of subs into the battle, but they were not equal to the task, either.

The locals kicked in with seven more points in that awful third period, Hannon, Rowe and Alexander flipping field goals through the net and McAuley flipping a free toss through the mesh. Coach Rubenstein tried a Knute Rockne in the dying moments of the third session by sending in everybody but the student manager and the mascot, but still the Ambridge team couldn't score. It just wasn't destined, that's all.

Ambridge Outclassed.

In the fourth and final quarter the New Castle young men just sort of toyed around with the visitors. New Castle scored six more points and Ambridge was able to score two fouls, both by Zerilla. Hannon and Rowe held the spotlight in that last quarter with sensational field goals.

Nick Uram and "Red" McAuley played nice guarding games, holding the forwards to but one basket. Art Alexander had it over the Ambridge pivot men like a tent over the circus grounds.

The famous New Castle defense was working to perfection. The invaders could get the ball down to the center of the floor, but after that it was too bad. The locals looked rather impressive as they dusted off the sixth straight of the season. Ambridge has a good team, but they were not in a class with New Castle.

High Reserves Win.

The preliminary game found Coach Emmet Gillaspie's George Washington junior high varsity team giving the New Castle high reserves something in the way of a tussle. The final score favored the wearers of the red and black 26 to 20. It was not a lopsided affair, as one would have been led to believe prior to the contest.

At the half the reserves led by a score of 12 to 7, and after Coach "Gig" Thomas gave them a heart to heart talk about you must make baskets to win ball games, and all that sort of thing, they stepped out and satisfied their coach. The "kids" from Washington high didn't submit to defeat without a fight. The Gillaspie coached machine really looked good in that fourth period when they put themselves right in the game with a few baskets. Johnny Uram, the stellar Washington high guard, and Shaffer of New Castle high put a fine battle for scoring honors, but the issue was deadlocked at five field goals apiece. They both played good basketball. So did Reiber, Marvin, DiThomas and Cooper play well.

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 15.—Proving himself to be a good "mudder" and a golfer who could not be stopped by adverse weather conditions Denny Shute, 25-year-old Columbus, Ohio, professional, today was the winner of the Los Angeles $10,000 open golf tournament.

For playing good, steady golf under the most trying conditions, Shute helped himself to $3,500 of the prize money—which is a pretty fair chunk of money for a golfer to win who has been a professional for but two years. And in winning it he had to contest against the golfing class of the country.

Is Good Golfer

Shute's performance is considered extraordinary, inasmuch as three of the rounds were played in driving rain and stiff winds—a combination which caused such golfers as Walter Hagen and Bill Mehlhorn from turning in their cards.

Shute led the field by a margin of four strokes, stroking the Riviera Country Club course in 296. His rounds were 73-74-75-74.

Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., and Robby Cruckshank of New York, tied for second place with 300 strokes.

Mortie Dutra of Tacoma, and Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente, tied for sixth place with 305's.

Was Bit Nervous

Going into the final round, Shute led Cruickshank and Smith by three strokes. There were many who thought Shute might falter in the stretch, but he went merrily on his way while his two nearest opponents did the faltering.

Shute admitted he was a bit nervous going into the final round. When he holed out a 22-footer to get a birdie two on the fourteenth hole, he said he then felt as if he couldn't be stopped.

The young Ohioan is now primed for the $25,000 Agua Caliente Open, which is to be played next week. In the event of some nice dirty weather, Shute may again make golfing history down at the Mexican resort course. Or, as far as that goes, he may do it even if climatic conditions are excellent.

Three Games At "Y" Tonight To Be Interesting

Floor Fans Will Have Opportunity Of Seing Good Teams In Action

Three good basketball games are on tap tonight at the "Y" court. The first game starts at 7:30 o'clock.

The Central Christians of the Church League battle the Evergreen M. E. team of Youngstown, O., in the first game of the evening. This should be a hot contest as both teams are given high rating in basketball circles.

The second game finds Toddys of the City League and the Shelby Tube Mill quintet tangling. This game is a natural, and should be a lively one.

New Castle Boosters will battle Greenville in the third and final game. The locals hung a defeat on the Greenville boys at the Mercer county town several weeks ago, and the Drugs are out to revenge this setback tonight.

Grove-Zachary Most Effective

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—If you like Lefty Grove of the champion Macks you may add to your admiration today by stating he was the most effective pitcher in the American League last season. At the same time if one prefers the style of Tom Zachary, lanky side-wheeler, it will be just as correct to toss the honor to the Yankee pitcher.

Official league figures revealed today that Zachary topped the American hurlers with a record of going through the season unbeaten. He took part however in only 26 games and pitched only seven complete games.

Grove went the full distance 21 times and took part in 42 games.

Zachary officially headed the list inasmuch as the players were listed according to the average of earned runs made against them in each nine innings of toil. Zachary allowed 2.47 earned runs per game, while Grove allowed 2.82 runs.

Eddie Rommel, relief pitcher for the Mackmen, who played in 32 games, completing four full games, was reached for 2.84 runs.

Sammy Gray did the most pitching with a total of 305 innings. Earnshaw led in victories with 24 and Al Thomas of the White Sox had the greatest number of complete games, 24.

Shires To Watch Trafton Battle

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—When George Trafton, mammoth football center, exchanges efforts with Rudy Hoffman here tomorrow night Charles Arthur Shires will be at the ringside scrutinizing the technique of Trafton, the only man to date who has made the Great Arthur say "enough."

Shires, it was disclosed in a telegram received here today, wants to avenge his defeat at Trafton's hands. The White Sox first baseman may challenge Trafton to a return bout, it was learned.

THE SPORT BUG.

With Bobby Jones absent and $25,000 in prizes provided, the Golf Derby at Agua Caliente, Mexico, looms this week at least as a glimpse at the Promised Land for links professionals. More than ninety are entered for the tourney, the big majority being professionals most of whom have been engaged for weeks in the annual Winter tour from tournament to tournament along the Pacific Coast. This Agua Caliente event will become a yearly golf derby, according to its promoters who claim they will maintain it as the richest sport attraction of its kind.

The 18-hole Agua Caliente course is brand-new. Because of this, some predict that so-called "Winter rules" will be observed., i. e., tee-ups will be premitted for every shot, which system naturally should be of more help to the less-skilled players than to the masters.

Leo Diegel, one of the greatest of golfers, is the home pro in this Mexican sport center which, among other reasons, makes him favorite to win the first prize of $10,000 although many like the chances of Horton Smith, Joplin's boy wonder, who so often is an active volcano when it comes to burning up Winter courses.

Walter Hagen, Bill Mehlhorn, Johnny Farrell, and practically every other favorite among the pro experts have substantial betting support at widely varying odds in Augua Caliente where wagering is the flesh and blood of local fame and prosperity.

In a resort where a million dollar day in sport speculative lines would be just an expected occasion, $25,000 is hardly more than pin money to attract a four-day show featuring what is likely to prove the greatest display of golf outside an American or British Open championship.

The Golf Derby is supposed to lure thousands to Agua Caliente—crowds of a class that will further establish that lively Mexican community as one of the continent's leading wintering places. Of course, most of the visitors are likely to take a peek at the horse races and other entertainment there—and upon such patronage the future of the Agua Caliente Golf Derby naturally will depend.

Between the gee-gees, golf and other games, Agua Calienta is now looking for its golden sun that will cast into the growing shadows of other days such merrymakers as Tia Juana, Juarez and even the hustling Florida resorts. And so, above the hoof-beats and whirl of wheels, Agua Caliente yells "Fore!" to the sporting world via its $25,000 Golf Derby.

Kandy Kids Win From Missions

The Wampum Kandy Kids registered their sixth consecutive win when they toppled the fast Brotherhood Mission "5" to the tune of 29 to 21 on the Wampum Opera House floor. This game was one of the hardest fought games of the season, with the locals never in the lead by more than five points until late in the last quarter. Both teams put up a whale of a defense game and made every shot count. Early in the third quarter, the Mission aggregation crept to within one point of the "Kids" but successive field goals by Aiello and Boone put the locals in good standing. McKim and Aiello played a wonderful game for the K. K. Klub while the best for the Missions were Evey and Walker.

Westminster Cage Team Has Layoff For Exams; Meets Bethany Jan. 25

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 15.—With two gruelling games on the right side of the ledger, Coach John Lawther's Westminster College basketball team will be kept busy passing examinations instead of basketball for a while. Final semester examinations start Monday and end January 24. Because of this the Titans do not swing into action again until January 25 when the strong Bethany College team is met at Wellsburg, West Virginia.

The Grove City and Geneva games, both of which were barely won by the Titans, prove that Westminster will have a hard time keeping up with the rapidly improving quintets of the district. Not only is Bethany exceptionally strong but so is Duquesne and Allegheny, in addition to Grove City and Geneva. With five such opponents as these the Titans will have to play over their heads to keep in the race at all.

In pre-season games, Lawther's crew defeated Slippery Rock, 39-18; Kent State, 42-19; Mercer Whippets, 49-31; Sharon Buhl Club, 22-17; Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College, 36-16; Adrian College, 33-18; and Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College, 48-11. In district college games the Titans have defeated Grove City, 30-26; Thiel, 34-8; and Geneva, 22-20.

Bethany has, in addition to the entire team which tied with Geneva for the conference championship last year, three members of last year's West Virginia high school championship court team. With such a wealth of material Coach Furnam Nuss has run up big scores against all opponents, including Juniata, Penn State, and Waynesburg. Last year Bethany and Westminster split even in games played, the Titans winning at New Wilmington, and the Bisons winning at Bethany.

Following the Bethany game abroad, Westminster meets Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh, January 29 in the only other game this month. The Tech passers, under Coach Hogan, have improved considerably and by the end of the month should have their new system down so that the Titans will be forced to the limit.

The next home game is with Bethany, February 3. Regardless of the outcome of the Bison game at Wellsburg, January 25, this return game with the Nussmen on February 3 will be a thriller. In fact, judging by the Grove City and Geneva games, there are a lot of treats in store for court fans before March 4 and the end of the Titan season rolls around.

DILLON OFFERS NEW BUILDING

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 15.—The historic locker building at Harvard stadium, housing many rare Harvard trophies, was destroyed early today by a spectacular fire. Other athletic buildings in the vicinity were for a time threatened.

It was estimated that the damage would reach $150,000.

For a time it was feared that the fire would spread to the $5,000,000 bulidings of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, just across the street, but firemen brought the blaze under control.

Hundreds of Harvard undergraduates came to the scene of the fire. Among them was Allan Hoover, son of the president, who ran to the blaze clad in pajamas and sweater.

Before the last dying embers of the leveled structure has been extinguished, an offer to rebuild the locker building at a cost of $500.00 was made by the father of one of the students at Harvard.

The offer was made by Clarence D. Dillon, head of the New York Financial firm of Dillon, Read and Co., and father of Clarence D. Dillon, member of the junior class.

The two plan to taper off their training schedules here today and rest for the bout.

Lomski has been promised another chance at Maxie Rosenbloom should he succeed in stopping the hard-hitting Braddock in this bout.

Richards Quite Confident About Tennis Ability

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—In a spirit of helpfulness, Mr. Vincent Richards, who became a professional almost immediately after he discovered that being a gentleman was not nearly as satisfactory as being victualed with regularity, offers to show the tennis association today where it can save a lot of time with its proposed open championship next September. By using his methods, it can ignore the first four rounds altogether and start right in with the semi-finals. Mr. Richards, who seems to know all of the answers, isn't going so far as to pick the ultimate winner; only the ultimate loser.

The latter, says he, is an amateur who is sufficiently ill advised as to get in there with the unchaste professionals and he doesn't bar Tilden, LaCoste, Borotra, Lott, De Morpurgo or even Cochet. He is more considerate of the latter, having generously reserved a place for him in the semi-finals. LaCoste? No, he hasn't the game. Tilden? Ha, Ha. Don't make him laugh.

Tilden, it seems, isn't to get by the second round. Why? Because Tilden and amateur tennis in general, barring Cochet and LaCoste, are passe, in the first place, and in the second, haven't in years seen the day they could compete with good professionals. Mr. Richards even went as far as to offer to match Harvey Snodgrass, another apostate, with any ranking amateur, except Cochet.

Mr. Douds came to the court house this morning and the oath was administered to him by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell. Mr. Van Gorder is expected to appear later.

The commissions were held up owing to a ruling that had been made with reference to another borough of the state, in which it had been held that the borough was entitled to but two justices. NEW YORK STOCKS

Stocks Fluctuate At Opening Of Market

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—There was not sufficient demand for stocks this morning to bring about a fair-sized rally in any of the important groups of stocks. Heavy selling of Montgomery Ward which broke to a new low-record price at 40, and softness of the motor stocks, unsettled the industrials, and by the end of the first hour the whole market was in a moderately downward move. Sears Roebuck shared the weakness of the mercantile stocks and sold off 3½ points at 83¾.

The bears launched an attack on Montgomery Ward, to the accompaniment of a flood of rumors about prospective lower earnings, lower prices on leading commodities sold by the company and a possible falling off in gross business in the first quarter of 1930.

Failure of the attempts of the motor-stock bulls to attract the public into the leading stocks of this group has been the principal factor behind the renewed selling of General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson and other automobile stocks, which have lost practically all of the ground gained on the automobile-show spurt. General Motors broke below 39 again today and Chrysler below 35, about 3 points below the best prices of that period.

The oil stocks had another fainting spell under the handicap of another large increase in crude oil production. An increase of 37,000 barrels a day in total production was reported by the American Petroleum Institute and gasoline prices have also unsettled in the last week or so. Standard Oil of New Jersey, Atlantic Refining and other important oils reacted to slightly lower prices.

Strength and activity in Radio, Bethlehem Steel and other popular industrials was in marked contrast to the reactionary trend in other sections of the market. United States Steel was well brought around 171½ and American Can at 124¼. Warner Brothers Pictures and Loew's sold higher, on better earnings reports.

Industrial and money market conditions were unchanged, with call money at 4½ per cent.

Flood Situation In Mississippi Valley Is Acute

Thousands Of Lowland Residents At Memphis Scurry To Safety

FLOOD WARNINGS HAVE BEEN ISSUED

(International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 15.—Flood conditions in the lower Mississippi basin became acute today.

Thousands of lowland residents had scurried to higher ground while others prepared to flee in the face of disaster.

A storm moving in from the west threatened to bring more rain to the flooded area.

Armed guards were thrown around Cassidy Bayou near Belen, Miss., which was dynamited, allowing water to flow over a large stretch of land.

Warnings Issued

The blast, which relieved conditions along some sections of the embankment, was the first dynamiting reported along the flooded stream.

Flood warnings were issued for virtually every stream in the state of Arkansas.

In Northern Mississippi coldwater river was reported at its highest stage since 1927 and still rising steadily.

Thousands of acres are inundated in Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi.

Sandbags have been rushed to Big Lake, Ark., to protect levees there which guard the safety of a number of towns.

ROBBERS, BEWARE OF "DEADSHOT"!

Bandits and stick-up men who happened, during the past year, to direct their predatory footsteps toward the drug store of L. B. Weaks, of Los Angeles, have learned somewhat to their sorrow how Weaks came to be called by his neighbors, the "Deadshot Druggist." As a result of five attempted holdups of his store he shot two men, two are serving life terms, two are under arrest, and the bandits obtained but seven dollars in cash. Photo shows him just after his latest shooting fray, in which he wounded one man. Weaks is shown behind the shattered prescription case through which he fired.

On account of weather conditions the meeting of Millburn grange was postponed from Friday evening until Monday evening, January 13. Installation of officers was directed by John Courtney, past master of Pleasant Valley grange. Mr. Courtney was aided by Mildred Fitzgerald and Janette Robinson with Mrs. Will Cribbs at the piano. Lunch was served at a late hour.

There is a suspicion in some quarters that the adjective in "bull market" also described the talk about prosperity.

McBride Post Meeting Tonight

Commander James A. Bell will preside at his first full meeting at this time, and a rousing meeting is looked forward to. Plans for a number of future activities will be outlined at this time, and a full attendance of the post membership is asked by Commander Bell.

This is a representative government, Mr. Hoover, and you should appoint at least one failure to represent that crowd.

"Health First" Says H.S. Head

More Vital than Verbs is the Lesson of How to Keep Well

EVEN so wise a person as the head of a high school department may have something to learn about how to keep well, just like the rest of us. So at any rate says Miss Mary S. Cline, the director of the Department of English, Easton (Pa.) High School.

"I used to love a hike over the hill on a frosty afternoon," writes Miss Cline. "And then I began to be too tired to start out—too listless to move. I began to fear the cold. I began to hate my work.

"I had a horror of medicines. So when the doctor told me to try Nujol, I protested. 'But this is different,' he said. 'Nujol just passes through the body, lubricating it and absorbing the poisons. And,' he added 'it won't make you fat. Try it.'

"I did try it. My energy began to come back. I began to take my after-school jaunts again. Work seemed pleasant and my whole outlook changed. I was my old self again, with enough energy to climb the mountain, and the joy of health once more restored."

An unusual tribute, this, from Miss Mary S. Cline, head of English Dept. Easton (Pa.) High School

What is the secret of Nujol's success? Just this: the human body, like any delicate mechanism, requires perfect lubrication to function properly and get rid of the waste poisons that make us feel dull, languid, tired, headachy. Tasteless and colorless as pure water, Nujol aids nature in carrying away these poisons. It is not a medicine. It contains no drugs. It works naturally, harmlessly.

Try Nujol for two weeks. You will be amazed at the results. Know what it is to feel well, refreshed in the morning and full of pep for the day's work or play. Get Nujol today at the drug store. It costs but a few cents a day but it makes you feel like a million dollars.

The Americans In Control

SHORTLY AFTER THE AMERICANS CAPTURED SAN FERNANDO (MAY 4, 1899), THE PHILIPPINE RAINY SEASON SET IN, DRENCHING THE SOLDIERS, DELUGING THE RICE FIELDS AND FLOODING THE ROADS, MAKING FURTHER OPERATIONS AGAINST THE INSURGENTS IMPOSSIBLE.

IN OCTOBER THE CAMPAIGN WAS RENEWED WITH MORE VIGOR THAN EVER, AND AGUINALDO'S ARMY WAS SOON SCATTERED BEFORE THE CONSTANT HAMMERING OF THE AMERICANS.

MAJOR-GENERAL ELWELL OTIS, U.S.A.

IN NOVEMBER, 1899, GENERAL OTIS, THE AMERICAN GOVERNOR, ANNOUNCED THAT ALL OF CENTRAL LUZON WAS UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES. BUT OUR TROOPS HAD BEEN FORCED TO GARRISON AND FORTIFY ALL THE TOWNS THEY HAD WON, AND THE ARMY IN THE ISLANDS HAD BEEN INCREASED TO MORE THAN SEVENTY THOUSAND MEN.

THIS GREAT FORCE WAS DISTRIBUTED THROUGH THE PHILIPPINE GROUP, HOLDING SOME FOUR HUNDRED FAR-FLUNG POSTS, WHOSE GARRISONS RANGED IN SIZE FROM A WHOLE REGIMENT TO A SINGLE COMPANY. THE AMERICANS HELD THE NATIVES DOWN, BUT THERE WAS NO REAL SUBMISSION.

TOMORROW—THE DEATH OF GENERAL LAWTON.

Mr. Douds came to the court house this morning and the oath was administered to him by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell. Mr. Van Gorder is expected to appear later.

The commissions were held up owing to a ruling that had been made with reference to another borough of the state, in which it had been held that the borough was entitled to but two justices. NEW CASTLE DEFEATS AMBRIDGE 25-11

Rowe-Hannon In Star Roles

New Castle High Floor Team Keeps Slate Clean For Season To Date

VISITORS LACK OFFENSIVE DRIVE

By "BUGS" WALTHER

The victory register at New Castle high clicked off the sixth one of the season last night as the Bridenbaugh passers hung a 25 to 11 defeat around the necks of a small but fast Ambridge high quintet. This was not a league game but rather a warm-up for the locals.

In the first quarter of the game the invaders from down in the valley threw a momentary scare into the red and black clad boys by making like it for a count of 7 to 1 at the end of the first session, but really, this was only a gift of some sort as later events proved. The New Castle team looked like a 1910 Ford going up a steep hill with about two spark plugs working in the first eight minutes of play. They couldn't seem to make the ball and basket acquainted.

Locals Open Up.

The transformation was wonderful, for New Castle, not Ambridge. The New Castle lads stepped out of their character in the second spasm and put over 11 points while an unsuspecting Ambridge team tried to coast along with the seven points they made in the first quarter. They added two more points via foul attempts and the first half ended 12 to 9 with the New Castle boys out in front of the parade, and the attack clicking a little smoother. Francis Wanio, star New Castle forward, committed too many violations in the second quarter, according to Referee Ray Nolte, and so for the remainder of the evening Mr. Wanio saw the other boys do their stuff while he rested on the bench. He played good ball while he was in there, he scored one bucket and his passing was good.

Defense is Fine.

New Castle's defensive play would have done credit to the welfare association in Glasgow, Scotland. They didn't give. Really, Ambridge tried hard in that third quarter to make a showing, but they simply could not make the ball do tricks. Coach Moe Rubenstein inserted a number of subs into the battle, but they were not equal to the task, either.

The locals kicked in with seven more points in that awful third period, Hannon, Rowe and Alexander flipping field goals through the net and McAuley flipping a free toss through the mesh. Coach Rubenstein tried a Knute Rockne in the dying moments of the third session by sending in everybody but the student manager and the mascot, but still the Ambridge team couldn't score. It just wasn't destined, that's all.

Ambridge Outclassed.

In the fourth and final quarter the New Castle young men just sort of toyed around with the visitors. New Castle scored six more points and Ambridge was able to score two fouls, both by Zerilla. Hannon and Rowe held the spotlight in that last quarter with sensational field goals.

Nick Uram and "Red" McAuley played nice guarding games, holding the forwards to but one basket. Art Alexander had it over the Ambridge pivot men like a tent over the circus grounds.

The famous New Castle defense was working to perfection. The invaders could get the ball down to the center of the floor, but after that it was too bad. The locals looked rather impressive as they dusted off the sixth straight of the season. Ambridge has a good team, but they were not in a class with New Castle.

High Reserves Win.

The preliminary game found Coach Emmet Gillaspie's George Washington junior high varsity team giving the New Castle high reserves something in the way of a tussle. The final score favored the wearers of the red and black 26 to 20. It was not a lopsided affair, as one would have been led to believe prior to the contest.

At the half the reserves led by a score of 12 to 7, and after Coach "Gig" Thomas gave them a heart to heart talk about you must make baskets to win ball games, and all that sort of thing, they stepped out and satisfied their coach. The "kids" from Washington high didn't submit to defeat without a fight. The Gillaspie coached machine really looked good in that fourth period when they put themselves right in the game with a few baskets. Johnny Uram, the stellar Washington high guard, and Shaffer of New Castle high put a fine battle for scoring honors, but the issue was deadlocked at five field goals apiece. They both played good basketball. So did Reiber, Marvin, DiThomas and Cooper play well.

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 15.—Proving himself to be a good "mudder" and a golfer who could not be stopped by adverse weather conditions Denny Shute, 25-year-old Columbus, Ohio, professional, today was the winner of the Los Angeles $10,000 open golf tournament.

For playing good, steady golf under the most trying conditions, Shute helped himself to $3,500 of the prize money—which is a pretty fair chunk of money for a golfer to win who has been a professional for but two years. And in winning it he had to contest against the golfing class of the country.

Is Good Golfer

Shute's performance is considered extraordinary, inasmuch as three of the rounds were played in driving rain and stiff winds—a combination which caused such golfers as Walter Hagen and Bill Mehlhorn from turning in their cards.

Shute led the field by a margin of four strokes, stroking the Riviera Country Club course in 296. His rounds were 73-74-75-74.

Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., and Bobby Cruckshank of New York, tied for second place with 300 strokes.

Mortie Dutra of Tacoma, and Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente, tied for sixth place with 305's.

Was Bit Nervous

Going into the final round, Shute led Cruickshank and Smith by three strokes. There were many who thought Shute might falter in the stretch, but he went merrily on his way while his two nearest opponents did the faltering.

Shute admitted he was a bit nervous going into the final round. When he holed out a 22-footer to get a birdie two on the fourteenth hole, he said he then felt as if he couldn't be stopped.

The young Ohioan is now primed for the $25.000 Agua Caliente Open, which is to be played next week. In the event of some nice dirty weather, Shute may again make golfing history down at the Mexican resort course. Or, as far as that goes, he may do it even if climatic conditions are excellent.

Three Games At "Y" Tonight To Be Interesting

Floor Fans Will Have Opportunity Of Seing Good Teams In Action

Three good basketball games are on tap tonight at the "Y" court. The first game starts at 7:30 o'clock.

The Central Christians of the Church League battle the Evergreen M E. team of Youngstown, O., in the first game of the evening. This should be a hot contest as both teams are given high rating in basketball circles.

The second game finds Toddys of the City League and the Shelby Tube Mill quintet tangling. This game is a natural, and should be a lively one.

New Castle Boosters will battle Greenville in the third and final game. The locals hung a defeat on the Greenville boys at the Mercer county town several weeks ago, and the Drugs are out to revenge this setback tonight.

OLEAN, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Excusable homicide was the verdict filed here today by a coroner's jury which investigated the death of Evan Gustafson, 24, of Mount Jewett, Pa., who died yesterday after sustaining injuries in an amateur boxing bout. Augie Carlson of Jamestown, N. Y., the dead man's opponent, was not held.

Grove-Zachary Most Effective

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—If you like Lefty Grove of the champion Macks you may add to your admiration today by stating he was the most effective pitcher in the American League last season. At the same time if one prefers the style of Tom Zachary, lanky side-wheeler, it will be just as correct to toss the honor to the Yankee pitcher.

Official league figures revealed today that Zachary topped the American hurlers with a record of going through the season unbeaten. He took part however in only 26 games and pitched only seven complete games.

Grove went the full distance 21 times and took part in 42 games.

Zachary officially headed the list inasmuch as the players were listed according to the average of earned runs made against them in each nine innings of toil. Zachary allowed 2.47 earned runs per game, while Grove allowed 2.82 runs.

Eddie Rommel, relief pitcher for the Mackmen, who played in 32 games, completing four full games, was reached for 2.84 runs.

Sammy Gray did the most pitching with a total of 305 innings. Earnshaw led in victories with 24 and Al Thomas of the White Sox had the greatest number of complete games, 24.

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—When George Trafton, mammoth football center, exchanges efforts with Rudy Hoffman here tomorrow night Charles Arthur Shires will be at the ringside scrutinizing the technique of Trafton, the only man to date who has made the Great Arthur say "enough."

Shires, it was disclosed in a telegram received here today, wants to avenge his defeat at Trafton's hands. The White Sox first baseman may challenge Trafton to a return bout, it was learned.

Golf---Gee-Gees---Games

AGUA CALIENTE OPEN
SMITH, HAGEN, DIEGEL, BURKE, MEHLHORN, WOOD, FARRELL, TURNESA, AND THE OTHER 'PROS.'
AS OFFER SAYS—'HAR! HAR!'
THE SPORT BUG.

With Bobby Jones absent and $25,000 in prizes provided, the Golf Derby at Agua Caliente, Mexico, looms this week at least as a glimpse at the Promised Land for links professionals. More than ninety are entered for the tourney, the big majority being professionals most of whom have been engaged for weeks in the annual Winter tour from tournament to tournament along the Pacific Coast. This Agua Caliente event will become a yearly golf derby, according to its promoters who claim they will maintain it as the richest sport attraction of its kind.

The 18-hole Agua Caliente course is brand-new. Because of this, some predict that so-called "Winter rules" will be observed., i. e., tee-ups will be premitted for every shot, which system naturally should be of more help to the less-skilled players than to the masters.

Leo Diegel, one of the greatest of golfers, is the home pro in this Mexican sport center which, among other reasons, makes him favorite to win the first prize of $10,000 although many like the chances of Horton Smith, Joplin's boy wonder, who so often is an active volcano when it comes to burning up Winter courses.

Walter Hagen, Bill Mehlhorn, Johnny Farrell, and practically every other favorite among the pro experts have substantial betting support at widely varying odds in Augua Caliente where wagering is the flesh and blood of local fame and prosperity.

In a resort where a million dollar day in sport speculative lines would be just an expected occasion, $25,000 is hardly more than pin money to attract a four-day show featuring what is likely to prove the greatest display of golf outside an American or British Open championship.

The Golf Derby is supposed to lure thousands to Agua Caliente—crowds of a class that will further establish that lively Mexican community as one of the continent's leading wintering places. Of course, most of the visitors are likely to take a peek at the horse races and other entertainment there—and upon such patronage the future of the Agua Caliente Golf Derby naturally will depend.

Between the gee-gees, golf and other games, Agua Calienta is now looking for its golden sun that will cast into the growing shadows of other days such merrymakers as Tia Juana, Juarez and even the hustling Florida resorts. And so, above the hoof-beats and whirl of wheels, Agua Caliente yells "Fore!" to the sporting world via its $25,000 Golf Derby.

Kandy Kids Win From Missions

The Wampum Kandy Kids registered their sixth consecutive win when they toppled the fast Brotherhood Mission "5" to the tune of 29 to 21 on the Wampum Opera House floor. This game was one of the hardest fought games of the season, with the locals never in the lead by more than five points until late in the last quarter. Both teams put up a whale of a defense game and made every shot count. Early in the third quarter, the Mission aggregation crept to within one point of the "Kids" but successive field goals by Aiello and Boone put the locals in good standing. McKim and Aiello played a wonderful game for the K. K. Klub while the best for the Missions were Evey and Walker.

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 15.—With two gruelling games on the right side of the ledger, Coach John Lawther's Westminster College basketball team will be kept busy passing examinations instead of basketball for a while. Final semester examinations start Monday and end January 24. Because of this the Titans do not swing into action again until January 25 when the strong Bethany College team is met at Wellsburg, West Virginia.

The Grove City and Geneva games, both of which were barely won by the Titans, prove that Westminster will have a hard time keeping up with the rapidly improving quintets of the district. Not only is Bethany exceptionally strong but so is Duquesne and Allegheny, in addition to Grove City and Geneva. With five such opponents as these the Titans will have to play over their heads to keep in the race at all.

In pre-season games, Lawther's crew defeated Slippery Rock, 39-18; Kent State, 42-19; Mercer Whippets, 49-31; Sharon Buhl Club, 22-17; Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College, 36-16; Adrian College, 33-18; and Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College, 48-11. In district college games the Titans have defeated Grove City, 30-26; Thiel, 34-8; and Geneva, 22-20.

Bethany has, in addition to the entire team which tied with Geneva for the conference championship last year, three members of last year's West Virginia high school championship court team. With such a wealth of material Coach Furnam Nuss has run up big scores against all opponents, including Juniata, Penn State, and Waynesburg. Last year Bethany and Westminster split even in games played, the Titans winning at New Wilmington, and the Bisons winning at Bethany.

Following the Bethany game abroad, Westminster meets Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh, January 29 in the only other game this month. The Tech passers, under Coach Hogan, have improved considerably and by the end of the month should have their new system down so that the Titans will be forced to the limit.

The next home game is with Bethany, February 3. Regardless of the outcome of the Bison game at Wellsburg, January 25, this return game with the Nussmen on February 3 will be a thriller. In fact, judging by the Grove City and Geneva games, there are a lot of treats in store for court fans before March 4 and the end of the Titan season rolls around.

Gene Tunney On Way To Recovery

Former Champion Slowly Recovering From Effects Of Recent Operation

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Gene Tunney, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, was well on the road to health today.

Tunney, who underwent an operation Monday for removal of a stone from his right kidney, was pronounced as rapidly recovering this morning and physicians said he might leave the hospital in two or three weeks.

After he leaves the hospital, it was reported today, Tunney and his bride, the former Polly Lauder, will reside in an apartment overlooking Central Park. The address is an exclusive one on Fifth avenue.

Harvard Locker Building Burns

Building Housing Many Famous Trophies Won By Harvard Teams Burns

DILLON OFFERS NEW BUILDING

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 15.—The historic locker building at Harvard stadium, housing many rare Harvard trophies, was destroyed early today by a spectacular fire. Other athletic buildings in the vicinity were for a time threatened.

It was estimated that the damage would reach $150,000.

For a time it was feared that the fire would spread to the $5,000,000 buildings of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, just across the street, but firemen brought the blaze under control.

Hundreds of Harvard undergraduates came to the scene of the fire. Among them was Allan Hoover, son of the president, who ran to the blaze clad in pajamas and sweater.

Before the last dying embers of the leveled structure has been extinguished, an offer to rebuild the locker building at a cost of $500,00 was made by the father of one of the students at Harvard.

The offer was made by Clarence D. Dillon, head of the New York Financial firm of Dillon, Read and Co., and father of Clarence D. Dillon, member of the junior class.

Braddock Favored To Defeat Lomski

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 15—James J. Braddock, the light heavyweight best remembered for his knockout over Tuffy Griffith, today ruled a 6 to 5 favorite to take the measure of Leo Lomski in Jack Dempsey's boxing show at the Coliseum Friday night.

The two plan to taper off their training schedules here today and rest for the bout.

Lomski has been promised another chance at Maxie Rosenbloom should he succeed in stopping the hard-hitting Braddock in this bout.

Richards Quite Confident About Tennis Ability

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—In a spirit of helpfulness, Mr. Vincent Richards, who became a professional almost immediately after he discovered that being a gentleman was not nearly as satisfactory as being victualed with regularity, offers to show the tennis association today where it can save a lot of time with its proposed open championship next September. By using his methods, it can ignore the first four rounds altogether and start right in with the semi-finals. Mr. Richards, who seems to know all of the answers, isn't going so far as to pick the ultimate winner; only the ultimate loser.

The latter, says he, is an amateur who is sufficiently ill advised as to get in there with the unchaste professionals and he doesn't bar Tilden, LaCoste, Borotra, Lott, De Morpurgo or even Cochet. He is more considerate of the latter, having generously reserved a place for him in the semi-finals. LaCoste? No, he hasn't the game. Tilden? Ha, Ha. Don't make him laugh.

Tilden, it seems, isn't to get by the second round. Why? Because Tilden and amateur tennis in general, barring Cochet and LaCoste, are passe, in the first place, and in the second, haven't in years seen the day they could compete with good professionals. Mr. Richards even went as far as to offer to match Harvey Snodgrass, another apostate, with any ranking amateur, except Cochet.

Wampum Stars Are Downed By Carnegie

Lose Game To Locals On Home Floor Tuesday Night; 38-13 Final Score

NATION IS NEVER LICKED BY WAR, IS WILL'S PHILOSOPHY

(Special To The News)

ABOARD S. S. BREMEN, Jan. 15.—Before the war Germany led the world in knowing how to build passenger boats. She lost all of them. Now here she is back where she was.

It's a great argument against war. It just shows you can lick a nation, but when you let 'em up they can still beat you at the same things they could before, which takes away about the only reason left for having war.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Blond women who are a little inclined to be stout will no longer be under suspicion in connection with the slaying of State Trooper Brady Paul. One of Pa Newc's boys has received some snooty looks for looking twice at women of this description here lately.

After almost a week of warm and rainy weather a change was noticed this morning which may presage a cold spell. At any rate it is a little more snappy out today.

Perry S. Gaston Post of the American Legion is looking forward to the greatest year in its history. Last year at this time the post boasted a membership of 67. Today the post has 302 members and the real drive has not yet been held.

Mrs. C. L. Casselman of ot Wilmington avenue states that she possesses one of the Liberty bell souvenirs described in this column yesterday and owned by G. T. Holboth of North Beaver street. It is a glass plate with the Liberty Bell replica in the center around which are grouped the names of the original states and other information.

Pa Newc notices that someone evidently missed the curve on Highland avenue and went up on someone's lawn. There is a deep track in the sod.

Another example of the crying need for paving of Euclid avenue was seen last night. Persons who drove up to the new George Washington Junior high for the concert, found a street that, because of recent weather conditions, was muddy, and not in the least attractive to auto traffic. Plans should be made to have this street paved. There should be a paved street leading to this magnificent school without further delay.

Heard a young lady remark to an extremely talkative miss—"You must have parrot fever." Wonder if that is a symptom?

Forty-seven automobiles were damaged in New Castle by fire during 1929. Most of the fires could be put out by chemicals before extensive damage was done. It would be well to be careful of fire when in an automobile.

Friday, January 17, is the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin.

The waters of the Shenango river reached a stage of 13.1 feet this morning, which is several inches higher than the stage recorded during the January thaw of 1929, when the max-

Begin Move To Extradite Trio From Arizona

County Detective Leaves Today For Harrisburg To Secure Papers

Photos And Fingerprints Are Sent From Harrisburg By Air Mail

District Attorney John S. Powers has already started the machinery of the law in motion towards returning Irene Schroeder, W. Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford to Lawrence County for trial.

Early today he made arrangements to send County Detective Peck Lee to Harrisburg with a request for extradition of the bandits. This request must be signed by Governor John S. Fisher and Secretary of the Commonwealth Robert R. Lewis. With this application filled out, County Detective Lee expects to return to New Castle sometime Thursday morning and deputies will be sent to Phoenix to return the trio.

At Least Four.

Because of the fact that the three are regarded as dangerous and will need constant watching on the trip back, Mr. Powers believes that not less than four deputies should be sent in order to provide a night and day watch.

Two of the deputies will be state policemen, District Attorney Powers already having asked Captain Jacob Mauk of the state police barracks at Butler to furnish two of his best men to make the trip.

If the extradition papers are returned to New Castle by Thursday afternoon the deputies can leave at 7:55 o'clock Thursday evening over the Pennsylvania railroad, arriving in Phoenix on Sunday. All of this, of course, is dependent upon the county commissioners authorizing the expense of sending the deputies out. This will probably be done, as it is the customary thing to do, and the precedent for such action is found in the case of the notorious check forger, Gardner, who was brought back from California some years ago. In this case two men were sent. With three criminals to return, four men is a minimum necessary.

Expect No Delay.

Because of the fact that Phoenix is the capital of Arizona, there will be little delay in getting the signature of the governor of that state to the requisition papers. If the deputies leave New Castle on Thursday night

Trio To Be Held Awaiting Arrival Of Officers From Lawrence County—Trio Taken After Spectacular Battle In Arizona—Admits Being In Bandit Car On Butler Road

(Special to The News)

PHOENIX, Arizona, Jan. 15.—In order to hold Irene Schroeder and her companions until the arrival of Pennsylvania officers, charges of assault with intent to commit murder were filed against the trio by officials here today.

One of the men, who claims he has not been with the trio, except for the past few days, declares he was picked up in Texas by the pair. There seems to be some facts to bear out this claim.

Mrs. Schroeder slept well last night and was smiling this morning. She said that she was not worried about her son. She and Dague will probably go back to Pennsylvania to face murder charges, but the third man may be kept here on kidnap and assault charges.

(International News Service)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan.; 15.—Irene Schroeder, 22 year old blonde gun woman, today admitted her identity as the muchly-sought Pennsylvania bandit-murderess after she had been captured with two male companions in the mountain wilderness following a gun battle with a posse of deputy sheriffs.

"Yes, I'm Irene Schroeder," she told sheriff Charles Wright.

DAGUE REFUSES TO TALK

Dague, aged 32, sullenly refused to talk.

The other male prisoner gave his name as J. W. Crawford, alias Jim Wells, 38. He claimed to have been released from the Oklahoma State Prison on December 26, 1929 and was picked up on the highway by Mrs. Schroeder and Dague.

The trio were apprehended after they had kidnaped Joseph Chapman, Arizona deputy sheriff at Florence and later fought a pistol duel at Chandler, in which Chapman, and Lee Wright, another deputy, were wounded.

After the gun battle, they fled in their automobile to Phoenix Mountain Park. They had no guide and became lost in the 15,000 acres of wilderness. They were making their way down a side road when they became frightened at seeing three cars approach.

Flee On Foot

They abandoned their car, found later to have been stolen in Wheeling, West Virginia, and fled on foot into the mountains.

Officers in an airplane which had been pressed into service spotted them and later guided a posse of a dozen deputy sheriffs to the scene of their refuge.

When trapped, the bandits opened fire before the deputies scattered and moved to a higher peak behind the trio and ordered them to surrender.

Two Come Out

Mrs. Schroeder and Crawford came out with their hands in the air.

Dague, however, refused to give up until the officers threatened to shoot his companions. Then he, too, came out of his hiding place and was immediately handcuffed.

The prisoners were brought to the Maricopa county jail here.

Hair Is Dyed

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 15. — Sheriff Charles H. Wright, Maricopa County, Arizona, is a hero today after a gun battle in this country made notorious by famed gunmen of the '70's and '80's, in which he with deputies captured a 1929 desperado, Irene Schroeder, of Benwood, W. Va.

The erstwhile "blonde" gunwoman —her hair has been dyed to a bronze hue, the sheriff said—was the object of a country-wide search since December 27, when she capped an alleged career of banditry with a gun battle near New Castle, Pa., in which Corporal Brady Paul, of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol was killed.

Fleeing westward, she, with her two male companions reached Florence, Ariz., near here, where according to Sheriff Wright the trio kidnapped Sheriff Joe Chapman when he questioned them about the ownership of the car they were driving with a Kentucky license.

Many Join Chase

The alarm was immediately sounded when the trio and their prisoner started away in a cloud of dust Posses and deputy sheriffs gathered together quickly, made plans and started in pursuit.

Automobiles, horses, parties afoot and an airplane were used and the trio were quickly discovered in the mountainous region near the Gila river.

Sheriff Wright and his deputies surrounded the trio and the gun battle began. For an hour the exchange of shots went on and then three deputies succeeded in sneaking up in back of the rock behind which the trio had taken shelter and with the order "stick 'em up," the gunwoman and her companions were through with their fight and in the hands of the sheriff.

Asks of Son.

The Schroeder woman first admitted her identity when mention was made of "Donnie", her 4-year-old boy, now in the custody of Pennsylvania state police at New Castle, Pa.

And the blushing bride that she wrote about comes home to the lady now, for she is the bride with the tricky veil, and today she will take the vow. Montana Reports Mercury Tumbling To Thirty Below; Transportation Crippled

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—While a zero wave held the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast region in its grip, steadily mountain flood waters in the Mississippi basin today threatened to carry death and destruction to a dozen communities.

The safety of thousands of persons is threatened in Indiana with both the Wabash and White rivers on a rampage over acres of farm lands. Villages and small cities along the two flooded rivers are surrounded with water.

The town of Shoals in Martin county is surrounded by waters from the White river, and has been cut off for twenty four hours.

Levees Give Way

On the Wabash river several levees have given way despite the efforts of workers who piled re-enforcing stone and sand along the crumbling banks. At Vincennes, Ind., the Wabash had risen more than a foot in four hours.

Hundreds of acres of Illinois farm lands are inundated in the Kaskaskia river valley. Incessant rainfall yesterday continued to choke the Kaskaskia and force it over its banks.

A severe blizzard trailed by zero temperatures swept the Rocky Mountain region and the upper Middle West states of Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Montana and Wyoming. Temperatures as low as 30 degrees below were reported in Montana.

Incessant snowfall in the Rocky Mountain states has piled deep drifts, crippling transportation and wire communication. The cold wave in California has claimed three dead and several missing.

Machine Used By Trio In Trip To Arizona, Taken At Wheeling

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 15. — Identification of the automobile in which Irene Schroeder and her two companions made their escape from Pennsylvania to Arizona, where they were captured last night, was established here today by police chief Fred H. Frazier.

Chief Frazier stated that the machine had been stolen from the Scott Motor company in Wheeling, last November 13. It is believed to have been stored in the Island garage here for just such an emergency as arose when the blonde trigger woman overstepped herself and with her two male companions engaged in a gun battle which ended fatally for Corporal Brady Paul of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol. Paul's death started a widespread hunt for the fugitives and finally resulted in their capture.

Mrs. Schroeder launched her career of armed banditry here when she and her alleged lover Glen Dague joined forces. Dague deserted his wife and two children at Sandhill, Marshall county, a year ago and his wife is now teaching school to support the youngsters.

SHOTS ARE FIRED THROUGH WINDOW BY YOUTHFUL TRIO

Clark Rea, aged 60, quiet, unassuming, bachelor resident of Neshannock township, near Coaltown, while within the peaceful precincts of his own home, was shot down last night about eight o'clock by three youthful assassins, whose identity at the present time is unknown and whose evident purpose was the securing of money which their victim and his brother, were evidently thought to possess.

It was one of the most cold blooded murders ever perpetrated in the history of Lawrence county, the victim of the youthful bandits, being shot down without warning or without an opportunity of propitiating the evident desire of the murderers for money. The murderers departed hurriedly after their dastardly deed and the securing of what valuables they could find on the brother of their victim, E. H. Rea, aged 55, or about the home, which they ransacked with some thoroughness.

Authorities Respond Quickly

Sheriff Frank N. Johnston, Deputy Sheriff A. T. Venditto and State Police Officers M. T. Shulick and J. A. Gondell were on the scene within twenty minutes of the time they were notified, while city police armed with rifles were sent out on all roads leading from the scene of the murder into the city armed with riot guns and orders to stop all cars and determine the occupants of the same before allowing them to go on.

In the meantime, Sergeant James Steiner of the city police notified the state police at Butler, Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Ellwood City and others adjoining cities and towns to be on the lookout for the murderers. Coroner J. P. Caldwell was summoned and viewed the remains and the scene of the cold blooded murder.

In spite of all these precautions, the three youthful bandit assassins escaped. The fact that they were but lightly clad indicates that they were either traveling in a car or had some refuge near at hand to which they fled pending an opportunity to get further away.

Home Is Isolated

Clark Rea, victim of the youthful assassins, and his brother, E. H. Rea, also known as Elias to his friends, have resided for years in their home, near the Mercer-Coaltown road and Pleasant Valley School.

Quiet, inoffensive and unmarried, these men resided in their home, which is of an older type and located in a rather isolated district, at least the equivalent of three or four squares from their nearest neighbors. It has two rooms on the first floor, one used as a kitchen and the other as a living room. The bedrooms of the home are on the second floor.

Some time between 7:30 and eight p. m. Wednesday, according to the surviving brother, E. H. Rea, he and his brother were in the room used as a living room, the windows of which face east and west and almost in direct line, one from the other.

Stands Between Windows

Clark Rea, the murder victim, was standing about the center of the room in about a direct line between the two windows of the room. E. H. Rea, the brother, was seated on a couch in a corner of the room and could not be seen from the windows, the blinds of which were up.

Suddenly and without warning a shot was fired through the east window, Clark Rea falling as the bullet struck him in the right temple. The first shot was followed by several other shots, all coming from the east window, then suddenly and at the same time, both the east and west windows were smashed in, two masked men entering the room from the west window and one from the east window.

All three of the men had blue handkerchiefs over their faces, hiding their eyes and facial features.

Brother Asks Mercy.

As the shooting progressed previous to the entry of the bandits, E. H. Rea, brother of the bandit's victim, had laid down on the floor at the side of the couch.

On entering and seeing him, the bandits ordered him to put up his hands, which he did with the plea "Have mercy on me."

He was ordered to give over his money. He went through his pockets found 54 cents, which he handed over to them.

Then one of the bandits placed his gun at the temple of E. H. Rea, warning him that if he moved he would be killed.

The other two then made a thorough search of the home for money and valuables which they evidently thought were hidden about the place. They also went through the clothing of the dead man. It is the opinion of the authorities that they secured nothing of value except three gold watches, which had been hidden between the mattresses or bed ticks of a bed in the place. They are believed to have secured these because they were gone when Coroner Caldwell made a search for them with the surviving brother.

Mask Falls Off.

As the bandits were conducting their search the blue handkerchief mask of one of them came off within view of E. H. Rea. Mr. Rea told the authorities that this man was a young fellow about 17 or 18 years of age and had black eyes. All three were dressed alike, each wearing a light or gray colored cap and each having light colored coats and no overcoats.

When the search for valuables had been completed, the bandits warned E. H. Rea not to move for ten minutes or he would be a dead man.

He, however, as soon as they had left the house, ran outside, yelling murder at the top of his voice. He ran to the nearest neighbors home, that of Bert Easton, yelling murder all the way.

A brief explanation to Mr. Easton and Mr. Rea ran to the home of William Cunningham, a short distance further on. They were joined by Mr. Cunningham and ran to the home of W. V. Fisher, from which place they telephoned the city police, who in turn called the sheriff.

Sheriff Johnston, Deputy Sheriff T. Venditto and State Police Officers Shulick and Gondell were on the scene within twenty minutes. They found that Clark Rea was dead. They then notified the city police of the descriptions of the men wanted and asked them to guard various roads and notify adjoining cities and the state police.

In the meantime, Coroner J. P. Caldwell was notified and rushed to the scene. An ambulance was also called and after Coroner Caldwell had completed his investigation, the body was removed to a local undertaking establishment.

Bandits There Before

According to the surviving brother, E. H. Rea, a week ago, the home was visited by three fellows, whom he is sure are the three murderers of his brother.

They were not masked on that occasion. It was just after darkness had settled down. They knocked on a window and talked through the window to the brothers.

They said, he states, that their names were Black, evidently a blind and wanted some oil for a lamp. The brothers did not go out, neither did they give them any oil.

According to the authorities, the Rea brothers in spite of their unpretentious mode of living have been reputed to have money and to carry considerable sums about with them.

This was evidently the lure that caused the bandits to do their cold blooded piece of work last night. The result of the investigation last night by the authorities belies this reputed condition of their affairs, as does their home.

There was absolutely no occasion, according to the authorities, for the shocking murder. The three bandits could have easily overpowered the two brothers. There was not the slightest provocation for shooting down Clark Rea in this cold blooded fashion.

Stimson Hails British Stand On Peace Pact

BRITISH NOTE IS DIGESTED

Wide Scope Of Kellogg Pact Points Way For Permanent Peace In World

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Great Britain's reply to France's memorandum on disarmament, emphasizing the former's faith in the Kellogg Pact as one of the keystones of disarmament structure, was hailed with utmost satisfaction by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson today.

A digest of the British note was received by wireless aboard the George Washington, and read with great interest by Secretary Stimson and the other members of the American delegation to the forthcoming disarmament parley in London.

The communication is regarded as especially satisfying by virtue of the fact its main points are those which the United States government has stressed from the outset. It is now anticipated that the pledges made in the Kellogg Pact will be more and more emphasized when the discussions of the conference reach their inevitable critical stage.

Accord Is Glaring

The British position, as shown by the note, coincides closely with that maintained by the United States government, affording further proof that Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and President Hoover talked about something else beside cruiser figures during their historical meetings of last October.

No greater tribute could have been paid to the Kellogg Pact, according to opinion expressed aboard ship, than the British communication to France, which pointed out that the wide scope of the treaty and the number of its signatories automatically provide guarantees for peace such as the world has never had before.

Skirting a mid-Atlantic storm, the George Washington continues to make good time, and now seems certain of reaching Plymouth by midnight Thursday, as especially requested by Secretary Stimson in order that he might have a full extra day for conferences with the foreign delegation leaders before the disarmament parley gets under way.

IRENE SCHROEDER AND COMPANIONS HELD IN ARIZONA

Donnie?" she exclaimed when questioned.

Her battle with the deputies ended for her but not until she had received a bullet wound in the neck—"just grazed," she told the sheriff.

Until she can be identified formally and properly delivered to Pennsylvania authorities, the woman will be kept here in the county jail—not treated as an honored guest, according to the sheriff, but as all bandits out here are handled. There is a chain securely fastened to one of her wrists and the other end of it is fast to the bars of the cell.

Fails to Admit Shooting Paul.

Irene has so far failed to admit that she shot Paul, though she confessed that she and her companions were in the car from which the shots came to end the corporal's life.

One of the men, lately released from the Oklahoma state prison, he says, is believed to be her brother, J. W. Crawford, who is known to Sheriff Wright as Jo (Red) Wells, with a reputation in Texas for banditry. The other man is Glenn Dague, Mrs. Schroeder says, who is her alleged lover and whom she is said to have stolen from his wife and two children in Wheeling, W. Va., over a year ago.

Crime Is Committed

While the history of the hunt for Irene Schroeder and her pals really starts in Toledo, O., before December 27, 1929, actually the interest in her apprehension began in that day when State Highway Patrolman Brady Paul was murdered and his buddy, Private Ernest Moore injured on the Butler road.

The P. H. Butler store in Butler, Pa., had been held up and robbed about 11 o'clock in the morning by a woman and two men bandits. The State Highway Patrol at New Castle was notified to be on the lookout for a Chevrolet coach containing the suspects and Corporal Paul and Private Moore stationed themselves on the Butler road, about two miles from the city line.

Halt Car

A Chevrolet bearing an Ohio license came along and the men stopped it. Corporal Paul asked for the drivers license and the driver handed him a wallet. Corporal Paul insisted that the driver take out his license, whereupon the man and the woman got out of the car.

As she got out the woman stuck a gun into Corporal Paul's ribs and commanded him to move back, it is related. An instant later she fired three times, wounding Paul so badly that he died an hour or so later.

Moore was shot in the nose and the head and was left on the road stunned. George Bock came along in a truck and started to town with Paul and a passing motorist picked up Moore.

A few minutes later R. C. Horton and Miss Elsie Nickum, in a Chrysler coupe were held up on Adams street by the same trio of bandits and Horton's car stolen from him. In this car they drove away.

Spread Alarm

The alarm was immediately broadcast to all surrounding cities and states, police departments, guards were placed on the roads leading out of New Castle.

The hunt continued for several days without success, with state officers searching Wheeling, W. Va., on a tip left on some papers found in the Chevrolet coach abandoned by the killers. On December 31 the police of Bellaire, O., located Donnie Schroeder, four and a half year old son of Mrs. Schroeder and he told the officers that his "mamma had shot two state cops."

Satisfied that Irene Schroeder was the woman wanted, efforts were redoubled to locate her and a flood of rumors was received from various cities and states.

Yesterday morning the trio stopped at a gas station in Florence, Arizona, to get some gas and in an argument with the gas man, a deputy sheriff was called and was shot by the trio. The hunt was then taken up by the sheriff of Maricopa county, Arizona, and ended in a gun battle in the mountains near Laveen, Arizona, finally ending in the capture of the woman and two men.

There is a possibility that one of the men may not be Tom Crawford, brother of Irene Schroeder, but may be a Texas bandit named Joe Wells. This has not been established although Donnie Schroeder said that his uncle was wounded in the hip in the gun battle on the Butler road.

Donnie?" asked a News reporter who was present.

"Hot dog, hot dog," responded Donnie. This was all he would say about his mother. He seemed to be too much engrossed with the attention being bestowed upon him to say anything more.

"Fresh fish, fresh fish," said Donnie.

"What do you mean by that?" asked a reporter.

"Fresh fish," replied Donnie again.

"Aren't you going to take the money?" was asked.

Donnie bounded over to Commissioner McCullough, grabbed the dime, and then ran out into another room.

Pretty soon he came back with a toy bank. He placed the dime in the bank and then began shaking it vigorously. It appeared to be well filled with coins.

Donnie has been getting a lot of coins and he seems to be very proud of his bank.

He seems very happy and contented, but apparently thinks that attentions are being showered upon him because he is so bright.

He has not been told about his mother's arrest because it is believed that he would not understand. He will be told later that his mother is coming to see him.

County Detective Peck Lee will probably leave tonight for Harrisburg, on a late Pennsylvania train for the purpose of getting extradition papers for the return of Irene Schroeder, W. Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford, it was announced in the district attorney's office at noon.

He will be in Harrisburg at the opening of business Thursday morning and will probably get back to New Castle Thursday night with the papers necessary to the return of the woman and the two men.

In the preparation of the extradition papers it was also necessary to have a large number of supporting affidavits made and these required some little time.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Photographs and fingerprints of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, merciless blonde gunwoman, and her two male accomplices, wanted for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the state highway patrol near New Castle, last December, are speeding today by air mail to Phoenix, Ariz., where the trio are reported under arrest.

State police headquarters here said that the pictures and prints had been rushed to Phoenix as soon as word of the capture had been received here.

Woman Identified

While the woman has been identified definitely as Mrs. Irene Schroeder of Benwood, W. Va., officials said, it has not yet been learned whether her two companions are Glen Dague and J. W. Crawford. State police said, however, they were confident the two men arrested would prove to be the hunted woman's aides.

Arizona authorities have indicated a willingness to turn the woman over to Pennsylvania to meet her fate unless wounds inflicted on a deputy sheriff near Phoenix prove fatal.

Extradition proceedings designed to bring Mrs. Schroeder within the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania courts would have to be started by the district attorney of Lawrence county where the highway patrolman was slain.

Later in the morning, the manager came to the place and found that between ten and twelve dollars had been taken from the cash register. Other money hidden in the store escaped the notice of the thieves.

Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Thomas Lynch on their investigation today, found that the rear door had been broken into and that the method of boring holes used in other robberies had not been employed in this case.

It was also discovered this morning that the Robert's Millinery store, next door, had also been entered during the night.

A window leading into the basement of this store was broken open and entrance effected. The thief or thieves then went from the basement to the store above.

Nothing of value was found missing in this place. It is probable that the thief or thieves were frightened away from this place before being able to accomplish their purpose.

A GENERAL RELATIVITY ILLUSTRATION

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Some of the ideas and evidences of general relativity, established by observational methods, are quite capable of being understood. Here is one stock illustration: If two observers were each enclosed with various equipment in separate large boxes, and the first observer, with his box, were at rest in space, and the second observer, with his box, were falling in a uniform field of gravitation, where the gravitation was equal and parallel, the latter box would be seen to increase in rate of motion so that the relative motions of each material body within the box would not be in any way affected by the force acting upon the box from without.

Denver Avenue Home Destroyed

Fire of unknown origin, practically destroyed a one-story house on Denver avenue at 9:05 last evening, with a loss of approximately $1,800.

The structure was blazing fiercely when firemen arrived on the scene, and by the time they were able to get water on the structure it had been doomed.

The home which is owned by Mrs. Frank Barrett and occupied by Andrew Kopsky, is situated at the extreme end of Denver avenue, atop a steep hill. According to information given Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn, members of the family were absent when the fire started. Neighbors called Central department, who in turn notified No. 5. Chief Lynn and truck B. from Central station also started for the place.

Firemen were unable to get beyond Grimes street on Denver avenue and were forced to lay a line of hose from this point, dragging it 1100 feet through the mud, across lots to reach the fire.

Officer John Moore and others, who arrived on the scene before the firemen, stated that the bedroom and dining room were filled with fire, which later spread to the kitchen. Fireman J. B. Zeitler from the Central station was able to enter the kitchen and succeeded in getting out a table and some chairs, but could not get into the dining room.

At first it was thought the fire might have started from an electric iron, as an iron was noticed sitting on top of an ironing board, attached to a plug. However, those on the scene first, stated there was no fire near this point.

There was little fire in the heater at the time and no blaze was noticed in the cellar.

The loss is fully covered by insurance. Damage to the home was estimated at $1,000 by Chief Lynn, while damage to the contents amounted to approximately $800. Mrs. Barrett, the owner of the home, was recently bereaved by the death of her husband.

Confraternity Meets On Tuesday Evening

Plans Made To Raise Funds To Assist In Carrying On The Work Here

A meeting of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in the New Castle and Lawrence county district was held last evening in the Knights of Columbus Home on North Jefferson street, with a good attendance of the members.

The meeting was addressed by Rev. Fr. Edward Heinrich of Pittsburgh, a former member of St. Mary's Parish, and who is now assistant Diocesan Director of the Confraternity, on the work for the coming year and the need of funds with which to carry on the work successfully.

The work of the Confraternity is principally that of conducting religious instruction classes in all sections of the county, where there are no parochial schools, especially in the outlying districts.

A principal cause for the need of funds is that of purchasing a new car to be used in carrying the teachers from this city to the various points, where they conduct their classes.

One of the methods to be employed in securing needed money is a campaign for contributing members, which will be inaugurated in the immediate future.

To say that a few men pay most of the taxes is like saying that Deacon Jones pays the preacher because he takes up the collection.

SLAYING SPECTER ALWAYS BEFORE HER

By JAMES ADAM
International News Service Special Correspondent

MONROVIA, Cal., Jan. 15.— The Memory of the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery today continues to haunt Mabel Normand as she battles for her life within a sanitorium in a picturesque wooded canyon of this little Southern California town.

With the Taylor case resurrected and her name once again thrust into the spotlight, the once foremost comedienne of the screen, however, is far too ill, according to her physician, to be disturbed by questioning.

Has No Visitors

"The shock of such a thing might result fatally, and we cannot afford to take any chances," explained the doctor, Francis M. Pottenger.

In fact, no visitors are allowed to see her at all with the exception of her husband, Lew Cody, film actor, whom she married three and a half years ago after a romantic midnight elopement.

By a queer twist of fate, Miss Normand was the last person known to have seen and talked to Taylor before he was shot to death in his bungalow court apartment in Los Angeles nearly eight years ago.

Ever since that time she has been pursued by the specter of the tragedy which dimmed her screen career apparently forever.

No longer is she the piquant and vivacious Mabel of old but a frail young woman whose entire life now is hemmed in by the bare walls of her room in the sanatorium.

Was Returning Book

It was to return a book she had borrowed that the actress went to Taylor's home and saw him for the last time in life.

"Miss Normand told all she knew of the Taylor case at the time it first was investigated,' said her secretary, Mrs. Julia Benson, who is her companion. "She has told that story time and time again and has nothing new to relate now."

The fact that the mystery is again filling the pages of the newspapers has been kept from the patient, the secretary added.

The actress is waging her fight for life against the ravages of the white plague. Both her lungs are affected and she has been virtually bed-ridden for months.

"She is very ill," Dr. Pottenger said. "We can't say she is gaining any but she has made a wonderful fight—the most wonderful of any patient I ever had."

Contracted Cold

She was first stricken ill about three years ago with pneumonia but recovered. Then a year ago she went to a card party given by Mrs. Roscoe Arbuckle.

There she contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia and tuberculosis. For months she was confined in her home at Beverly Hills near Hollywood, but finally was prevailed upon to go to the sanatorium last September.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

Bombing Suspect At Mercer Freed

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 15.—James Denato, held for the bombing of the home of District Attorney Leo McKay, will not be tried at the January term, is the announcement of Mr. McKay today. Denato was released from jail recently on his own recognizance. Not sufficient evidence to sustain the charge is the reason assigned by Mr. McKay for taking the case off the court calendar.

The official refuses to discuss the situation further than that Denato will not be tried at this term. The case against him will be nolle prossed. The removal of this case leaves but one feature hearing for the term, the homicide action in which Frank Pantelo 'is charged with the murder of Bruno Cangenni.

FINAL DATE NEARS

Frothonotary Daisy T. Morse reports February 4 as the final day on which her office may accept such petitions. Posted for hearing to date are 37 applicants. The number is the smallest total of years.

The increased price set by the federal government along with the industrial depression which it is reported is affecting the earning power of many of the applicants is the cause of the reduction.

PANTELO GETS COUNSEL

An attorney will be appointed for Frank Pantelo of No. 5 mine this week. Judge J. A. McLaughry will make appointment immediately on petition of the proper officers. Pantelo will be tried at this court, District Attorney Leo McKay stated today.

Proper time in which to prepare his case will be extended.

TO ATTEND SHOW

Members of the county agricultural society desiring to attend the state products show at Harrisburg on January 21, 22, 23 and 24 may secure certificates at the office of the farm bureau here entitling them to a reduced fare. The tickets allow departure as early as the 17th and return as late as the 26th.

It is not expected from reports here that many county men will attend this show.

SUIT IS FILED

Suit was filed here Monday by Bertha and I. Nathan of Farrell against A. Payne of Sharon. The bill asks damages of $5,000 for the woman and $1500 for the man who are husband and wife and well known Farrell residents.

The bill makes claim that on November 25, 1928, both were members of a funeral party at the Jewish cemetery in Farrell and that the defendant invited Mrs. Bertha Nathan to ride to her home in his car, which the woman claims was wrecked due to careless driving and that as a result she has been injured since.

MORE GET TAGS

The number has already reached 3,000. There were 9,000 dogs licensed in this county in 1929. The number is yet far short of what it should be at this time of the year.

HELD AS BURGLAR

Harry Klingensmith, 25, of West Middlesex is in the jail here charged with forcible entry of the home of John Gundy of that town Sunday evening.

Klingensmith has confessed to the burglary. He stole a quantity of canned fruit. Klingensmith has been arrested before, police say. They also connect with him Bruce Gruver, James Peters and James Latchford of that community who are being investigated.

JAIL LIST SWELLED

If the wolf came to the door now, nobody would weep. He'd bring $300 as an imported police dog.

Auto Licenses Have Enriched State Treasury

Nearly $350,000,000 Has Been Paid In Since 1906 By Auto Owners

REGISTRATION AND GAS TAX ADDS MUCH

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Motorists in Pennsylvania have paid into the state treasury nearly $350,000,000 since the Commonwealth first begun licensing motor vehicles in 1906. That huge sum includes the income from the gasoline tax which was first imposed on September 1, 1921 at the rate of one cent a gallon.

The coffers of the highway department have been steadily enriched through the increases of receipts from registration fees and the gasoline tax. In the last five years the revenue alone from registrations has jumped more than $9,100,000.

The total income from motor vehicles registrations in 1930 will show a much larger gain than other years. The last legislature doubled the license fee for drivers and also made increases in truck and omnibus fees. Those increases are expected to produce approximately $4,500,000 additional in a year.

Gas Tax Heavy.

Gasoline tax collections from the time the levy was first imposed on September 1, 1921 until January 1, 1930 amounted to $107,801,017.52. Since the four cent tax became effective on July 1 of last year the collections totaled $20,466,437.

In the first full fiscal year after the gas tax became effective which ended May 31, 1923 the total collections were $2,397,540. For the fiscal year that closed the end of last May the income from that same course had jumped to $24,014,739. Since June 1, 1928 motorists have paid into the state treasury more than $44,480,000 in gas taxes.

Total receipts in 1906, the first year that automobiles were registered, yielded $42,460 in license fees. That source of revenue has shown remarkable increases in the last twenty odd years until it reached the high figure of $29,160,690 for 1929.

The first year that receipts topped the million dollar mark was in 1914 when the amount was $1,185,038. License fees during the last twelve months amounted to more than the entire amount paid in the first fifteen years that the state has been collecting this class of revenue.

Corporal Louden Home On Furlough

Re-Enlists In Air Service In Which He Has Made Considerable Progress

Corporal George Louden, who has been in the air service of the United States Army for the past three years at Langley Field, Virginia, is home on a furlough, which he is spending with his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Louden, of Lathrop street.

This is his first visit home in three years. He is very much enthused with the air service and has re-enlisted for another period of three years. He will return to the service February 1.

He can fly an airplane but has not yet flown his own ship, because of the fact that he must be licensed to do so. He expects to be licensed in a short time after his return to the service. The securing of a license to fly airplanes practically means a commission as an officer of higher rank, which will follow his being licensed.

Corporal Louden will be remembered as the young man, who jumped from an airplane at Langley Field many months ago, just for the experience of falling and floating to the earth with a parachute and whose vivid experience of the incident was sent to and printed in The News.

Farrell Works Wins Carnegie Safety Trophy

FARRELL, Pa., Jan. 15.—Superintendent A. L. Cromlish of the Carnegie Steel Co., received word yesterday that the Farrell plant had been awarded the Safety Trophy for 1930. Ten plants compete annually for the safety award. They are: Duquesne Works, Clairton Works, Mingo Junction Works, Homestead Works, Edgar-Thompson Works, Union Railroad, City Furnaces, New Castle Works, Youngstown Works and the Farrell Works.

Lost Heel Is Clue To Suspected Burglars

Following discovery of the heel in the home of J. W. Gundy, where loot valued at several hundred dollars, mostly jewelry, was obtained, officers visited shoe repair shops in West Middlesex and discovered that Harry Clingensmith had left a pair of shoes to be repaired, one with the heel missing. County Detective Sam Leyshock today said Clingensmith admitted the robbery and implicated James Peters, James Latchford and Bruce Gruver, all of the West Middlesex district.

The four were held for court without bail, charged with robbery. The robbery occurred Sunday night.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Recognizing that business research is valueless unless the facts uncovered in the research are conveeyed to active business leaders in their own language, scientists at Mellon Institute here are being taught, among other things, how to write business letters.

"The institute is giving more and more attention," according to Drs. William A. Hamor and Lawrence W. Bass of the executive staff, "to the important branch of industrial research that treats of the personal and official duties of the research staff, in distinction from the better developed subject of systematic research."

"This branch has a valuable place in training young men for industrial and public service, principally because it imparts a large amount of useful information, largely gleaned from the experience of the institute's executive staff, that is not acquired in scientific courses in the universities.

The Parent Problem

Give Child His Choice, Respect It

You ask a child of eight if he would like to bring you a glass of water. Suppose he frankly answers "No." What do you do? A thousand chances to one you are angered by his venturous decision and you immediately tell him that he must.

You asked him a civil question. He made a civil answer. He was called upon to make a choice. He made it. If you did not wish to let him choose why did you ask him to do so? If you were going to command him anyway why did you not do so in the first place? Why were you such a bully as to tease him to choose, only to have his choice nullified?

Once you give a child an opportunity to choose be ready to respect his choice. Don't proceed to make a fool of him and of yourself. Treat his choices as if they were choices of an adult. Imagine yourself asking an adult friend if he would give you a drink of water and then attempting to compel him to accede after he had chosen not to do so.

Suppose you had respected the decision of the child when he chose not to bring you the glass of water. Suppose you had possessed poise and self-control enough to have gone quietly and got the glass of water yourself, showing absolutely no irritation treating the child as if nothing at all wrong had happened. The effect would have been excellent. The child would have respected you, would have considered you a real fellow, a good sport. Next time you made a similar request he would undoubtedly have gone at once.

If you don't believe it would work, try it. I have tried it with my children. They like it. The scheme puts me in well with them. They practically always are willing to do anything their mother or I ask them. Of course we try to be reasonable and never to show any annoyance when they choose against us. One can use discretion, to be sure, so as to know pretty well when "liberties are safe." It is foolish to make frequent requests one knows will not be acceded to, or commands one is sure will not be obeyed. It pays to work on preparation for co-operation, preparation for obedience, before one makes requests or pronounces a command.

I think you will agree with me that as our children grow into and beyond adolescence commands become increasingly unnecessary and that reasonable requests made by parents whom the child respects are practically always honored.

One thing is certain, it is hazardous to shift from requests to commands; for then all requests come to be considered as commands and co-operation is impossible.

Let us learn to treat our children very early as if they were grown up. When we ask them to make a decision let us honor it even when it is made contrary to our wishes. Nothing pleases us more than to be considered as old mentally as we think we are; nothing so annoys us as to be treated as if we had childish minds. So with our children. They warm up to us when we act toward them as if they had the brains they were born with. And in proportion to their genuine esteem for us are they likely to act. If they really care for us parents, and if we can live a pretty good life, they are pretty sure to do so, too.

Husband To Face Charge Of Murder

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Jan. 15.—Charges of murder will probably be made against Harry Foltz, whose wife, Masie Foltz, 32, died at the Rochester hospital from bullet wounds inflicted by her husband 16 weeks ago, police say.

Foltz, a prisoner in the county jail, was indicted on charges of felonious shooting with intent to kill and assault and battery with a deadly weapon, last December.

In a jealous rage, police say, Foltz entered a department store in Aliquippa, where his estranged wife was employed, shot her through the back as she tried to flee and then turned the gun on himself. He recovered sufficiently to be removed to the jail. With a bullet wound in the spine, Mrs. Foltz lingered between life and death.

Johnny Bowen Is Seriously Injured

Former Well Known Resident And Boxer Injured In Auto Crash

Johnny Bowen of Washington, D. C., former resident of this city and well known in boxing circles, because of his ability in the ring, is in a critical condition and not expected to live as a result of an automobile crash in which he participated at Daytona Beach, Florida, according to a message just received by Officer Carl Lockard of the city police force. This will be learned with deep regret by many friends in this district.

While there is said to be little hope for his recovery, his friends here are hoping for the best.
